COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— An administration tax boost bill and a plan to slightly increase state aid for about 150,000 needy Ohio children have been unveiled in the Ohio Senate.

They highlighted the beginning Monday night of the legislature's 25th work week. Both houses acted on several routine bills as members prepared for heavy committee schedules the rest of the week.

Approval by the Senate Finance Committee of higher Aid to Dependent Children (ADC) payments preceded a favorable recommendation by the committee of the administration's $4.9 billion budget bill. It will come to a floor vote Wednesday.

The lawmakers face a deadline of Friday midnight for enactment of the House-approved money measure which appropriates funds to run the state for two years starting July 1. It had been stalled in the committee because of dissention in ranks of majority Republicans over the ADC program.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray of Piqua introduced the bill to raise taxes about $252 million in the 1967-69 biennium to put all of that amount in Ohio's public-financed education programs. Increases would involve expanding the 3 per cent sales tax to some services, including parking lots and dry cleaning, enactment of a 1 per cent gross receipts tax on retailers, lowering the starting point for collecting the sales tax from 31 to 11 cents, among other changes.

The new plan for hiking ADC payments falls considerably short of the goal of 100 per cent of recommended standards sought by local welfare groups and others. But the goal can be reached if counties come up with more cash of their own.

Under new provisions of the compromise reached by Republicans, the bill would raise the "floor" for ADC payments from the present 78 per cent to 83½ per cent of standards. Half of $35 million in the state budget for additional ADC benefits would be used to accomplish this. However, counties would have to pay 10 per cent of the cost of raising payments to 83½ per cent, with the state paying 90 per cent—same formula for other state welfare programs.

The remaining $17.5 million would be available to counties over the next two years to carry the increase on to 100 per cent—with one major stipulation. They would be required to pay 66.3 per cent of the increase, with the state paying only 33.7 per cent. The $17.5 million would be enough, on that basis, to raise standards to 100 per cent in all counties.

Some dissenting Democrats and maverick Sen. Robin T. Turner R-14 Marion objected to the plan. They pointed out that counties still must come up with $35 million to reach 100 per cent and that they still would be paying half the additional money.

The budget bill still must go back to the House for consideration of 16 Senate amendments. Little was changed from the House version in terms of dollars, however. One amendment by the upper chamber added $200,000 for purchase of 1968 license plates from out-of-state manufacturers. Repairs from a fire at the Lebanon Correctional Institution where plates normally are made made it necessary to arrange their purchase elsewhere, it was explained.

In other business, the Senate completed passage of House bills revising procedures for

Walker Receives Ambulance Pact After 'Reversal'

Council reversed itself Monday night and voted to award a contract to the Lynn Ambulance Co. of East Liverpool to provide service to the city, effective July 15.

The action was taken by a 5-2 vote at the end of an hour-long caucus session, invalidating, in effect, the informal agreement of June 9 to give the contract to Ambulance Service, Inc., of Steubenville, operated by Robert J. D'Anniballe.

THE MOTION to grant the contract to the Lynn concern was supported by Councilmen Norman Bucher, Frank P. Duffy, James Lowe, Harold Maylone and Floyd Murray. Councilmen Robert W. Sample and Donna Richards Wilson voted in favor of the Steubenville concern.

Mrs. Patricia Walker of May St. is president of Lynn Ambulance Co. Her husband is James Walker, a city fireman and operator of the city's lone taxi service.

Lynn's proposal calls for a $600-a-month subsidy from the city, half the guarantee which the Steubenville concern had asked.

Its proposal calls for a rate of $20 for any run inside the city prior to 10 p. m. Between 10 p. m. and 8 a. m., the charge will be $25. Calls outside the city limits will be $25 until 10 p. m. The rate between 10 p. m. and 8 a. m. will be $30. In each instance, the firm also will charge an additional $1 per mile after the first five miles.

The company stipulated that it will charge $30 per person for handling individuals in accident cases.

D'ANNIBALLE had stipulated a $25 charge for a run inside the city plus $3 if oxygen was used on the patient. The rate for a run outside the city would have been the same, plus $1 for each mile traveled outside the corporate limits. D'Anniballe had filed a second proposal that called for a monthly subsidy of $600, but a $5 higher basic fee for both types of ambulance runs.

In the June 9 meeting, Council's vote was 5-2 to accept the Steubenville firm's proposal. Murray and Maylone dissented.

Before the vote was taken last night, Sample, as head of the finance committee, reported a maximum of $4,300 would be available to pay the subsidy to whichever firm was selected for the service. He said $3,300 could be removed from an appropriation set up to repair or replace the boiler in the heating system at Central Fire Station and $1,000 could be transferred from a fund established to pay the expenses of Mayor George E. Willshaw as part-time coordinator of the city's planning program.

The question of funds previously had been the stumbling block. After agreeing informally to give the contract to the Steubenville firm, Council could not find money to pay the subsidy.

U.S. Official Executed By Reds In Viet

Hertz Was Taken Prisoner By Viet Cong 2½ Years Ago

SAIGON (AP) — A Communist broadcast 12 days ago appeared to announce the execution of a U.S. aid official taken prisoner by the Viet Cong nearly two and a half years ago, the U.S. mission announced today.

The official is Gustav C. Hertz, 48, chief of the public administration division in Saigon of the U.S. Agency for International Development. His wife and four children live in Leesburg, Va.

A statement from the U.S. mission said the "language of the broadcast is not fully clear, but it implies that Gustav Hertz suffered the same fate as Sgt. Kenneth Roraback, who was executed on Sept. 26, 1965, as an announced act of reprisal."

In the air war gainst North Vietnam, Air Force, Navy and Marine jets flew 115 missions Monday and returning pilots reported a month of heavy bombing had knocked out the major rail yard at Kep, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi, adjoining a big MIG airfield and an electric power station.

Chinese Communist MIGs shot down a U.S. Air Force Phantom jet which the Air Force said strayed over Red China's Hainan Island by mistake, but the two fliers aboard the Phantom parachuted into the South China Sea and were rescued.

In the ground war, the Communists hurled several hundred more rocket, mortar and artillery shells Monday night at U.S. Marine and South Vietnamese posts south of the demilitarized zone, killing six Marines, wounding 96 and killing and wounding an unannounced number of South Vietnamese.

A U.S. spokesman said a broadcast June 15 by the National Liberation Front, the political arm of the Viet Cong, "appears to state" that Hertz

Collision Claims Minister's Wife And Injures Him

A 33-year-old minister's wife from Columbiana died within minutes after the station wagon in which she was riding Monday night collided with another vehicle at the intersection of Routes 164 and 524 at Bergholz in Jefferson County.

Mrs. Lois Rehl of 415 S. Main St. was dead at the scene when an ambulance arrived from a nearby funeral home.

She was a passenger in the station wagon driven by her husband, the Rev. Thomas Rehl, who is in "fair" condition today at St. John's Hospital, Steubenville, with leg fractures.

ANOTHER passenger, Mary Lude, Mrs. Rehl's sister, is "satisfactory" at the hospital with multiple contusions. Hospital officials said she may be released today.

The Rehl vehicle was southbound on Route 164 about 7:30 when it and a 1962 sedan operated by William F. Elliot, 80, of Bergholz collided. According to reports, Elliot turned left directly in front of the Rehl car. He was treated and released at the hospital.

Elliot has been charged tentatively with making an improper turn.

The Jefferson County coroner, Dr. J. P. Smarrella, is expected to rule shortly.

Mrs. Rehl leaves two young children.

Rev. Rehl holds a dual pastorate at the Jerusalem Evangelical Lutheran Church in Columbiana and the Zion Lutheran Church in New Waterford.

MRS. REHL was born in Martins Ferry June 10, 1934, a daughter of Dale L. Lude and Harriet Greenlee Lude.

She was a graduate of Capital University in Columbus.

Surviving are a daughter, Debbie Rehl; a son, John Rehl both at home; two sisters, Mrs. Myrna Morgan of Oakland, Calif., and Mary Lude, at home, and a brother, Dale Lude of St. Clairsville.

Services will be held Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at the Columbiana Jerusalem Evangelical Church. The body will lie in state from 1 until 2:30 p.m. at the church. It then will be taken to St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran Church in Bridgeport where it will lie in state from 12:30 until 2 p.m. Thursday, with additional services scheduled for 2 p.m. Burial will be at Union Cemetery, St. Clairsville.

The family requests that material tributes take the form of gifts to St. Paul's Church.

Subjects Being Kept Secret

Kosygin, Castro Expected To Continue Talks Today

HAVANA (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Prime Minister Fidel Castro were expected to continue private talks today but the subjects being discussed were kept secret.

Western observers believed the two Communist leaders would range over Vietnam, the Soviet position on the Middle East and Castro's opposition to the Soviet doctrine of peaceful coexistence with non-Communist nations.

Informed sources said there was no official word on how long Kosygin would remain in Havana, but indications pointed to at least another day.

Kosygin was greeted with little fanfare when he arrived Monday after his nine-day visit to the United States, which included two meetings with President Johnson. No crowds were waiting at the airport to greet the first Soviet premier to visit Cuba. There were no bands and no flags.

The airport was still steaming from an afternoon rain as Kosygin, dressed in a dark suit, stepped from his plane with his daughter, Ludmila Gvishiani, and a score of Soviet officials.

After shaking hands and posing for photographs, Castro and Kosygin got into a black sedan and drove off to a guest house in the once fashionable Marianao section of Havana.

The Cuban public was not informed of Kosygin's visit until after he arrived.

The reception contrasted sharply with the enthusiastic red carpet treatment accorded Anastas I. Mikoyan when he came to Havana while first deputy premier in 1962, after the crisis over Soviet missiles in Cuba. The Russians pulled out the missiles after an exchange between President John F. Kennedy and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, and Mikoyan was sent to explain the Soviet position.

Castro's government has eased away from the Soviet line in recent months, declaring that Cuba wants to overturn Latin-American governments now trading with the Soviet Union. Castro criticized the Soviet Union in a speech March 13 for carrying on trade talks with Colombia and charged that anyone who traded with such "traitorous" governments undermines the guerrilla movement Cuba supports in Latin America.

Rusk And Gromyko Plan Talk On Summit Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko plan a followup talk tonight on the major international issues passed down to them from the Glassboro summit sessions.

Since Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Johnson wound up their weekend conferences still far apart on big issues, their aides were unlikely to come up with any quick agreements.

Rusk and Gromyko were to dine at the Soviet U.N. mission and discuss such items as Vietnam, the Middle East crisis and ways to hold down the arms race. The proposed draft of a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons appeared to offer the best prospects for progress.

Johnson and Kosygin agreed to high priority for this treaty, which the two atomic superpowers propose to present at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference. U.S sources said an agreed U.S.-Soviet text has been virtually completed.

On the Middle East issue the United States and the Soviet Union are still at loggerheads, with Kosygin demanding an immediate pullback of Israeli troops as a precondition for a peace settlement and Johnson saying a troop withdrawal should be tied in with a settlement.

Chester Council To Meet Again In Ambulance Bid

The city of Chester still is seeking an answer to the ambulance problem it will face when three funeral homes discontinue service July 15.

After lengthy discussion at Monday night's meeting, Council agreed to tackle the matter agan next Monday at 8 p.m.

Hopes for a satisfactory solution appear somewhat dim, however, in view of a report by Mayor Burton Ward last night.

THE MAYOR pointed out to Council only three replies had been received — from companies in Chester — to letters sent some 20 northern Hancock County industries asking for their support with both money and effort to meet the ambulance deadline.

Ward said the three, the National Church Supply Co., the Harker China Co. and the Taylor, Smith and Taylor Co., expressed doubt such a service would be feasible in a small community like Chester. National Church spokesmen pointed out Ward's request must be placed before its board of directors. Ward said he has heard nothing further from the firm.

David Boyce, Harker executive, said in a lengthy letter to Council, he feels the ambulance service should be coordinated with the volunteer fire department. Boyce said that while his company has the community's interests at heart, it is in no position to provide any subsidy for such a service.

Spokesmen said the company believes it is neither the responsibility of industry nor the

King Hussein To Meet With LBJ Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan will meet Wednesday with President Johnson, the White House announced today.

This means two kings in succession will be conferring with the President in two days, since the king of Thailand is due late today.

Hussein came to the United Nations to present the Arab cause in the Middle East dispute and it was almost a certainty from the start that he would be invited to call on Johnson.

Tax Increase Urged Now To Nip Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prompt federal tax boost is needed to head off another round of inflation, says Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board.

Martin, who supported from the start President Johnson's request last January for a six per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes, suggested Monday an even bigger boost now may be warranted.

Despite his request, Johnson still hasn't sent to Congress legislation asking for increased taxes. But administration sources now expect to present the surtax measure to Congress in early July.

Martin cited the rise in long-term interest rates to last sum-

Airplane Speed Citations Sustained By Court Test

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who took to the air Monday afternoon to satisfy his own doubts, today upheld the validity of speeding citations issued by the Highway Patrol after clocking autos from an aircraft across measured distances on roads.

The judge sustained the patrol in the citation it issued to Robert H. Lynn, 28, of 555 Williams Ave., accused of driving 59 miles an hour on June 19 at 3:25 p. m. in a stretch of the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. zoned at 50 miles an hour for trucks. Lynn was fined $15 and costs.

Cpl. Howard Reinke, who acted as spotter and timer in the aircraft, and Sgt. Ralph Rizzo, who was the interceptor crew on the ground, explained the method of clocking in their testimony.

REINKE SAID the four-lane road is marked off with a series of right - angle lines at quarter - mile distances. When a vehicle crosses the first line, the officer starts his stopwatch. When it crosses the next line, the stop watch is halted. The elapsed time then is converted into miles per hour to determine if the vehicle was exceeding the speed limit, they said.

Reinke said Lynn's truck crossed the quarter - mile in 15.4 seconds, indicating a speed of 59 miles an hour.

Lynn, in his testimony, said he pleaded not guilty because he felt his speed had not exceeded 53 to 54 miles an hour. He said he was observing his speedometer and was driving 50 or under along most of the four-lane stretch.

The judge reserved a decision in a second contested case in which he was presented with

Her husband, former Gov. George C. Wallace, is expected to be a third-party candidate for president next year.

In a tersely worded announcement Monday night, the diminutive 41- year-old Alabama chief executive said tests conducted during a thorough physical examination last week showed "that I have a malignancy which may again require surgery."

Subjects Being Kept Secret

Kosygin, Castro Expected To Continue Talks Today

HAVANA (AP) — Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and Prime Minister Fidel Castro were expected to continue private talks today but the subjects being discussed were kept secret.

Western observers believed the two Communist leaders would range over Vietnam, the Soviet position on the Middle East and Castro's opposition to the Soviet doctrine of peaceful coexistence with non-Communist nations.

Informed sources said there was no official word on how long Kosygin would remain in Havana, but indications pointed to at least another day.

Kosygin was greeted with little fanfare when he arrived Monday after his nine-day visit to the United States, which included two meetings with President Johnson. No crowds were waiting at the airport to greet the first Soviet premier to visit Cuba. There were no bands and no flags.

The airport was still steaming from an afternoon rain as Kosygin, dressed in a dark suit, stepped from his plane with his daughter, Ludmila Gvishiani, and a score of Soviet officials.

After shaking hands and posing for photographs, Castro and Kosygin got into a black sedan and drove off to a guest house in the once fashionable Marianao section of Havana.

The Cuban public was not informed of Kosygin's visit until after he arrived.

The reception contrasted sharply with the enthusiastic red carpet treatment accorded Anastas I. Mikoyan when he came to Havana while first deputy premier in 1962, after the crisis over Soviet missiles in Cuba. The Russians pulled out the missiles after an exchange between President John F. Kennedy and Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, and Mikoyan was sent to explain the Soviet position.

Castro's government has eased away from the Soviet line in recent months, declaring that Cuba wants to overturn Latin-American governments now trading with the Soviet Union. Castro criticized the Soviet Union in a speech March 13 for carrying on trade talks with Colombia and charged that anyone who traded with such "traitorous" governments undermines the guerrilla movement Cuba supports in Latin America.

No Quick Agreement Expected

Rusk And Gromyko Plan Talk On Summit Issues

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko plan a followup talk tonight on the major international issues passed down to them from the Glassboro summit sessions.

Since Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Johnson wound up their weekend conferences still far apart on big issues, their aides were unlikely to come up with any quick agreements.

Rusk and Gromyko were to dine at the Soviet U.N. mission and discuss such items as Vietnam, the Middle East crisis and ways to hold down the arms race. The proposed draft of a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons appeared to offer the best prospects for progress.

Johnson and Kosygin agreed to high priority for this treaty, which the two atomic superpowers propose to present at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference. U.S sources said an agreed U.S.-Soviet text has been virtually completed.

On the Middle East issue the United States and the Soviet Union are still at loggerheads, with Kosygin demanding an immediate pullback of Israeli troops as a precondition for a peace settlement and Johnson saying a troop withdrawal should be tied in with a settlement.

Chester Council To Meet Again In Ambulance Bid

The city of Chester still is seeking an answer to the ambulance problem it will face when three funeral homes discontinue service July 15.

After lengthy discussion at Monday night's meeting, Council agreed to tackle the matter agan next Monday at 8 p.m.

Hopes for a satisfactory solution appear somewhat dim, however, in view of a report by Mayor Burton Ward last night.

THE MAYOR pointed out to Council only three replies had been received — from companies in Chester — to letters sent some 20 northern Hancock County industries asking for their support with both money and effort to meet the ambulance deadline.

Ward said the three, the National Church Supply Co., the Harker China Co. and the Taylor, Smith and Taylor Co., expressed doubt such a service would be feasible in a small community like Chester. National Church spokesmen pointed out Ward's request must be placed before its board of directors. Ward said he has heard nothing further from the firm.

David Boyce, Harker executive, said in a lengthy letter to Council, he feels the ambulance service should be coordinated with the volunteer fire department. Boyce said that while his company has the community's interests at heart, it is in no position to provide any subsidy for such a service.

OFFICIALS of T. S. & T. expressed a similar viewpoint.

Spokesmen said the company believes it is neither the responsibility of industry nor the

King Hussein To Meet With LBJ Wednesday

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Hussein of Jordan will meet Wednesday with President Johnson, the White House announced today.

Tax Increase Urged Now To Nip Inflation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prompt federal tax boost is needed to head off another round of inflation, says Chairman William McChesney Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board.

Martin, who supported from the start President Johnson's request last January for a six per cent surcharge on individual and corporate income taxes, suggested Monday an even bigger boost now may be warranted.

Despite his request, Johnson still hasn't sent to Congress legislation asking for increased taxes. But administration sources now expect to present the surtax measure to Congress in early July.

Martin cited the rise in long-term interest rates to last sum-

Airplane Speed Citations Sustained By Court Test

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff, who took to the air Monday afternoon to satisfy his own doubts, today upheld the validity of speeding citations issued by the Highway Patrol after clocking autos from an aircraft across measured distances on roads.

The judge sustained the patrol in the citation it issued to Robert H. Lynn, 28, of 555 Williams Ave., accused of driving 59 miles an hour on June 19 at 3:25 p. m. in a stretch of the East Liverpool - Wellsville Rd. zoned at 50 miles an hour for trucks. Lynn was fined $15 and costs.

Cpl. Howard Reinke, who acted as spotter and timer in the aircraft, and Sgt. Ralph Rizzo, who was the interceptor crew on the ground, explained the method of clocking in their testimony.

REINKE SAID the four-lane road is marked off with a series of right - angle lines at quarter - mile distances. When a vehicle crosses the first line, the officer starts his stopwatch. When it crosses the next line, the stop watch is halted. The elapsed time then is converted into miles per hour to determine if the vehicle was exceeding the speed limit, they said.

Reinke said Lynn's truck crossed the quarter - mile in 15.4 seconds, indicating a speed of 59 miles an hour.

Lynn, in his testimony, said he pleaded not guilty because he felt his speed had not exceeded 53 to 54 miles an hour. He said he was observing his speedometer and was driving 50 or under along most of the four-lane stretch.

The judge reserved a decision in a second contested case in which he was presented with

The nation's only woman governor said she would enter M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston, Tex., next week on the recommendation of her doctors. The hospital is noted for its treatment and study of cancer.

Her husband, former Gov. George C. Wallace, is expected to be a third-party candidate for president next year.

In a tersely worded announcement Monday night, the diminutive 41- year-old Alabama chief executive said tests conducted during a thorough physical examination last week showed "that I have a malignancy which may again require surgery."

The announcement said an exact day of departure would be set later.

Weller Hits Program

Hancock Debate Touched Off By Head Start Plan

The "Head Start" program and expansion of the cultural resources center came under heavy fire from Dr. Eli Weller during Monday night's meeting of the Hancock County Board of Education.

At a marathon session lasting nearly four and a half hours, Dr. Weller, a board member, questioned the advantages of the local system participating in the "Head Start" program, as it is now set up.

THE HEATED debate was touched off following a report submitted by Crawford Cameron, director of state and federal programs for the school system. The report on "Head Start" had been requested by the board at an earlier session.

Cameron noted the program is now more social than educational in content and possibly the schools would be better advised to phase out their present role as a delegate agency and concentrate on being an advisory board in academic areas to one of the local agencies under the Office of Economic Opportunity. He noted the program is designed to operate through the local Community Action Council.

In the report it was noted the cost of sharing the program is now 80 per cent to 20 per cent instead of 90 per cent to 10 per cent as originally set up by the federal government. This would call for an outlay of about $1,600 from the schools to continue the program. Originally the schools provided "in-kind" services. It was further noted the teachers' salaries as specialists were cut below last year's level.

In conclusion, the report noted the actual value of the program is difficult to assess. It pointed out investigations revealed the program "had a definite initial social benefit, though there is little evidence of academic progress."

RONALD WILSON, director of CAC, appeared before the board to ask that it continue its present role in the program, noting it has resulted in the parents of the economically deprived becoming more involved in school affairs.

Wilson argued the children should remain under the control of the school system. He said the contention of the report may be true, but, on the other hand, he added, other things also are involved. Again he pointed out the involvement of the parent.

Wilson declared the program has provided employment for several teachers as well as three adults who would not otherwise have been employed.

He noted the program has been of decided social benefit to the child. It was with these points that Dr. Weller found fault. He said the school board's business is education, and it is not a social agency nor is it the board's job to provide employment for people. He declared the program must be paid for by the people and asked if a different agency could not handle it.

Wilson, in referring to Dr. Weller's statement, pointed out this was the very reason he wanted the schools to oversee the program.

DR. WELLER said he objected to the manner in which the school became involved. The schools were pressured into participating at the start of the program, he charged.

Dr. Weller said he could not understand why some type of follow-up could not be conducted in the form of a survey to determine the educational or social benefit that may have accrued to the child. "If this helps them to get a better education, it is worth it," he added, "but, so far there has been no indication this is true."

The debate was brought to an end when Wilson asked if the school would participate and a motion was passed, with board members Dr. John Brand, Fred Barnabei and J. P. Morgan voting for the program's continuation. Dr. Weller voted against it.

Weller also attacked the proposed expansion of the cultural resources center program. He said it was proposed that the centers be expanded to include pupils from one of the parochial schools in Weirton.

This he opposed, saying the continued sharing of the program by both school systems could only lead to an inferior educational system for both schools.

He noted the Catholic parent must finance the entire cost of their children's education and thus do not qualify for federal aid for cultural resources centers. Dr. Weller further stated he feels this expansion to encompass the Catholic students is merely a means for the parochial system "to get in through the back door."

Following a series of discussions, the board approved the program's continuation for one more year as recommended by Cameron, but without expanding it. The board will continue to evaluate the program.

contradictory records — one from the patrol and the other from the trucking company that employs the defendant.

Mahlon A. Hartman, 43, of Diamond, a tractor - trailer rig driver, was accused of driving 57 miles an hour in the same 50-mile zone. Reinke testified Hartman was clocked at 15.8 second across a quarter mile stretch, indicating the speed of 57.

The contradictory evidence was produced by Howard Taylor, safety engineer for Matlack, Inc., Hartman's employer.

He introduced a graph from a speed recording device in the cab of the rig which showed, he said, that the vehicle never exceeded a 50-mile pace in the 12 hours it operated that day. Taylor interpreted the markings on the chart to the judge.

The chart was retained as evidence and the judge indicated he will rule later. Taylor testified the recording device is attached to the vehicle's transmission to give constant readings in miles per hour. It also indicates halts and other data on daily trips, he added.

BEFORE pronouncing sentence on Lynn, the court related his experiences in the flight in the state plane yesterday, with Cpl. J. L. Centofante of Columbus as pilot.

"When the first of these aircraft speeding citations came into this court, I frankly was skeptical," the judge said. "To determine for myself, I went up in a state patrol aircraft yesterday. We flew at about 300 feet over the roadway, first on Route 62 near Salem and then along Route 7 near East Liverpool."

The judge explained the quarter - mile markings on the highway and the methods of timing.

"The court is convinced that the apprehension of violators by aircraft is about as foolproof as we can get," the judge remarked.

Six more citations resulting from aircraft timing were before the judge today.

Horace Lee Chapman of Farmville, Va., accused of driving 59 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7, forfeited a $17.50 bond. Walter C. Hicks of 773½ Dresden Ave. pleaded guilty to driving 71 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7 and was fined $15 and costs. George M. Kapules of Canfield forfeited $17.50 on a charge of driving 77 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7.

Carl S. Davis of Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, forfeited $32.50 on a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. A bench warrant also was ordered to compel his appearance.

Roger R. Shepherd of Flushing, who had not posted a bond and did not appear, was ordered haled into court on a bench warrant. He is accused of driving 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. A hearing is set later, probably Wednesday, for Rudolph Cosentiono of Poland, cited at 2:36 p. m. June 19 on a charge of driving 90 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7.

Four motorists also were cited in a radar speed check conducted by local officers yesterday.

Mary A. Rini of Irondale was fined $10 and costs on a charge of driving 45 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on W. 8th St. She was cited at 1 p.m. by Patrolman Charles A. Winters.

Hearings are due later for the others: Albert Silverberg of 925 Ohio Ave., Midland, 52 in a 35-mile zone on St. Clair Ave.; John B. Bailey of the SOI Hotel at Wellsville, 44 in a 35-mile zone on W. 8th St., and Everett M. Spencer Jr. of Steubenville, 47 in a 35-mile zone on W. 8th St.

'Graduate' Plan Still Offered In Army Enlistment

Young men who graduated from high school recently still have time to enlist in the Army under the Graduate Specialist Program if they act immediately, Sgt. Edward Vallor, local recruiter, points out.

Under this program, qualified high school graduates receive a written guarantee of the classroom training of their choice before they enlist. More than 300 courses in precision, electrical and motor maintenance, electronics, general technical skills, military crafts, clerical skills and graphics are offered.

Based on their abilities and interests, Vallor will help them select their first choice of training and two alternates. If quotas for the first choice are filled, men still may become graduate specialists in one of their alternates.

The sergeant explained the Graduate Specialist Program guarantees young men a seat in the course of their choice if they decide to enlist. But it does not obligate them in any way. They do not have to accept an alternate and they even may decide not to enlist.

Further information relative to this program or about any of the other Army enlistment options may be obtained by contacting Sgt. Vallor at the recruiting station or by phoning 386-4262.

Chester

individual to provide the service, but rather it is up to the city to see ambulances continue. The letter said the feeling is that Chester is too small to operate a 24-hour ambulance service. It further stated the company had a bad year financially in 1966.

This brought an immediate reaction from councilmen.

Member Robert Kincaid said he hopes the company doesn't "pile up" its plane and need an ambulance, "because there won't be one there."

Concerning the gloomy financial picture painted by T.S. & T., Kincaid said the company paid $20,000 for a plane and then "turned around and traded it for a $60,000 plane."

"I don't know if they're so bad off," he added, "if they can go joyriding around the countryside on Sunday."

KINCAID'S sentiment was echoed by Mayor Ward, who said he personally was taken up in the plane one Sunday by a company official, "since it was the man's turn to have the plane that weekend."

Kincaid and Lee Haney, a spectator, both firemen, said the volunteers are not interested in taking over the service. They said the department feels its men are involved in enough time - consuming projects without taking on another.

But, Kincaid said, "this service has to be provided, it's just gotta be. . .just like the sun rises and sets every day." "There is no way we can get along without ambulance service."

Council then agreed to request that Robert Pugh, who tentatively has agreed to begin ambulance service; Ted Turley, a New Cumberland funeral director who already has placed a unit in Newell, and James Walker, awarded a contract Monday night for service at East Liverpool, to attend the Monday night session in an effort to reach a solution.

Kincaid and Cashdollar both criticized Pugh. Kincaid said Pugh wanted to be featherbedded (through a subsidy) and have the Council pay for phones and a two - way radio in addition. Cashdollar said he understood Pugh was to have attended last night's meeting and said if he is interested he should do part of the work involved.

PUGH, contacted after the meeting, said he had not been invited to attend and review the problem with the legislators, and added, "In fact, only two of those men have even said anything to me about starting the service.

"I don't see why they're getting so panicky now," Pugh declared, "they've known about this for two months and haven't taken any action."

Pugh declared he could operate the service only with some outside financial assistance.

Cashdollar said he believes residents might pay something each month to insure the service would be provided.

Members agreed they might meet as a group with Turley and see if he also will take care of Chester. They noted that since the county commissioners feel they cannot subsidize one ambulance company and not another, they might be able to finance Turley if he operated the lone service and thus relieve the city of financial responsibility.

WARD NOTED the plight of any prospective ambulance company, saying, "Restrictions are so stringent that a man practically has to be a doctor to run one."

Cashdollar said the whole problem could be solved if the hospital were to take over the service and provide two ambulances for the area.

"But, they don't want any part of it," he added. Cashdollar noted the hospital also would be in a better position to collect the ambulance bills than a private operator.

Members ended the discussion by calling on all Chester service and social clubs, as well as churches and area industries, to attend Monday's meeting to try and iron out the problem. The session is scheduled for 8 in the city hall auditorium. Members requested that representatives of the fire department also be present.

Ohioan Planning Sunday Takeoff On World Flight

CLEVELAND (AP)—A suburban Richmond Heights flying enthusiast who plans to attempt a non-stop flight around the world without refueling says he will take off at 6 a.m. Sunday from Cleveland Hopkins International Airport.

Jim Bede, 34, announced his takeoff time Monday after receiving clearance through the U. S. State Department to fly over Iran.

He will make the solo flight in a modified sail plane, the front of which was rebuilt to take an engine, and estimates it will take 154 hours — about 6½ days.

His plans to start the flight two weeks ago were disrupted by the war in the Middle East. His route at that time would have taken him over North Africa and Southwest Asia, but it was canceled when several Arab nations broke diplomatic relations with the United States.

The alternate route arranged by the State Department will take Bede over Turkey, Greece and Iran.

Weller Hits Program

Hancock Debate Touched Off By Head Start Plan

The "Head Start" program and expansion of the cultural resources center came under heavy fire from Dr. Eli Weller during Monday night's meeting of the Hancock County Board of Education.

At a marathon session lasting nearly four and a half hours, Dr. Weller, a board member, questioned the advantages of the local system participating in the "Head Start" program, as it is now set up.

Dr. Weller further stated he feels this expansion to encompass the Catholic students is merely a means for the parochial system "to get in through the back door."

Following a series of discussions, the board approved the program's continuation for one more year as recommended by Cameron, but without expanding it. The board will continue to evaluate the program.

contradictory records — one from the patrol and the other from the trucking company that employs the defendant.

Mahlon A. Hartman, 43, of Diamond, a tractor - trailer rig driver, was accused of driving 57 miles an hour in the same 50-mile zone. Reinke testified Hartman was clocked at 15.8 second across a quarter mile stretch, indicating the speed of 57.

He introduced a graph from a speed recording device in the cab of the rig which showed, he said, that the vehicle never exceeded a 50-mile pace in the 12 hours it operated that day. Taylor interpreted the markings on the chart to the judge.

The chart was retained as evidence and the judge indicated he will rule later. Taylor testified the recording device is attached to the vehicle's transmission to give constant readings in miles per hour. It also indicates halts and other data on daily trips, he added.

BEFORE pronouncing sentence on Lynn, the court related his experiences in the flight in the state plane yesterday, with Cpl. J. L. Centofante of Columbus as pilot.

"When the first of these aircraft speeding citations came into this court, I frankly was skeptical," the judge said. "To determine for myself, I went up in a state patrol aircraft yesterday. We flew at about 300 feet over the roadway, first on Route 62 near Salem and then along Route 7 near East Liverpool."

The judge explained the quarter - mile markings on the highway and the methods of timing.

"The court is convinced that the apprehension of violators by aircraft is about as foolproof as we can get," the judge remarked.

Six more citations resulting from aircraft timing were before the judge today.

Horace Lee Chapman of Farmville, Va., accused of driving 59 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7, forfeited a $17.50 bond. Walter C. Hicks of 773½ Dresden Ave. pleaded guilty to driving 71 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7 and was fined $15 and costs. George M. Kapules of Canfield forfeited $17.50 on a charge of driving 77 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7.

Carl S. Davis of Buckeye Ave., Wellsville, forfeited $32.50 on a charge of speeding 75 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone. A bench warrant also was ordered to compel his appearance.

Roger R. Shepherd of Flushing, who had not posted a bond and did not appear, was ordered haled into court on a bench warrant. He is accused of driving 60 miles an hour in a 50-mile zone on Route 7. A hearing is set later, probably Wednesday, for Rudolph Cosentiono of Poland, cited at 2:36 p. m. June 19 on a charge of driving 90 miles an hour in a 60-mile zone on Route 7.

Four motorists also were cited in a radar speed check conducted by local officers yesterday.

Mary A. Rini of Irondale was fined $10 and costs on a charge of driving 45 miles an hour in a 35-mile zone on W. 8th St. She was cited at 1 p.m. by Patrolman Charles A. Winters.

Hearings are due later for the others: Albert Silverberg of 925 Ohio Ave., Midland, 52 in a 35-mile zone on St. Clair Ave.; John B. Bailey of the SOI Hotel at Wellsville, 44 in a 35-mile zone on W. 8th St., and Everett M. Spencer Jr. of Steubenville, 47 in a 35-mile zone on W. 8th St.

'Graduate' Plan Still Offered In Army Enlistment

Young men who graduated from high school recently still have time to enlist in the Army under the Graduate Specialist Program if they act immediately, Sgt. Edward Vallor, local recruiter, points out.

Under this program, qualified high school graduates receive a written guarantee of the classroom training of their choice before they enlist. More than 300 courses in precision, electrical and motor maintenance, electronics, general technical skills, military crafts, clerical skills and graphics are offered.

Based on their abilities and interests, Vallor will help them select their first choice of training and two alternates. If quotas for the first choice are filled, men still may become graduate specialists in one of their alternates.

The sergeant explained the Graduate Specialist Program guarantees young men a seat in the course of their choice if they decide to enlist. But it does not obligate them in any way. They do not have to accept an alternate and they even may decide not to enlist.

Further information relative to this program or about any of the other Army enlistment options may be obtained by contacting Sgt. Vallor at the recruiting station or by phoning 386-4262.

How Can I?

Q.—How can I remove banana stains from fabrics?

A.—Cover the spots with a liberal paste of fuller's earth and water and, after this has dried, brush it off.

Q.—How can I remove ink spots from wood?

A.—Try using a mixture of equal parts linseed oil and vinegar, applying lightly to the affected surfaces. Many other such tips on the care and cleaning of woodwork are included in my new paperback household manual.

Q.—How can I remove wine stains from fabrics?

A.—With washables, stretch the stained portion over a bowl, sprinkle salt over the stain, then pour boiling water on it from a height of two or so feet. Fresh stains on unwashables can sometimes be removed with an absorbent, such as fuller's earth or cornstarch. Apply the absorbent, let remain for some time, then brush off.

Q.—How can I prevent an iron from sticking to materials?

Chester

individual to provide the service, but rather it is up to the city to see ambulances continue. The letter said the feeling is that Chester is too small to operate a 24-hour ambulance service. It further stated the company had a bad year financially in 1966.

This brought an immediate reaction from councilmen.

Member Robert Kincaid said he hopes the company doesn't "pile up" its plane and need an ambulance, "because there won't be one there."

Concerning the gloomy financial picture painted by T.S. & T., Kincaid said the company paid $20,000 for a plane and then "turned around and traded it for a $60,000 plane."

"I don't know if they're so bad off," he added, "if they can go joyriding around the countryside on Sunday."

KINCAID'S sentiment was echoed by Mayor Ward, who said he personally was taken up in the plane one Sunday by a company official, "since it was the man's turn to have the plane that weekend."

Kincaid and Lee Haney, a spectator, both firemen, said the volunteers are not interested in taking over the service. They said the department feels its men are involved in enough time - consuming projects without taking on another.

But, Kincaid said, "this service has to be provided, it's just gotta be. . .just like the sun rises and sets every day." "There is no way we can get along without ambulance service."

Council then agreed to request that Robert Pugh, who tentatively has agreed to begin ambulance service; Ted Turley, a New Cumberland funeral director who already has placed a unit in Newell, and James Walker, awarded a contract Monday night for service at East Liverpool, to attend the Monday night session in an effort to reach a solution.

Kincaid and Cashdollar both criticized Pugh. Kincaid said Pugh wanted to be featherbedded (through a subsidy) and have the Council pay for phones and a two - way radio in addition. Cashdollar said he understood Pugh was to have attended last night's meeting and said if he is interested he should do part of the work involved.

PUGH, contacted after the meeting, said he had not been invited to attend and review the problem with the legislators, and added, "In fact, only two of those men have even said anything to me about starting the service.

"I don't see why they're getting so panicky now," Pugh declared, "they've known about this for two months and haven't taken any action."

Pugh declared he could operate the service only with some outside financial assistance.

Cashdollar said he believes residents might pay something each month to insure the service would be provided.

Members agreed they might meet as a group with Turley and see if he also will take care of Chester. They noted that since the county commissioners feel they cannot subsidize one ambulance company and not another, they might be able to finance Turley if he operated the lone service and thus relieve the city of financial responsibility.

WARD NOTED the plight of any prospective ambulance company, saying, "Restrictions are so stringent that a man practically has to be a doctor to run one."

Cashdollar said the whole problem could be solved if the hospital were to take over the service and provide two ambulances for the area.

"But, they don't want any part of it," he added. Cashdollar noted the hospital also would be in a better position to collect the ambulance bills than a private operator.

Members ended the discussion by calling on all Chester service and social clubs, as well as churches and area industries, to attend Monday's meeting to try and iron out the problem. The session is scheduled for 8 in the city hall auditorium. Members requested that representatives of the fire department also be present.

Ohioan Planning Sunday Takeoff On World Flight

CLEVELAND (AP)—A suburban Richmond Heights flying enthusiast who plans to attempt a non-stop flight around the world without refueling says he will take off at 6 a.m. Sunday from Cleveland Hopkins International Airport.

Jim Bede, 34, announced his takeoff time Monday after receiving clearance through the U. S. State Department to fly over Iran.

He will make the solo flight in a modified sail plane, the front of which was rebuilt to take an engine, and estimates it will take 154 hours — about 6½ days.

His plans to start the flight two weeks ago were disrupted by the war in the Middle East. His route at that time would have taken him over North Africa and Southwest Asia, but it was canceled when several Arab nations broke diplomatic relations with the United States.

The alternate route arranged by the State Department will take Bede over Turkey, Greece and Iran.

Operation Cool Summer

Jobs For Peace Take Shape Near Negro Slum

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Jobs for peace, a bargain for racial quiet which city fathers have yet to accept, took shape Monday night in a muggy schoolroom near a sprawling Negro slum.

More than 60 young Negroes, many of them hesitant to believe something was finally going to be done, came to learn about "Operation Cool Summer."

This is an ambitious project of the Florida National Association for the Advancement of Colored People aimed at putting idle Negro youngsters to work to siphon off discontent which they predict could explode into violence in Florida communities.

"You don't need to take my word for it," said Rev. Isadore Edwards, Baptist pastor and president of the local NAACP chapter. "Drive down Anderson Street once. They're all there, hundreds of them, talking about Tampa, Cleveland, Watts."

But Marvin Davies, state field director for the NAACP, says if you can put dollars in their hands, they won't be picking up bricks.

Davies calls it a community project, but he says his biggest problem so far has been getting the community involved.

National NAACP headquarters is closely watching the plan which calls for a series of two-hour clinics to register unemployed Negroes for existing job opportunities and get them hired.

The community part requires employers—most of them white—to come forward with job opportunities. And it calls upon city fathers to greatly integrate the municipal job structure which currently is white on the top and Negro on the bottom.

"I don't want any second-rate job," said Clyde Washington, 26. "I want a job where they need a man—not just a black man."

Washington is a leader of the biggest segment of restless youths in the West Side slum area and his appearance at the schoolhouse meeting was considered a major victory.

"He could turn us over (to riot) in five minutes," said the Rev. Mr. Edwards, "It took us five weeks to get to him."

The question now is whether city commissioners — one of them the owner of slum property—will join the project and meet their part of the bargain.

The NAACP has asked for enforcement of the minimum housing code, a Negro aide on Mayor Paul Myers' staff as a communications link, and appointment of more Negroes to city boards.

There is one Negro member of 22 city boards.

It has also asked for the upgrading of recreational facilities, a cleanup campaign in the slum area and use of a Negro policeman at the booking desks.

It has also requested formation of a "Neighborhood Youth Corps," the biggest element in restoring order in riot wracked Tampa 10 days ago.

Davies said Mayor Myers has scheduled a meeting July 5 with the full commission to go over NAACP demands.

Myers, according to Davies, has indicated tentative agreement to all but the idea of having a Negro aide.

Water Leaks Plague Crew At Wellsville

Minor but annoying water leaks and breaks kept Wellsville Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare and his crew out until 4 a. m. today digging up the streets and making temporary repairs.

Baldasare said Fire Chief Robert Lewis and his volunteers were conducting their annual test of the city's fire hydrants about 11 a.m. yesterday when the first problems occurred.

A hydrant at 10th St. and Oak Alley on Main St. was being shut off when the valve at the bottom suddenly came loose and snapped shut suddenly. This caused a "shock" which created a 2½-foot-long break in a 6-inch main on the 1000-block of Main St. The hydrant also began leaking.

A backhoe was used to dig up blacktop, brick and cement in order to reach the main and insert a temporary patch.

Shortly thereafter, another hydrant which had been leaking at 13th and Center Sts. was checked by firemen when its valve failed and a torrent of water poured from it.

Baldasare said there was "no doubt" the hydrant had been struck in recent days by a car or truck.

The outpour caused pressure to drop from the 13th St. main and curtailed water facilities in Russell Heights.

Baldasare's men put plugs in both hydrants to cut down the flow and plan to remove the hydrants to permit the installation of valves.

The 10th St. hydrant will be repaired first, then the one on 13th St. and finally the patched-up main.

Baldasre said the main repair will be attempted "under pressure" to permit unaffected water service.

Fearful Town

2 Girls Vanish, Murder Victims

SIERRA VISTA, Ariz. (AP) — The little children of this community have vanished. It is as if some Pied Piper lured them away with his magic pipe.

They're in their homes or their backyards or in the family car. Parents keep constant watch. Two blonde girls have vanished—one from her home, another from a play area—to become murder victims.

The people are frightened.

A local pawn shop owner says he could get rich if he had more .25-caliber automatic pistols. "They're selling like hotcakes," said the dealer. "The women here say they aren't going to let some nut kill their children without at least putting up a fight."

It was nearly two months ago that pretty blue-eyed, blonde-haired Cindy Clelland disappeared from her home in Sierra Vista, which has grown up around Ft. Huachuca. The sprawling desert Army post is headquarters for the Strategic Communications Command.

The girl, daughter of an Army sergeant, was found stabbed to death in a brutal fashion three days later. She was nude when searchers found her body on a remote firing range.

Then last Thursday, Jenelle Haines, whose father is a lieutenant colonel, disappeared while playing near a pond at the Ft. Huachuca Officers Club. She was found eight hours later, her skull crushed by what is thought to have been a large rock.

Because the second killing was on federal property, the Federal Bureau of Investigation was called in. Agents working out of Ft. Huachuca refused to comment, saying, "We'll call you if anything happens."

A number of persons interviewed Monday said they felt it was unfair to be left in the dark. "We don't know what to watch out for," said one woman as she shopped with her three children tagging along behind. "Surely someone saw something, it seems they could tell us more."

Civilians here say they think the killer—or killers—is in the Army. Military personnel say townspeople are always quick to blame the Army.

"There is no way of knowing who the killer is," said one officer who refused to give his name. "Anyone can get on this post. All you have to do is stop at the gate and get a pass. It could just as easily have been a civilian."

But the real worry isn't whether the killer is a soldier or a civilian. People say they won't trust anyone, not even their neighbors, until someone is arrested.

Chester Asks Authority For Use Of Funds

Chester Mayor Burton Ward and Councilman Roy Cashdollar may be on their way to Charleston Wednesday seeking authority to spend city funds to finance the construction of a new emergency pumping installation at the city's present pumping station in the east end.

The installation was agreed upon during a special meeting of the Water and Sewage Board last week.

Ward said the two men were to meet with the board's attorney, Edwin Flowers, this afternoon to discuss the money situation. Excess money which is deposited in a sinking fund may be drawn out for such a purpose with state approval, he added.

Ward said the exact amount needed has not been determined, but estimated it will be approximately $10,000.

He said the trip to Charleston to meet with state officials is contingent upon the result of this afternoon's session with Flowers.

Ward said the extra money is deposited in the fund each quarter for just such reasons.

The water board agreed to install a recently - purhased pump at the present station instead of financing extensive repairs to the 1st St. emergency station. The work will be completed by the Pennsylvania Drilling Co.

Area Youth Held In Theft Of Auto At Shopping Site

A 15-year-old Clarkson youth was being held by Beaver County authorities today in connection with the theft of a car from the St. Clair Plaza shopping lot and boots and a knife from a store.

George Wilbert Cunningham Jr. was apprehended by Beaver police about 6 p. m. in Beaver and taken to the Allencrest detention home.

Officers said Patricia Brooks of Christian Pl., East Liverpool R. D. 3, reported to area authorities about 5 p. m. her auto was stolen from the parking lot. She is an employe of the Hills Department Store.

Beaver police said the youth was located in a service station attempting to get some free gasoline for the car which was identified as the woman's.

Officers said he had a pair of hunting boots and a knife which had been taken from Hills store.

The youth is to be turned over to Columbiana County authorities.

Methodist, EUB Church Merger Seen Guaranteed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The proposed merger of The Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church into a religious body of 11 million members is virtually guaranteed.

The new religious body would be called the United Methodist Church.

Officials of both churches gathered at EUB headquarters here Monday night and confirmed that required approval by membership of the religious bodies was a "statistical success."

Delegates of the Ohio Sandusky EUB Conference meeting at St. Marys, Ohio, cast the deciding votes earlier in the day.

The union, which has been under study for nine years, required a two-thirds affirmative vote of local delegates representing all churches of the two protestant faiths.

The Ohio Sandusky Conference voted 166-120 in favor of the merger after EUB delegates elsewhere earlier had given a 2,714-1,590 affirmative vote. EUB delegates representing a church membership of 750,000 persons now have approved the union by a 70 per cent margin.

Methodist have so far given 87.3 per cent approval. The Methodist Church is 10,250,000 members strong.

The Rev. Paul A. Washburn of Dayton, executive secretary of the EUB Commission on Church Union, and Charles C. Parlin of New York City, secretary of the Methodist Commission on Union, met here Monday, anticipating the balloting at St. Marys.

Bishops of both churches plan to audit all voting before making an official announcement.

Commissioners Set Hearing On Water Program

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners will conduct a public hearing at 10 a. m. Thursday on the proposed Calcutta - Glenmoor area water system in St. Clair Township, including tentative assessments and assessment district boundaries.

James W. Boyd of East Liverpool, commission chairman, will preside during the meeting in a second-floor courtroom at the Courthouse.

The commissioners Monday paid $50 to George D. Worth Post 574, American Legion, at North Georgetown for Memorial Day expenses and approved travel and expenses of $35 for Commissioner R. Max Gard of Lisbon to attend the summer conference of the Ohio County Commissioners Association Thursday at Youngstown.

The Johnson - Watson Printing and Bookbinding Co. of Dayton was low and successful bidder on 1,000 delinquent land list sheets for $156 and 50 notation of lien books for $300. There were two other bidders on each item.

Commissioners inspected the County Home and received the monthly financial report. The home has 121 residents — 54 women and 67 men — and the income was $7,987.45 including $2,273.45 from social security checks, $3,158 from aid for aged, $1,788 in cash or checks for keep, and $1,080 in farm inome.

$3,675 Awarded Steubenville Pair In Lisbon Action

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury this morning returned a $3,675 verdict for Emanuel M. and Sophia C. Federico of 139 S. 6th St., Steubenville, in their civil action against United Electronics, Inc., 644 St. Clair Ave., East Liverpool.

The case concerned money due on lease of the plaintiffs' property at 139 - 141 S. 6th St., Steubenville.

They asked for $4,375. The lease was for $350 per month from Jan. 1, 1962, to Dec. 31, 1967. When the defendant was unable to meet the payments, the plaintiffs consented to subletting and the defendant sublet the premises for $175 per month.

The defendant claimed the plaintiffs terminated the lease in April or May of 1965 when they began collecting the $175 from the sub-tenant. The plaintiffs said they did this to reduce the defendant's indebtedness to them.

On the jury sworn in Monday by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard were Robert Guyton, Helen Sell, Sue Clutter and Jason Yaney, East Liverpool; Dolores Whiteman, Wellsville; Harry Thompson, Janet Clark, Violet Taugher and Ernest Kornbau, Salem; Howard Sommers, Damascus; Mary Kampfer, Lisbon, and Rodger Headley, Hanoverton.

How Can I?

Q.—How can I improve the appearance of a gilded clock?

Q.—How can I make a good cement for broken dishes?

A.—By melting powdered alum in a spoon over a gas flame and, while this is still soft, rubbing the melted alum over the edges of the two pieces you want to stick together, then pressing them together and letting set. Dishes mended in this manner can be washed in hot water, too.

Q.—How can I produce lighter, higher, fluffier omelettes?

A.—By beating the whites and yolks of eggs separately, then mixing together, just before putting into your skillet. The large amount of air you've whipped into your mixture will produce the kind of omelettes you're aiming at.

Q.—How can I cope with mildewed leather?

A.—Wipe the leather with a solution of equal parts of denatured alcohol and water, and dry it in the open air. If it still looks spotty, clean it with saddle soap and, in the case of some leather articles such as luggage and shoes, finish afterward with a good wax polish.

Q.—What is a quick and simple way of removing oil from the concrete floor of a garage or carport?

A.—Try this: Place several thicknesses of newspapers over the oil spots, letting the papers extend well beyond the spots. Then saturate the papers with clear, cold water. Press the wet papers tightly against the floor and leave until completely dry before picking them up. By then they should have absorbed all, or most, of the grease.

Q.—How can I clean out those black and gummy stains in some of my ashtrays?

A.—With denatured alcohol.

If you want life insurance that you can change as often as your way of life changes...

...the man from Nationwide is on your side.

You can cover practically anything that comes along just by adding to your one Nationwide policy.

Nationwide thinks it's crazy that you should have to buy a whole new policy every time you need more or less life insurance.

That's why Nationwide invented its Adjustable Life Plan. You can change your coverage as often as your way of life changes—but without all the fuss of having a new policy written. You simply add new coverage to your present policy.

Example: Each time you have a child, your responsibilities as a breadwinner increase so you need more insurance. The man from Nationwide lets you add insurance on yourself to your existing policy. But then as your children grow older, get married and become less dependent, he lets you decrease your insurance if you care to.

Operation Cool Summer

Jobs For Peace Take Shape Near Negro Slum

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Jobs for peace, a bargain for racial quiet which city fathers have yet to accept, took shape Monday night in a muggy schoolroom near a sprawling Negro slum.

More than 60 young Negroes, many of them hesitant to believe something was finally going to be done, came to learn about "Operation Cool Summer."

This is an ambitious project of the Florida National Association for the Advancement of Colored People aimed at putting idle Negro youngsters to work to siphon off discontent which they predict could explode into violence in Florida communities.

"You don't need to take my word for it," said Rev. Isadore Edwards, Baptist pastor and president of the local NAACP chapter. "Drive down Anderson Street once. They're all there, hundreds of them, talking about Tampa, Cleveland, Watts."

But Marvin Davies, state field director for the NAACP, says if you can put dollars in their hands, they won't be picking up bricks.

Davies calls it a community project, but he says his biggest problem so far has been getting the community involved.

National NAACP headquarters is closely watching the plan which calls for a series of two-hour clinics to register unemployed Negroes for existing job opportunities and get them hired.

The community part requires employers—most of them white—to come forward with job opportunities. And it calls upon city fathers to greatly integrate the municipal job structure which currently is white on the top and Negro on the bottom.

"I don't want any second-rate job," said Clyde Washington, 26. "I want a job where they need a man—not just a black man."

Washington is a leader of the biggest segment of restless youths in the West Side slum area and his appearance at the schoolhouse meeting was considered a major victory.

"He could turn us over (to riot) in five minutes," said the Rev. Mr. Edwards, "It took us five weeks to get to him."

The question now is whether city commissioners — one of them the owner of slum property—will join the project and meet their part of the bargain.

The NAACP has asked for enforcement of the minimum housing code, a Negro aide on Mayor Paul Myers' staff as a communications link, and appointment of more Negroes to city boards.

There is one Negro member of 22 city boards.

It has also asked for the upgrading of recreational facilities, a cleanup campaign in the slum area and use of a Negro policeman at the booking desks.

It has also requested formation of a "Neighborhood Youth Corps," the biggest element in restoring order in riot wracked Tampa 10 days ago.

Davies said Mayor Myers has scheduled a meeting July 5 with the full commission to go over NAACP demands.

Myers, according to Davies, has indicated tentative agreement to all but the idea of having a Negro aide.

Water Leaks Plague Crew At Wellsville

Minor but annoying water leaks and breaks kept Wellsville Safety-Service Director Fred Baldasare and his crew out until 4 a. m. today digging up the streets and making temporary repairs.

Baldasare said Fire Chief Robert Lewis and his volunteers were conducting their annual test of the city's fire hydrants about 11 a.m. yesterday when the first problems occurred.

A hydrant at 10th St. and Oak Alley on Main St. was being shut off when the valve at the bottom suddenly came loose and snapped shut suddenly. This caused a "shock" which created a 2½-foot-long break in a 6-inch main on the 1000-block of Main St. The hydrant also began leaking.

A backhoe was used to dig up blacktop, brick and cement in order to reach the main and insert a temporary patch.

Shortly thereafter, another hydrant which had been leaking at 13th and Center Sts. was checked by firemen when its valve failed and a torrent of water poured from it.

Baldasare said there was "no doubt" the hydrant had been struck in recent days by a car or truck.

The outpour caused pressure to drop from the 13th St. main and curtailed water facilities in Russell Heights.

Baldasare's men put plugs in both hydrants to cut down the flow and plan to remove the hydrants to permit the installation of valves.

The 10th St. hydrant will be repaired first, then the one on 13th St. and finally the patched-up main.

Baldasre said the main repair will be attempted "under pressure" to permit unaffected water service.

2 Girls Vanish, Murder Victims

SIERRA VISTA, Ariz. (AP) — The little children of this community have vanished. It is as if some Pied Piper lured them away with his magic pipe.

They're in their homes or their backyards or in the family car. Parents keep constant watch. Two blonde girls have vanished—one from her home, another from a play area—to become murder victims.

The people are frightened.

A local pawn shop owner says he could get rich if he had more .25-caliber automatic pistols. "They're selling like hotcakes," said the dealer. "The women here say they aren't going to let some nut kill their children without at least putting up a fight."

It was nearly two months ago that pretty blue-eyed, blonde-haired Cindy Clelland disappeared from her home in Sierra Vista, which has grown up around Ft. Huachuca. The sprawling desert Army post is headquarters for the Strategic Communications Command.

The girl, daughter of an Army sergeant, was found stabbed to death in a brutal fashion three days later. She was nude when searchers found her body on a remote firing range.

Then last Thursday, Jenelle Haines, whose father is a lieutenant colonel, disappeared while playing near a pond at the Ft. Huachuca Officers Club. She was found eight hours later, her skull crushed by what is thought to have been a large rock.

Because the second killing was on federal property, the Federal Bureau of Investigation was called in. Agents working out of Ft. Huachuca refused to comment, saying, "We'll call you if anything happens."

A number of persons interviewed Monday said they felt it was unfair to be left in the dark. "We don't know what to watch out for," said one woman as she shopped with her three children tagging along behind. "Surely someone saw something, it seems they could tell us more."

Civilians here say they think the killer—or killers—is in the Army. Military personnel say townspeople are always quick to blame the Army.

"There is no way of knowing who the killer is," said one officer who refused to give his name. "Anyone can get on this post. All you have to do is stop at the gate and get a pass. It could just as easily have been a civilian."

But the real worry isn't whether the killer is a soldier or a civilian. People say they won't trust anyone, not even their neighbors, until someone is arrested.

Contractors Need Hundred Apprentices

CINCINNATI (AP)—A contractors' group says it needs a hundred apprentices in such fields as carpentry, plastering, masonry and lathing.

The local chapter of the Association of General Contractors told City Manager William C. Wichman Monday that the openings were available for either Negro or white youths.

Area Youth Held In Theft Of Auto At Shopping Site

A 15-year-old Clarkson youth was being held by Beaver County authorities today in connection with the theft of a car from the St. Clair Plaza shopping lot and boots and a knife from a store.

George Wilbert Cunningham Jr. was apprehended by Beaver police about 6 p. m. in Beaver and taken to the Allencrest detention home.

Officers said Patricia Brooks of Christian Pl., East Liverpool R. D. 3, reported to area authorities about 5 p. m. her auto was stolen from the parking lot. She is an employe of the Hills Department Store.

Beaver police said the youth was located in a service station attempting to get some free gasoline for the car which was identified as the woman's.

Officers said he had a pair of hunting boots and a knife which had been taken from Hills store.

The youth is to be turned over to Columbiana County authorities.

Chester Asks Authority For Use Of Funds

Chester Mayor Burton Ward and Councilman Roy Cashdollar may be on their way to Charleston Wednesday seeking authority to spend city funds to finance the construction of a new emergency pumping installation at the city's present pumping station in the east end.

The installation was agreed upon during a special meeting of the Water and Sewage Board last week.

Ward said the two men were to meet with the board's attorney, Edwin Flowers, this afternoon to discuss the money situation. Excess money which is deposited in a sinking fund may be drawn out for such a purpose with state approval, he added.

Ward said the exact amount needed has not been determined, but estimated it will be approximately $10,000.

He said the trip to Charleston to meet with state officials is contingent upon the result of this afternoon's session with Flowers.

Ward said the extra money is deposited in the fund each quarter for just such reasons.

The water board agreed to install a recently - purhased pump at the present station instead of financing extensive repairs to the 1st St. emergency station. The work will be completed by the Pennsylvania Drilling Co.

Would Be United Methodist Church

Methodist, EUB Church Merger Seen Guaranteed

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — The proposed merger of The Methodist Church and the Evangelical United Brethren Church into a religious body of 11 million members is virtually guaranteed.

The new religious body would be called the United Methodist Church.

Officials of both churches gathered at EUB headquarters here Monday night and confirmed that required approval by membership of the religious bodies was a "statistical success."

Delegates of the Ohio Sandusky EUB Conference meeting at St. Marys, Ohio, cast the deciding votes earlier in the day.

The union, which has been under study for nine years, required a two-thirds affirmative vote of local delegates representing all churches of the two protestant faiths.

The Ohio Sandusky Conference voted 166-120 in favor of the merger after EUB delegates elsewhere earlier had given a 2,714-1,590 affirmative vote. EUB delegates representing a church membership of 750,000 persons now have approved the union by a 70 per cent margin.

Methodist have so far given 87.3 per cent approval. The Methodist Church is 10,250,000 members strong.

The Rev. Paul A. Washburn of Dayton, executive secretary of the EUB Commission on Church Union, and Charles C. Parlin of New York City, secretary of the Methodist Commission on Union, met here Monday, anticipating the balloting at St. Marys.

Bishops of both churches plan to audit all voting before making an official announcement.

Commissioners Set Hearing On Water Program

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners will conduct a public hearing at 10 a. m. Thursday on the proposed Calcutta - Glenmoor area water system in St. Clair Township, including tentative assessments and assessment district boundaries.

James W. Boyd of East Liverpool, commission chairman, will preside during the meeting in a second-floor courtroom at the Courthouse.

The commissioners Monday paid $50 to George D. Worth Post 574, American Legion, at North Georgetown for Memorial Day expenses and approved travel and expenses of $35 for Commissioner R. Max Gard of Lisbon to attend the summer conference of the Ohio County Commissioners Association Thursday at Youngstown.

The Johnson - Watson Printing and Bookbinding Co. of Dayton was low and successful bidder on 1,000 delinquent land list sheets for $156 and 50 notation of lien books for $300. There were two other bidders on each item.

Commissioners inspected the County Home and received the monthly financial report. The home has 121 residents — 54 women and 67 men — and the income was $7,987.45 including $2,273.45 from social security checks, $3,158 from aid for aged, $1,788 in cash or checks for keep, and $1,080 in farm inome.

$3,675 Awarded Steubenville Pair In Lisbon Action

LISBON — A Common Pleas Court jury this morning returned a $3,675 verdict for Emanuel M. and Sophia C. Federico of 139 S. 6th St., Steubenville, in their civil action against United Electronics, Inc., 644 St. Clair Ave., East Liverpool.

The case concerned money due on lease of the plaintiffs' property at 139 - 141 S. 6th St., Steubenville.

They asked for $4,375. The lease was for $350 per month from Jan. 1, 1962, to Dec. 31, 1967. When the defendant was unable to meet the payments, the plaintiffs consented to subletting and the defendant sublet the premises for $175 per month.

The defendant claimed the plaintiffs terminated the lease in April or May of 1965 when they began collecting the $175 from the sub-tenant. The plaintiffs said they did this to reduce the defendant's indebtedness to them.

On the jury sworn in Monday by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard were Robert Guyton, Helen Sell, Sue Clutter and Jason Yaney, East Liverpool; Dolores Whiteman, Wellsville; Harry Thompson, Janet Clark, Violet Taugher and Ernest Kornbau, Salem; Howard Sommers, Damascus; Mary Kampfer, Lisbon, and Rodger Headley, Hanoverton.

How Can I?

By ANNE ASHLEY

Q.—How can I improve the appearance of a gilded clock?

Q.—How can I make a good cement for broken dishes?

A.—By melting powdered alum in a spoon over a gas flame and, while this is still soft, rubbing the melted alum over the edges of the two pieces you want to stick together, then pressing them together and letting set. Dishes mended in this manner can be washed in hot water, too.

Q.—How can I produce lighter, higher, fluffier omelettes?

A.—By beating the whites and yolks of eggs separately, then mixing together, just before putting into your skillet. The large amount of air you've whipped into your mixture will produce the kind of omelettes you're aiming at.

Q.—How can I cope with mildewed leather?

A.—Wipe the leather with a solution of equal parts of denatured alcohol and water, and dry it in the open air. If it still looks spotty, clean it with saddle soap and, in the case of some leather articles such as luggage and shoes, finish afterward with a good wax polish.

Q.—What is a quick and simple way of removing oil from the concrete floor of a garage or carport?

A.—Try this: Place several thicknesses of newspapers over the oil spots, letting the papers extend well beyond the spots. Then saturate the papers with clear, cold water. Press the wet papers tightly against the floor and leave until completely dry before picking them up. By then they should have absorbed all, or most, of the grease.

Q.—How can I clean out those black and gummy stains in some of my ashtrays?

A.—With denatured alcohol.

Russia's Soft-Sell Policy

In the game of international politics, one of the goals is to gain a security edge whenever possible. The Soviet Union is at least neck-and-neck in this race with the United States—maybe even a little in the lead.

Soviets are continually trying to make their borders secure. Sometimes it is a tough job.

Look what happened in the Middle East. But the Soviets are not finished there yet. The struggle goes on.

Different tactics are required with different countries. The Soviet Union is finding success in its program to neutralize all of Scandanavia.

It has defeated Finland in the past two wars between the countries and presently is allied to the nation in a military defense pact.

Russians have been using the soft-sell in Sweden and apparently have been successful in convincing the Swedes that its policy of neutrality is fine with the Soviet Union.

Progress also has been made in overtures to Norway and Denmark which now are the only countries in the north where western bases could be placed. Both are NATO members.

Their NATO memberships expire in 1969 and there is good indication that they may seek changes in the relationship with western nations at that time.

Russia's determined campaign to secure its northern flank with a honey-sweet approach definitely has beeen paying off.

It is a little strange in face of the obvious success of a soft-line policy, that the Soviet Union doesn't try a broader use of the method.

It has certainly made a better showing in the past few years than the oft-used rocket rattling program.

Pool Vandals

There are a lot of psychological explanations for vandalism, but we continue to rate it as an unfortunate combination of stupidity, cruelty and disregard for others.

The kind of malicious nonsense in which trash was tossed into the Veterans Memorial Swimming Pool at Midland Saturday is an example of such affronts to society.

To rob others of pleasure, to cause useless expense to the taxpayer, to violate the fundamentals of civilization are more than the results of mental aberration. Purposeful defacement or destruction deserves punishment.

The Gap Is Now A Chasm

Americans learned years after the Great Depression that the disaster they blamed President Hoover for was worldwide.

The Hoover administration, it turned out was neither better nor worse than half a dozen other governments that did not know how to stop a worldwide depression.

Must we wait until years later to learn that the credibility gap in the United States is not peculiar to the Johnson administration?

The credibility gap, too, is worldwide in scope and America's part in it is typical of something happening everywhere else.

The absurd and fantastic falsehoods that have been the common currency of the anti-Israel bloc in United Nations debate have dramatized the fact the worldwide credibility gap is now a chasm.

The truth is not in the anti-Israel people.

These people lie habitually and routinely. They use falsehoods to mislead the empty-headed mobs whose predictable responses are proof of their mass stupidity.

Their leaders refuse to let their people know the truth about anything.

In some countries, the populace never has heard the truth; they wouldn't recognize it.

Egyptians, for example, never have been told what happened to their army at the hands of the Israelis. Their propagandists, led by Nasser and goaded by the Kremlin, are needling them into another "holy war." They think they won.

It is impossible for Americans to understand how Egyptians, Syrians, Chinese and even the comparatively literate French can believe the lies fobbed off on them by cynical leaders who hold the general populace in permanent contempt.

Americans like to believe they can distinguish between a lie and the truth. They like to believe that the truth always come out eventually, even in affidavits.

But the credibility gap — the chasm — exists here, there and everywhere. The art of lying has turned into a crude technique pursued without grace or humor.

The statesmen of the so-called "great powers" should look behind them once in a while. They would be surprised to see how many doubtful Thomases are to be spotted among the gillies and the gullies.

The gullibility bubble may burst one day soon, and if it does no one will believe anything that purports to be from an official source.

Those of us who finally have grown accustomed to being grandparents welcome the Lyndon Baines Johnsons to the club.

Eyeball To Eyeball!

'Make It A Boy!'

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

The announcement that President Lyndon B. Johnson had a grandson caught Washington by surprise. It was known for some months that the President would have a grandchild, but White House sources denied up until the last minute that President Johnson had made up his mind whether he wanted his daughter to have a boy or a girl.

Art Buchwald

As a matter of fact, when a White House spokesman was queried as to which sex the President would like his first grandchild to be, the reply was, "The President wants to keep all his options open at this time."

From various sources around town it has been learned that Mr. Johnson's advisers were split down the line as to whether Luci and Pat Nugent's baby should be a boy or a girl. They were said to be divided between the doves and the storks.

The storks insisted a grandson at this time would serve notice on the world that the President intended to continue his strong policies in world affairs, while the doves argued that if the President had a granddaughter it might set the climate for a more viable foreign policy.

THE PRESIDENT listened to both points of view very carefully. He then called up congressional leaders to get their opinion. Both Sens. Mike Mansfield and Everett Dirksen said they would support the President's position as a grandfather whether Luci produced a girl or a boy.

But Sens. Wayne Morse and J. W. Fulbright said they would have to hold hearings first before they made up their minds. Sen. Robert Kennedy said, "I'm for planned parenthood, so I'd rather not comment at this time."

The President then called in pollsters George Gallup and Lou Harris and asked them to find out what the consensus in the country was on the issue. Gallup came back and said his poll showed the American public in favor of a girl. The Harris survey revealed the opposite. The people he interviewed favored a boy.

With the 1968 election a year away the President called in his political advisers to find out how the grandchild would affect his chances in the next election. The professionals felt that a grandchild would help the President's chances in the election year, particularly since it didn't look as though any Republican candidate could come up with a grandchild by 1968.

But they were stumped on the boy or girl issue, particularly on how it would affect President Johnson's chances in the South.

IT WAS THEN suggested that the President send up a trial balloon and leak to several of his favorite press columnists that he was thinking of having a granddaughter.

The President did this at an intimate lunch, and there was immediate reaction after the columns appeared. One editorial said, "This is a problem for the Department of Labor and the White House should stay out of it." Another editorial said, "This is the first pregnant idea the administration has put forward in months.

The George Christian, the able White House press secretary, first denied that the President had a daughter; second, that she was married, and third, that she was about to have a baby.

Unfortunately the President could not keep from making his decision much longer, particularly as his daughter kept insisting the baby was going to be born any day.

But it was Lady Bird who finally made up the President's mind. She said, "You know, dear, if Luci gives us a grandson, we can name him Lyndon."

The President immediately put through a call to Austin and said, "Luci, I've made up my mind. You're to have a boy."

Don't Bug LBJ, Labor Warns

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — The presidential campaign is on. Word has been dispatched to national labor leaders by their central headquarters here—in a set of confidential position papers—that it is later than they think and not as certain as they believe it to be that they will defeat the Republican nominee.

Victor Riesel

In these documents is the blunt warning against taking continuous political pot shots at President Johnson.

"Accepting the almost inevitable circumstance that the AFL-CIO will be supporting President Johnson in 1968 we are already moving to put muscle into that support size."

Then the "leadership (of American labor) is urged to forgo the luxury of criticizing the administration on relatively minor matters."

The warning then says bluntly: "There is a lesson here in the 1966 defeat of Gov. Brown of California. Many of our people were in the absurd position of urging all-out support for a candidate (Brown), the object of years of petty fault finding."

THESE WHITE PAPERS were prepared for labor's high command by some of the AFL-CIO's most astute political infighters. They're worried, though the polls show an increase in the President's popularity.

Their leader, George Meany, who now has greater access to the White House than any man in Washington, is personally dedicated to the President's re-election. So much so that, when in the past two years he has mused with friends about resigning, he has qualified his whimsy with the assertion that he wants to fight through '68 at the side of Lyndon Johnson. And Meany has a whim of iron.

Labor's political strategists don't fret easily. They know their own strength. But they realize, too, what is cutting in on their influence with the millions they lead. They know, for example, that many Republican governors and new senators are remaking the Republican image among the new millions in labor.

Not too long ago they were startled to see Sen. Percy talk to the Senate about Walter Reuther as though the auto union chief was a political blood brother. Percy took excerpts from the publication of the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Dept. and then added: "No amount of paraphrasing on my part could substitute for the eloquent testimony of Mr. Reuther."

And such governors as Ronald Reagan, Nelson Rockefeller, Raymond Shafer and Minnesota's Harold LeVander have been "dialogue-ing" with labor, in some instances appointing them to state boards.

THIS DOESN'T exactly give the Republicans the proletarian cartoonist's image of the big-bellied capitalists with dollar signs on their white vests. Add to all this barnstorming of Sen. Hatfield, a familiar face at union meetings, be they on the waterfront or in steel union halls, and the quiet liaison of Sen. Brooke and some unions and one gets a swift view of what is disturbing the dynamists of the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education (COPE).

Not the least of COPE's concern is the beardless youth—26 million of whom will begin voting between the end of 1967 and 1972. Secret COPE polls have disclosed that the younger people, in and out of labor (and the outsiders worry COPE's stragetists just as much as their own members), are "not with it." Certainly they have only slight identity with the veterans of the ancient struggles on turbulent picket lines. The newcomers are a statue-conscious, tax-conscious, race-conscious "work class" not eager to carry that label. So COPE has sent its strategists over to the AFL-CIO Educational Dept. for at least two meetings. National labor leaders were included there as well as at a March 22nd skull session in Chicago on how to get the young.

Confusion

By James Marlow

You can get dizzy sitting down, just reading the papers to keep up.

There were those few days in the life of Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin. And then there was King Hussein, Abba Eban, little Albania, Red China, Fidel Castro, and the long pronouncement from Moscow on 50 years of the revolution.

After almost 10 hours head-to-head, over two days in Hollybush, President Johnson and Kosygin came out all smiles, shaking hands, saying pleasant things. The President got the premier a helicopter to return to New York.

The two men, side by side on television, had made it clear that while they might not have settled everything, or even anything, it certainly was a good thing, and a nice one, this chance to get together.

Kosygin was hardly back in New York before he went on television again, this time before a news conference, to denounce the United States as an aggressor in Vietnam and Israel as an aggressor in the Middle East.

Since he had said all that about the Middle East before, you got the feeling that maybe he felt compelled to say it again because he knew the Arabs were watching and couldn't help wondering whether he made a deal with Johnson to sell them out.

But they didn't say so.

Since he had said before the United States was the aggressor in Vietnam, you got the feeling that maybe he felt compelled to say that again, too, because the Communist world was watching to see if he had made a deal with Johnson.

THE RED CHINESE, who used to be a Soviet ally, said it away off in Peking, accusing Kosygin of making a "vicious deal" to do Red China in. Red China is not a member of the United Nations.

But her only Communist European ally, little Albania, is. And just in case anyone was hard of hearing what Red China said, Albania got up in the U.N. General Assembly, denounced Kosygin as a traitor to the Arabs, accused him of plotting with Johnson for American - Soviet domination of the world, and announced, "We will beat you."

Just about this time in Moscow the Communist party put out a document to show how well communism was doing 50 years after the 1917 revolution. This document went further than Kosygin did in New York and called the United States an "imperialist."

Then it said something which must have flabbergasted the Albanians and the Chinese and everybody else, since everybody else knows better. It talked of the need for Communist unity and at the same time denounced the Chinese leadership.

As if this wasn't confusing enough, the document promised Soviet support for "wars of liberation" while urging peaceful coexistence and promising it would put its own domestic growth above world revolution.

And if that still wasn't enough, the document by the Soviet Communists said they were progressive, although the Chinese call them reactionaries.

And while it said the only solution to the world's problems was communism, Kosygin in New York was saying that if the Vietnam war was out of the way the Soviet Union could work out economic ties with the United States.

INSTEAD OF flying home after his hectic weekend, Kosygin flew Monday to Cuba, the only Communist country in the Western Hemisphere, where, unlike the waving, applauding crowds of non-Communist Americans around the house called Hollybush in Glassboro, N.J., there were no crowds to meet Kosygin when he got off the plane in Havana.

He flew there to have a head-to-head talk with Fidel Castro, whose government has criticized the Soviets for not bailing out the Arabs when Israel was mopping them up. Castro has personally attacked the Soviet doctrine of peaceful coexistence which the Moscow document proudly claimed as Soviet policy.

Meanwhile, King Hussein of Jordan, a country left in tatters, by the short war with Israel, journeyed to the United Nations to ask the General Assembly to condemn the Israelis.

Not to be outdone, Israel's Foreign Minister Abba Eban, exercising the right to reply, told the assembly, in effect, that what Hussein said was all baloney, that Jordan attacked Israel first and got what was coming to her.

If you can make sense out of this, you're what the world is looking for and badly needs — a magician.

Russia's Soft-Sell Policy

In the game of international politics, one of the goals is to gain a security edge whenever possible. The Soviet Union is at least neck-and-neck in this race with the United States—maybe even a little in the lead.

Soviets are continually trying to make their borders secure. Sometimes it is a tough job.

Look what happened in the Middle East. But the Soviets are not finished there yet. The struggle goes on.

Different tactics are required with different countries. The Soviet Union is finding success in its program to neutralize all of Scandanavia.

It has defeated Finland in the past two wars between the countries and presently is allied to the nation in a military defense pact.

Russians have been using the soft-sell in Sweden and apparently have been successful in convincing the Swedes that its policy of neutrality is fine with the Soviet Union.

Progress also has been made in overtures to Norway and Denmark which now are the only countries in the north where western bases could be placed. Both are NATO members.

Their NATO memberships expire in 1969 and there is good indication that they may seek changes in the relationship with western nations at that time.

Russia's determined campaign to secure its northern flank with a honey-sweet approach definitely has beeen paying off.

It is a little strange in face of the obvious success of a soft-line policy, that the Soviet Union doesn't try a broader use of the method.

It has certainly made a better showing in the past few years than the oft-used rocket rattling program.

Pool Vandals

There are a lot of psychological explanations for vandalism, but we continue to rate it as an unfortunate combination of stupidity, cruelty and disregard for others.

The kind of malicious nonsense in which trash was tossed into the Veterans Memorial Swimming Pool at Midland Saturday is an example of such affronts to society.

To rob others of pleasure, to cause useless expense to the taxpayer, to violate the fundamentals of civilization are more than the results of mental aberration. Purposeful defacement or destruction deserves punishment.

The Gap Is Now A Chasm

Americans learned years after the Great Depression that the disaster they blamed President Hoover for was worldwide.

The Hoover administration, it turned out, was neither better nor worse than half a dozen other governments that did not know how to stop a worldwide depression.

Must we wait until years later to learn that the credibility gap in the United States is not peculiar to the Johnson administration?

The credibility gap, too, is worldwide in scope and America's part in it is typical of something happening everywhere else.

The absurd and fantastic falsehoods that have been the common currency of the anti-Israel bloc in United Nations debate have dramatized the fact the worldwide credibility gap is now a chasm.

The truth is not in the anti-Israel people.

These people lie habitually and routinely. They use falsehoods to mislead the empty-headed mobs whose predictable responses are proof of their mass stupidity.

Their leaders refuse to let their people know the truth about anything.

In some countries, the populace never has heard the truth; they wouldn't recognize it.

Egyptians, for example, never have been told what happened to their army at the hands of the Israelis. Their propagandists, led by Nasser and goaded by the Kremlin, are needling them into another "holy war." They think they won.

It is impossible for Americans to understand how Egyptians, Syrians, Chinese and even the comparatively literate French can believe the lies fobbed off on them by cynical leaders who hold the general populace in permanent contempt.

Americans like to believe they can distinguish between a lie and the truth. They like to believe that the truth always come out eventually, even in affidavits.

But the credibility gap — the chasm — exists here, there and everywhere. The art of lying has turned into a crude technique pursued without grace or humor.

The statesmen of the so-called "great powers" should look behind them once in a while. They would be surprised to see how many doubtful Thomases are to be spotted among the gillies and the gullies.

The gullibility bubble may burst one day soon, and if it does no one will believe anything that purports to be from an official source.

What all those people are in turmoil about in the Middle East is the fact you cannot make one right out of two wrongs. It is wrong for Arabs to try to destroy the Israelis, but it is just as wrong for Israelis to destry Arabs.

Keep thinking about it: We are not witnessing wage hikes but money depreciation. If it keeps going this way, artisans will make $50 an hour and their buying power will be no greater than their fathers' at $5 a day.

Eyeball To Eyeball!

'Make It A Boy!'

By Art Buchwald

WASHINGTON

The announcement that President Lyndon B. Johnson had a grandson caught Washington by surprise. It was known for some months that the President would have a grandchild, but White House sources denied up until the last minute that President Johnson had made up his mind whether he wanted his daughter to have a boy or a girl.

Art Buchwald

As a matter of fact, when a White House spokesman was queried as to which sex the President would like his first grandchild to be, the reply was, "The President wants to keep all his options open at this time."

From various sources around town it has been learned that Mr. Johnson's advisers were split down the line as to whether Luci and Pat Nugent's baby should be a boy or a girl. They were said to be divided between the doves and the storks.

The storks insisted a grandson at this time would serve notice on the world that the President intended to continue his strong policies in world affairs, while the doves argued that if the President had a granddaughter it might set the climate for a more viable foreign policy.

THE PRESIDENT listened to both points of view very carefully. He then called up congressional leaders to get their opinion. Both Sens. Mike Mansfield and Everett Dirksen said they would support the President's position as a grandfather whether Luci produced a girl or a boy.

But Sens. Wayne Morse and J. W. Fulbright said they would have to hold hearings first before they made up their minds. Sen. Robert Kennedy said, "I'm for planned parenthood, so I'd rather not comment at this time."

The President then called in pollsters George Gallup and Lou Harris and asked them to find out what the consensus in the country was on the issue. Gallup came back and said his poll showed the American public in favor of a girl. The Harris survey revealed the opposite. The people he interviewed favored a boy.

With the 1968 election a year away the President called in his political advisers to find out how the grandchild would affect his chances in the next election. The professionals felt that a grandchild would help the President's chances in the election year, particularly since it didn't look as though any Republican candidate could come up with a grandchild by 1968.

But they were stumped on the boy or girl issue, particularly on how it would affect President Johnson's chances in the South.

IT WAS THEN suggested that the President send up a trial balloon and leak to several of his favorite press columnists that he was thinking of having a granddaughter.

The President did this at an intimate lunch, and there was immediate reaction after the columns appeared. One editorial said, "This is a problem for the Department of Labor and the White House should stay out of it." Another editorial said, "This is the first pregnant idea the administration has put forward in months.

The George Christian, the able White House press secretary, first denied that the President had a daughter; second, that she was married, and third, that she was about to have a baby.

Unfortunately the President could not keep from making his decision much longer, particularly as his daughter kept insisting the baby was going to be born any day.

But it was Lady Bird who finally made up the President's mind. She said, "You know, dear, if Luci gives us a grandson, we can name him Lyndon."

The President immediately put through a call to Austin and said, "Luci, I've made up my mind. You're to have a boy."

Don't Bug LBJ, Labor Warns

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — The presidential campaign is on. Word has been dispatched to national labor leaders by their central headquarters here—in a set of confidential position papers—that it is later than they think and not as certain as they believe it to be that they will defeat the Republican nominee.

Victor Riesel

In these documents is the blunt warning against taking continuous political pot shots at President Johnson.

"Accepting the almost inevitable circumstance that the AFL-CIO will be supporting President Johnson in 1968 we are already moving to put muscle into that support size."

Then the "leadership (of American labor) is urged to forgo the luxury of criticizing the administration on relatively minor matters."

The warning then says bluntly: "There is a lesson here in the 1966 defeat of Gov. Brown of California. Many of our people were in the absurd position of urging all-out support for a candidate (Brown), the object of years of petty fault finding."

THESE WHITE PAPERS were prepared for labor's high command by some of the AFL-CIO's most astute political infighters. They're worried, though the polls show an increase in the President's popularity.

Their leader, George Meany, who now has greater access to the White House than any man in Washington, is personally dedicated to the President's re-election. So much so that, when in the past two years he has mused with friends about resigning, he has qualified his whimsy with the assertion that he wants to fight through '68 at the side of Lyndon Johnson. And Meany has a whim of iron.

Labor's political strategists don't fret easily. They know their own strength. But they realize, too, what is cutting in on their influence with the millions they lead. They know, for example, that many Republican governors and new senators are remaking the Republican image among the new millions in labor.

Not too long ago they were startled to see Sen. Percy talk to the Senate about Walter Reuther as though the auto union chief was a political blood brother. Percy took excerpts from the publication of the AFL-CIO's Industrial Union Dept. and then added: "No amount of paraphrasing on my part could substitute for the eloquent testimony of Mr. Reuther."

And such governors as Ronald Reagan, Nelson Rockefeller, Raymond Shafer and Minnesota's Harold LeVander have been "dialogue-ing" with labor, in some instances appointing them to state boards.

THIS DOESN'T exactly give the Republicans the proletarian cartoonist's image of the big-bellied capitalists with dollar signs on their white vests. Add to all this barnstorming of Sen. Hatfield, a familiar face at union meetings, be they on the waterfront or in steel union halls, and the quiet liaison of Sen. Committees Spur Antiriot Bill Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two committees are racing to complete action on antiriot legislation—with the winner likely to determine the formal stance the House takes toward racial uprisings across the land.

The Judiciary Committee meets today to consider a package bill involving both civil rights and riots. The Rules Committee, meanwhile, takes a look at a move to bring the same antiriot proposal along by itself.

There has been mounting pressure in Congress for enactment of antiriot legislation in the wake of violence is Tampa, Dayton, Boston, Cincinnati and other cities. Civil rights militants have cautioned a summer of racial violence is in prospect.

Activity quickened last week when Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the Judiciary Committee pushed the package bill through his subcommittee in one short meeting after threats from many backers to take it to the House floor by other means.

But Chairman William C. Colmer, D-Miss., of the Rules Committee has thrown his support to clearing the measures separately for House consideration.

Backers of the package approach contend it is necessary to show civil rights leaders that while violence won't be tolerated, Congress still is willing to take action to better guarantee the rights of minorities.

The antiriot bill would make it a federal crime punishable by up to five years improvement to cross a state boundary to "incite, organize, promote or encourage" a riot.

The civil rights provision aims at protecting Negroes against threats or force when they are lawfully engaged in such activities as voting, attending public schools or using public accommodations. The same measure was approved by the House last year but died in the Senate along with the rest of the 1966 Civil Rights Act.

The chief backer of the antiriot proposal, Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., agreed to sponsor the package but has said he would prefer to see the two issues separated.

Cramer's bill also would make it a federal crime to use interstate communications facilities to incite or direct a riot.

Luci Says She Really Knows Happiness Now

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Home with her new baby, 19-year-old Luci Johnson Nugent says she really knows what happiness is now.

Beaming with pride, the President's daughter and her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, 23, introduced their 6-day-old son to the public as they left Seton Hospital Monday afternoon in the 95-degree Texas weather.

Fat-faced, pug-nosed, blue-eyed, and unperturbed by all the excitement, Patrick Lyndon Nugent, nicknamed "Lyn," came through his first news conference without any comment.

Luci expressed two main wishes for little Lyn: "We want him to grow up in a peaceful world," she said. "To be the best of whatever he wants to be."

The Nugents conceded that as the President's first grandchild their son would no doubt be spoiled. "That's the prerogative of grandparents," said the father.

"I think we're almost beaten before we begin," Luci added with a smile.

"I thought I knew happiness on my wedding day, but I found I really didn't know it until we had Lyn," she said later in word sent from home to reporters.

Luci said she has been reading many baby books but noted "that's not raising him 24 hours a day. I'm in for a lot of new experiences."

When the Nugents drove off in their green convertible, Luci handed the baby to her husband.

As he took it with obvious nervousness, Luci announced to the delighted cheers and applause of the crowd: "It's the first time he's ever held the baby."

Mother and baby were discharged from the hospital with excellent health reports. Lyn checked out weighing 8 pounds 1½ ounces and measuring 21 inches.

Lyn wore a doublebreasted white suit with cardigan jacket and short, white pants, a shirt, white socks, and a pair of white-wool booties, knitted for him by Sister Anna Marie, head nurse at Seton Hospital.

The baby was wrapped in a yellow-and-white crocheted blanket, which Luci said was sent by someone she didn't know personally. But she said she loved it because it symbolized all the gifts people had sent her.

Hung around Lyn's arm was a tiny heart-shaped gold locket that had been worn by Luci's older sister Lynda as a baby. It was Aunt Lynda's gift to her new nephew.

Board At Midland Studies Bids For Science Supplies

Bids were received from the Parco Scietific Co. of Warren, Ohio; Cambosco Scientific Co. of Boston, Mass.; Misco Biolgical, Inc., of Ann Arbor, Mich.; L. C. Vath of Sharpsville, Pa.; Bausch and Lomb of Rochester, N. Y.; Central Scientific of Chicago; Welch Scientific of Skokie, Ill.; Fisher Scientific of Pittsburgh; Wards Natural Science of Rochester, N. Y.; Macalaster Scientific of Waltham, Mass., and LaPine Scientific of Irvington, N. Y. Each bid on special items.

The bids were referred to the property committee for study and recommendation.

The board gave final approval to a $1,055,730 budget for 1967-68 at 45 mills per dollar of assessed evaluation on real estate in Midland.

The secretary was authorized to turn over the 1967 tax duplicate to the tax collector for collection of taxes in four equal installments — September, October, November and December.

General bills totaling $391.08 were approved for payment.

The board will advertise for bids on the installation of new doors at the high school and will ask for sealed quotations for lights for the football field.

Supt. Wilbur P. Dershimer announced that State Inspection No. 2375 has been received from the Department of Public Instruction in connection with Midland's application for a new elementary school building.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Mary B. Stoffer as French and math teacher and attendance clerk. Mrs. Stoffer, who has taught 20 years at Midland, is currently on a European trip and has said she plans to accept a position with another school district.

A salary adjustment to $6,300 was authorized for Mrs. Marjorie Carter, fifth - grade teacher at the 4th St. School. David Needs was hired as substitute teacher in the summer recreation program at a salary of $2.50 an hour.

The board postponed the next meeting set for July 10 to July 17. Maurice J. Newman, president, conducted business.

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police continued today their search for two bandits who pulled off Cincinnati's biggest bank robbery in more than two years.

Two masked men armed with .38 caliber revolvers robbed the Fifth Third Union Trust Co. branch on Central Parkway about 1.5 miles north of downtown Monday and escaped with $14,015.

Police said the robbers, both described as Negroes, fled on foot in opposite directions.

Judge Denies Retrial In Racial Disturbance

CINCINNATI (AP) — Three white youths' efforts to get a new trial on charges stemming out of this month's racial disturbances failed Monday.

Municipal Judge William S. Mathews denied the retrail motion of Tommy Bedford, 18; Roger Hammer, 18, and Danny Bedford, 19. The youths were arrested June 17 after striking a Negro's car with a chain and on June 20 Judge Mathews convicted them of disorderly conduct. They were each sentenced to 30 days in the workhouse and fined $100.

Compromise Redistricting Bill Okayed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees have approved a congressional redistricting compromise measure that would give 33 states the means to avoid for five years compliance with the Supreme Court's one man-one vote edict.

The version of the bill worked out Monday by the conferees was termed unconstitutional by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and "an open and flagrant invitation to gerrymandering" by Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich.

Kennedy and Conyers vowed to continue their fight for prompt implementation of the high court decision.

The compromise bill would permit present congressional districts to remain unchanged until after the 1970 census unless special federal census figures are available—a condition not likely to be met.

Thus wide population variations among a state's districts would remain in effect until after the 1972 elections, when the differences would have to drop to 10 per cent or less.

The House originally adopted a measure that would have permitted a population variation of up to 30 per cent for the 1968 and 1970 elections.

But earlier this month, Kennedy won surprising approval of a Senate amendment to prohibit more than a 10 per cent difference between the largest and smallest districts by the 1968 elections.

The compromise measure would relieve states of redistricting for the 1968 and 1970 elections regardless of how much their congressional districts vary in population, Sen. Sam J. Ervin, D-N.C., said Monday.

Ervin, a spokesman for senate conferees, had said the Kennedy amendment would have forced 33 states to redistrict before next spring's primary elections.

The compromise measure first goes to the House for consideration.

Extra Police Set At Parade

LISBON — Council will provide extra policemen for the Lions Club street fair parade July 12.

The fair will continue through July 15.

Mayor Dean Stockman, who presented the request Monday night on behalf of Chief of Police Leon T. Zahrndt, said the village hired extra policemen for last year's parade at a cost of approximately $80.

Councilman Franklin Rudibaugh presented the motion to hire the extras, but stipulated the cost is not to exceed that of last year.

Councilman Robert Kelm opposed the action, declaring the sponsoring organization could provide guards for the street intersections. The parade route is on Lincoln Way (Routes 30 and 45). Police direct traffic before and during the parade.

Solicitor Joseph Baronzzi referred to Council's Police Committee — Clyde Pike, Bill Mattix and Fayson Miller — a copy of a sample ordinance regulating trailer courts.

Baronzzi said the ordinance was prepared by the National Association for Mobile Homes and is so comprehensive he wants the committee to designate sections it wants included in a trailer ordinance Council has asked him to prepare.

The volunteer fire department reported the emergency vehicle (ambulance) answered 11 calls in May and received $65 in donations. The VFD payroll or 22 men for a six-month period which ended May 31 was $1,046.

Council's next meeting will be July 10.

Democrats Plan July 7 Meeting

The County Democratic Central and Executive Committee will meet July 7 at 8 p. m. at its headquarters on N. Market St., Lisbon, to discuss plans for the municipal elections in November and the primaries in May 1968, Don Gosney of Columbiana, chairman, said today.

Gosney said the committee will investigate alleged "laxity" of county commissioners since control of the three - member board swung to the Republicans, particularly in action in awarding a contract for a water line project in St. Clair Township.

He said the committee also will discuss "reluctance" of the Republican commissioners to "go along with recommendations of the County Regional Planning Commission" and air Gov. James Rhodes' new tax program. A resolution will be presented in which the committee will call upon State Rep. Clarence Wetzel "to produce the money that he claims has been reencumbered for the Kent State University program in Columbiana County," Gosney added.

Blushing is caused by the dilalation of the blood vessels in one's face, due to excitement or nervousness. The blood vessels expand and the blood rushes in to fill them.

Gen. William Moore, training director for the ONG, said the 3rd Brigade will train at Camp Hill Aug. 12-26.

They had reported last week that "Operation Kitty Hawk," scheduled to be the largest military training exercise ever planned, had been cancelled officially. The operation was to have involved some 70,000 Army and Air National Guardsmen, and regular units of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps.

No reason was given for the cancellation.

Other units of the 37th ONG Division not included in the Kitty Hawk operation will train as planned at Camp Grayling, Mich., July 29-Aug. 12.

Committees Spur Antiriot Bill Efforts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two committees are racing to complete action on antiriot legislation—with the winner likely to determine the formal stance the House takes toward racial uprisings across the land.

The Judiciary Committee meets today to consider a package bill involving both civil rights and riots. The Rules Committee, meanwhile, takes a look at a move to bring the same antiriot proposal along by itself.

There has been mounting pressure in Congress for enactment of antiriot legislation in the wake of violence is Tampa, Dayton, Boston, Cincinnati and other cities. Civil rights militants have cautioned a summer of racial violence is in prospect.

Activity quickened last week when Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the Judiciary Committee pushed the package bill through his subcommittee in one short meeting after threats from many backers to take it to the House floor by other means.

But Chairman William C. Colmer, D-Miss., of the Rules Committee has thrown his support to clearing the measures separately for House consideration.

Backers of the package approach contend it is necessary to show civil rights leaders that while violence won't be tolerated, Congress still is willing to take action to better guarantee the rights of minorities.

The antiriot bill would make it a federal crime punishable by up to five years improvement to cross a state boundary to "incite, organize, promote or encourage" a riot.

The civil rights provision aims at protecting Negroes against threats or force when they are lawfully engaged in such activities as voting, attending public schools or using public accommodations. The same measure was approved by the House last year but died in the Senate along with the rest of the 1966 Civil Rights Act.

The chief backer of the antiriot proposal, Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., agreed to sponsor the package but has said he would prefer to see the two issues separated.

Cramer's bill also would make it a federal crime to use interstate communications facilities to incite or direct a riot.

Luci Says She Really Knows Happiness Now

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Home with her new baby, 19-year-old Luci Johnson Nugent says she really knows what happiness is now.

Beaming with pride, the President's daughter and her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, 23, introduced their 6-day-old son to the public as they left Seton Hospital Monday afternoon in the 95-degree Texas weather.

Fat-faced, pug-nosed, blue-eyed, and unperturbed by all the excitement, Patrick Lyndon Nugent, nicknamed "Lyn," came through his first news conference without any comment.

Luci expressed two main wishes for little Lyn: "We want him to grow up in a peaceful world," she said. "To be the best of whatever he wants to be."

The Nugents conceded that as the President's first grandchild their son would no doubt be spoiled. "That's the prerogative of grandparents," said the father.

"I think we're almost beaten before we begin," Luci added with a smile.

"I thought I knew happiness on my wedding day, but I found I really didn't know it until we had Lyn," she said later in word sent from home to reporters.

Luci said she has been reading many baby books but noted "that's not raising him 24 hours a day. I'm in for a lot of new experiences."

When the Nugents drove off in their green convertible, Luci handed the baby to her husband.

As he took it with obvious nervousness, Luci announced to the delighted cheers and applause of the crowd: "It's the first time he's ever held the baby."

Mother and baby were discharged from the hospital with excellent health reports. Lyn checked out weighing 8 pounds 1½ ounces and measuring 21 inches.

Lyn wore a doublebreasted white suit with cardigan jacket and short, white pants, a shirt, white socks, and a pair of white-wool booties, knitted for him by Sister Anna Marie, head nurse at Seton Hospital.

The baby was wrapped in a yellow-and-white crocheted blanket, which Luci said was sent by someone she didn't know personally. But she said she loved it because it symbolized all the gifts people had sent her.

Hung around Lyn's arm was a tiny heart-shaped gold locket that had been worn by Luci's older sister Lynda as a baby. It was Aunt Lynda's gift to her new nephew.

Board At Midland Studies Bids For Science Supplies

Bids were received from the Parco Scietific Co. of Warren, Ohio; Cambosco Scientific Co. of Boston, Mass.; Misco Biolgical, Inc., of Ann Arbor, Mich.; L. C. Vath of Sharpsville, Pa.; Bausch and Lomb of Rochester, N. Y.; Central Scientific of Chicago; Welch Scientific of Skokie, Ill.; Fisher Scientific of Pittsburgh; Wards Natural Science of Rochester, N. Y.; Macalaster Scientific of Waltham, Mass., and LaPine Scientific of Irvington, N. Y. Each bid on special items.

The bids were referred to the property committee for study and recommendation.

The board gave final approval to a $1,055,730 budget for 1967-68 at 45 mills per dollar of assessed evaluation on real estate in Midland.

The secretary was authorized to turn over the 1967 tax duplicate to the tax collector for collection of taxes in four equal installments — September, October, November and December.

General bills totaling $391.08 were approved for payment.

The board will advertise for bids on the installation of new doors at the high school and will ask for sealed quotations for lights for the football field.

Supt. Wilbur P. Dershimer announced that State Inspection No. 2375 has been received from the Department of Public Instruction in connection with Midland's application for a new elementary school building.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Mary B. Stoffer as French and math teacher and attendance clerk. Mrs. Stoffer, who has taught 20 years at Midland, is currently on a European trip and has said she plans to accept a position with another school district.

A salary adjustment to $6,300 was authorized for Mrs. Marjorie Carter, fifth - grade teacher at the 4th St. School. David Needs was hired as substitute teacher in the summer recreation program at a salary of $2.50 an hour.

The board postponed the next meeting set for July 10 to July 17. Maurice J. Newman, president, conducted business.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This isn't much of a problem but it bothers me and I think maybe YOU CAN SET ME STRAIGHT.

Almost every evening my aunt telephones my mother and asks what we had for supper. My mother always makes up a menu like they are serving at the Waldorf Astoria.

Last night we had sauerkraut and wieners. My mother told my aunt we had sirloin steaks and mushroom gravy. She went on to describe a fancy dessert that I never even heard of. Tonight we had ham hocks and beans which were very tasty. Mom told my aunt we were eating Rock Cornish game hen and avocado salad.

After Mom hung up I asked her why she tells my aunt such lies. She said, "Because it's none of her business what we eat." I said, "Why don't you just tell her that instead of making up things?"

My Mom got mad and gave me a wallop that nearly landed me in the middle of next week.

What do you think about this?—STILL STANDING.

Dear Still: I think you should take the hint and not offer any more suggestions on this subject. Of course you are right, and now that you see how unattractive lying can be it should make you more determined than ever to stick to the truth.

Wrong Companions

Dear Ann: I'm deeply concerned about our 7-year-old son. I cannot discuss this with anyone, not even my husband, because I don't want to give him cause to worry. Furthermore, he would not be very sympathetic to this kind of problem.

Our son likes to play with his little sister's dolls and pretend he is the mother. He enjoys her girl-type toys, cooking utensils and housecleaning appliances.

His sister who is 9 years old often tells him to play like he is her girl friend or her sister. I have tried to shame him out of his girlish actions but have not been at all successful.

I have read a few articles on homosexuality and I'm worried sick that our son might have this problem. Will you please tell me if I'm worrying needlessly, or does it sound like my fears are well grounded? — PANIC BUTTON.

Dear Panic; Your son obviously favors the female role at the moment, but this is not conclusive evidence that he is a homosexual. Little boys who have older sisters often imitate them and compete in any way they can.

My advice to you is to get that child away from his sister. Take him to the homes of other boys his age so he can play ball with them. Invite the neighbor boys to your home. Ask your husband to play with his son and take him to sports events.

When the child begins to have fun being a boy, chances are good that he will abandon his girlish ways.

Confidentially

To Disappointed and Filled With Doubts: Take her word for it and let the matter drop. She is your wife now and what occurred in the past does not matter. It's how she conducts herself in the future that counts.

It is indeed possible that she came to the marriage bed 100 per cent pure (as she insists.) The "proof" of virginity as described in that book is not always present.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A 34-year-old East Liverpool woman suffered a severe injury of the left hand early today when a firecracker exploded while she was in the Diamond Restaurant on the Diamond, police reported.

Ramona Bennett of 519½ Market St. was treated at City Hospital about 1:20 a. m. for injuries of three fingers and the thumb of the left hand and the left forearm. She was to return to the hospital today for further treatment.

Police were dispatched to investigate after the hospital reported the incident. The woman said an unknown person tossed the firecracker at her and shouted: "Catch!" Then it exploded in her hand, she said. But witnesses said the woman was alone in the restroom when an explosion was heard. Blood spattered on the walls indicated the explosion took place in the restroom, police said. The investigation is continuing.

At Monday's Meeting

Lights, Curfew, School Occupy Chester Council

Chester Council met with Walter Jordan, manager of the Monongahela Power Co. office there, in an effort to clarify the company's street lighting program.

The request for more lighting at the facility came from Harold Dickey, chairman of the park commission.

During the previous meeting, Council had criticized the company for not replacing burned out bulbs promptly.

JORDAN TOLD members the biggest problem is getting someone to call when they spot a light that no longer is working. He said crews can replace the lights within 36 hours after notification, but explained residents do not always call when a light burns out.

After learning several lights in the city are obscured by trees, Jordan pointed out tree trimmers are presently working in Chester and the problem should be remedied shortly.

He said the company plans to hold its annual street light washing program during the late summer or early fall to prepare the lights ready for winter.

Council granted permission for the street department to purchase three, "3-ton load limit" signs.

Member Roy Cashdollar reminded that the Veterans of World War I will hold a program Wednesday night in the City Building to raise funds for veterans' benefits.

Council, after a motion by Robert Kincaid, voted to change the curfew from 10 p.m. to 11 p.m. during the summer months while youngsters are out of school. The change will go into effect tonight.

One - week paid vacation was granted the City Hall caretakers following a policy discussion.

COUNCIL voted to notify Street Commissioner Lester Bishop today it will reduce his salary by $100 yearly if he fails to pay his telephone bill. The legislators reported his bill usually totals not more than $64 a year, but, according to some councilmen, he repeatedly is found to be without service because he has not paid the bill. Councilman Percy Willison said he will notify Bishop of the decision.

Cashdollar said that while it is too late for this year's budget, he will recommend the mayor's salary be increased in 1968.

The board decided it once again would have to pressure the Hancock County School Board into relieving the city of the hazardous Central School building, which burned more than a year ago. Mayor Ward said he has had several complaints that children continue to play in the building. Ward said he will confer with Dr. Eli Weller, president of the board, on the matter.

Three beer licenses were granted. They are: VFW, Burge-Casto Post 6450 at 417 Carolina Ave.; George's Restaurant, 701 Carolina, with Michael Melissinos, licensee, and Toot's Bar at 563 Carolina, operated by Dorothy H. Amedeo.

Councilmen noted establishments without the city licenses after July 1 will leave themselves open to raids which could bring closings. City Clerk Donald Hood said taverns should make applications for licenses by Friday.

Bills totaling $1,426.38 were ordered paid. Remittances totaled $14.65.

Horse Rider Hurt In Area Road Mishap

A 29-year-old Lakewood woman riding a horse south of Lisbon was injured Monday night when the horse was struck by a car, while two Ohio Highway Patrolmen were unhurt when their cruiser was struck by an auto near Salem.

Cheryl Martin was taken to Salem City Hospital following the mishap at 7:14 p.m. on Township Rd. 776 three miles south of Lisbon.

Officers said David L. Dotson, 19, of Lisbon R. D. 1 driving a 1954 coach came over a hill crest and attempted to stop, but the car skidded and hit the horse.

Mrs. Martin was in "fair" condition today with a fractured pelvis and other injuries.

George A. Bearse, 25, of Massillon was cited after his 1957 sedan hit the rear of a patrol cruiser driven by Sgt. Ralph J. Rizzo, 40, of 509 W. Washington St., Lisbon, late yesterday morning on Route 62, about two miles west of Salem.

Sgt. Rizzo was driving about 5 miles an hour with Cpl. John Centofante of Columbus in the cruiser as the two marked off an air speed zone for measurement of speed of traffic by a plane. Cpl. Centofante is a pilot who checks on speeders.

Bearse, headed east, came upon a pickup truck and car behind the cruiser which was moving slowly with its red lights flashing. Unable to halt, he went off the right side of the road, lost control, passed the truck and car and slid into the rear of the cruiser.

He was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: This isn't much of a problem but it bothers me and I think maybe YOU CAN SET ME STRAIGHT.

A 29-year-old Lakewood woman riding a horse south of Lisbon was injured Monday night when the horse was struck by a car, while two Ohio Highway Patrolmen were unhurt when their cruiser was struck by an auto near Salem.

Cheryl Martin was taken to Salem City Hospital following the mishap at 7:14 p.m. on Township Rd. 776 three miles south of Lisbon.

Officers said David L. Dotson, 19, of Lisbon R. D. 1 driving a 1954 coach came over a hill crest and attempted to stop, but the car skidded and hit the horse.

Mrs. Martin was in "fair" condition today with a fractured pelvis and other injuries.

George A. Bearse, 25, of Massillon was cited after his 1957 sedan hit the rear of a patrol cruiser driven by Sgt. Ralph J. Rizzo, 40, of 509 W. Washington St., Lisbon, late yesterday morning on Route 62, about two miles west of Salem.

Sgt. Rizzo was driving about 5 miles an hour with Cpl. John Centofante of Columbus in the cruiser as the two marked off an air speed zone for measurement of speed of traffic by a plane. Cpl. Centofante is a pilot who checks on speeders.

Bearse, headed east, came upon a pickup truck and car behind the cruiser which was moving slowly with its red lights flashing. Unable to halt, he went off the right side of the road, lost control, passed the truck and car and slid into the rear of the cruiser.

He was charged with failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

2 Cars Are Involved In Lisbon Collision

LISBON — Cars driven by Herbert E. McCullough, 35, of Lisbon R. D. 5 and Paula Marie Little Marshalek, 18, of Lisbon R. D. 1 collided at 8:55 a. m. Monday on N. Beaver St. at the Pine St. intersection.

Chief of Police Leon T. Zahrndt said McCullough pulled from Pine onto Beaver and struck the left rear fender of the southbound Marshalek vehicle. No one was injured or cited.

Hancock Board Sets Up Survey

The Hancock County Board of Education, by unanimous vote, agreed Monday night to enter into a contract with Battelle Memorial Institute of Columbus, Ohio, to conduct an evaluation of the school system.

The survey will take one year to complete and cost an estimated $55,000.

Specifics of the proposed program are fourfold; To describe the present school system in detail; to specify the characteristics of a desired school system; to identify the discrepancies between the actual system and the desired one, and, to formulate practical recommendations for moving from the present system toward the desired one.

THE END product of the proposed study would be a comprehensive written report that will serve as a planning guide for the board. This would assist members in making decisions in dealing with three areas:

The education program (including contents of instruction, method of instruction and overall organization); staff organization and utilization and facilities and special services.

Dr. William D. Hitt appeared before the board for the second time to present the contract to the body and discuss aspects of the agreement, which previously had been reviewed by the board's lawyer, who found it to be in order.

Dr. Hitt informed members the finished product, or the written report of the completed survey, would be the board's property and members would make the decision about releasing its content. The board stated it would make all aspects of the survey available for release and Dr. Hitt indicated his staff would aid the board in preparation.

DR. ELI WELLER was named by the board to act as its representative on the staff of the survey team and serve as liaison between the board and surveyors. A representative from the education department of the schools will be named at a later date, following a conference between Dr. Hitt and Robert Hall, superintendent.

Board member Fred Barnabei had asked if he would be permitted to be present when the vocational study section of the survey is made, noting this part of the present program has a number of weak spots.

Dr. Hitt said he was more than willing to have aid, in the form of suggestions, from anyone, but noted there should only be one liaison man with which the survey team would deal exclusively. John P. Jones, board member, agreed and noted for the sake of uniformity only one man from the board should serve on the team. Barnabei concurred and Dr. Weller was named.

Dr. Hitt pointed out his team would draw up a list of questions concerning the board's desires about areas of study and this would be presented for review and suggestions.

In reply to Dr. Hitt's inquiry, Dr. Weller asked that a table of organization and job classification of teachers be performed immediately. He said at present the condition is chaotic and the board needs a clearer system with which to work. He also noted the present maintenance system is in need of study.

J. P. Morgan, board member, said a study of enrollment projection and bus transportation is one area which needs attention.

Dr. Hitt then assured the board a complete list of questions the survey plans to answer will be drawn up and submitted.

The board concured and the contract was signed.

At Site Of Fire-Hit Hall

Steps Taken To Establish City Park At Salineville

SALINEVILLE — Plans were discussed to convert the site of the old city hall, leveled in a fire last year, into a city park when Council met Monday night.

Mayor Stanley Fitch said the Women's Civic Club is interested in the proposal and said he would like to see other organizations become involved and make the proposed park a city projet. The Community Improvement Committee will study the plans and meet later to discuss them. Howard Ahlborn is chairman.

Paul Temple of the Columbiana Gas Co. discussed rates with the councilmen. The company seeks higher rates and council had offered a counter - proposal at its last meeting.

The fire station roof will be repaired this week. Streets which have not yet been oiled, will be completed this week.

Mayor Fitch reported on the expiration of the firemen's insurance. Council will determine whether to renew the policy or select a different one.

James Hanley of W. Main St. asked the lawmakers to grade the alley beside his home to improve access. A committee will check on the request.

The mayor announced that anyone caught with fireworks will be arrested and turned over to the authorities.

The next meeting will be July 10.

Western GOP Governors Seek 'Right' Candidate

WEST YELLOWSTONE, Mont. (AP) — Western Republican governors are looking over the field before signing on any political dotted lines that might tie them to a losing candidate for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.

This obviously will make it difficult when most of the 25 GOP governors meet later in the week at Jackson, Wyo., for the 18 moderates among them to agree early to back Gov. George Romney of Michigan or any other potential nominee.

What the moderates are hearing in comparing notes on the kind of Republican they think should be nominated is that Gov. Ronald Reagan of California is—as Gov. Tom McCall of Oregon put it bluntly—the "hottest piece of political property" around the Republican circuit at the moment.

The moderates regard Reagan as too conservative. But if he should develop into a serious challenger who looks able to capture the voters' fancy in a contest with Johnson, some concede privately they could amend their views to support him as the nominee.

Barry Goldwater, the 1964 GOP nominee, already has said he could vigorously support Reagan if anything happens to block out former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The California governor, who left the conference Monday, said he isn't a candidate and is not committed to anyone. But he declined to close the door when he said in an interview: "If all of the party came knocking at my door, I guess I wouldn't tell them to go away."

Gov. Daniel J. Evans of Washington said this is about the situation in which Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York finds himself. Rockefeller has said he never again will bid for the nomination as he did in 1964.

But Evans said: "Both he and Reagan are going to be big factors at the convention, which I think is going to be wide open unless somebody runs away with the primaries and closes the door on the others. For myself, I'm giong to stay loose for several months to see what happens."

Hathaway put in a good word for Nixon, one of the few times the 1960 presidential nominee's name has been mentioned by the GOP governors in news conferences and private conversations.

Hathaway conced that Reagan is popular in his state. But he said Nixon and Romney remain strong favorites among organized Republicans.

There has been talk of a Rockefeller Reagan ticket. Reagan did nothing to advance that prospect, however, when he said he did not believe any individual directly involved in the party "bloodletting" of the 1964 primaries ought to be 1968 nominee.

Ambulance

erator time to set up his business before July 15. Three funeral homes which have been providing the service for many years have advised the city they will discontinue ambulance runs on July 15.

Sample said he made a day-long investigation of the operations of Ambulance Service, Inc., at Steubenville and found all city officials were "well satisfied" with its service. In addition, he said D'Anniballe had agreed to scale down his subsidy request and accept $4,000 for the period from July 15 through Dec. 31. Sample said D'Anniballe also indicated he would accept less than the $1,200-a-month subsidy in 1968, although no specific figure was mentioned.

Bucher commented that "a lot of people would like to see a local operator for this service."

"We don't know anything about Walker as an ambulance operator, but he has not done badly in the taxi business," Bucher said. "In addition, his family plan rate was acceptable to the public. I'm willing to give Walker a chance."

Murray said he had not changed his original feeling that the contract should go to Walker. He said he could not agree with the Steubenville firm's request for an exclusive ambulance franchise.

Sample commented: "I'm looking for the best service we can get for the city." Then he reviewed his investigation of the D'Anniballe concern at Steubenville Monday.

JAMES LOWE said he opposed Walker's original proposal, which called for a $3,000 grant from the city — in addition to the monthly subsidy — to help him start his business. Since the request for the $3,000 grant was withdrawn, he said, he favored the Lynn concern. It also offered the city lower rates, he observed.

"I don't believe the people should have to pay anyone to operate a business," Duffy said. He added that he previously was under the impression that Walker was unable to obtain financing to set himself up in business. Walker has denied that report, Duffy said, and added: "If he has the money now, I'll go along with him."

Maylone said he believes it is "impossible for anyone to operate an ambulance service as a profitable business." He reiterated that he believes the city may be required to take over the operation itself in a year or so, but added that some trained personnel will be available.

WALKER'S "family plan" guarantees unlimited free ambulance service for a year within a five mile radius of East Liverpool for every member of a household for payment of an $8 annual fee. Individuals subscribing to the same plan would pay $5.

On distant trips, family plan members would be hauled free for the first 10 miles and then pay 70 cents per mile "for each loaded mile," the proposal says. Non-members would pay $20 for the call, plus the $1 per loaded mile after the first 10 miles.

The company will furnish free service to city, county and state employes "requiring same while on duty," the proposal says. It adds that rates outside the city limits will be reduced if the company is "subsidized adequately" by Liverpool and St. Clair Township trustees or county commissioners.

The Lynn company's proposal says it will operate two ambulances equipped to meet federal and state laws, with a third available for standby duty. All will be radio equipped and a direct telephone line will be maintained between the police department and the company's dispatching office, the proposal says. The firm will employ two properly - trained men on a 24-hour basis, with three more available for extra services as needed, the proposal says.

As the meeting opened, Council conferred with two representatives of Trades and Labor Council, Clarence E. Moore, president, and Mrs. Jessie Emerson. They expressed the labor group's interest in adequate ambulance service for the area.

Track Repair Pushed In Columbiana Wreck

COLUMBIANA — Track repair work resumed today west of the Pittsburgh St. crossing where 19 cars of a Pennsylvania Railroad Co. freight train derailed Sunday, ripping up several hundred feet of rails.

Forwarded To State For OK

$71,225 Budget Adopted By County School Board

LISBON — The Columbiana County Board of Education has adopted a 1967-68 budget request of $71,225 and forwarded it to the State Department of Education for approval.

Actual expenditures for the year ending Friday are estimated at $75,989 compared with a budget of $75,602.

The current budget included $7,000 for a psychologist intern which the system will not have next year beginning July 1.

Salary inreases were given the seven employes.

The elementary supervisor, high school supervisor and the psychologist each was raised from $9,600 to $10,400 including $600 for travel. This total of $31,200 — Part A of the budget — comes from the state.

Local school districts contribute to Part B totaling $40,025. Salaries from this section are for the superintendent, $12,000, up $800; two secretaries, $5,250 and $3,900, up $350 and $300 respectively, and attendance officer (nine months), $3,750, up $250.

Other items under Part B are: Educational meetings, $250; County Board of Education, $1,285; communications, $800; postage, $300; office equipment, $800; office supplies, $1,150; printing, $800; office equipment repairs, $100.

Board's share of teachers' retirement, $5,500; board's share of school employes' retirement, $1,275; service fund, $500; miscellaneous, $565; expenses to attend educational meetings, $500, and testing and guidance, $1,500.

The budget was prepared by a committee comprised of Donald Elliott and Donald Rupert, county board members; Hubert Lawrence, phychologist; Pete Marra, high school consultant, and Mrs. June Ingraham, secretary. The board adopted the request at a special meeting last Wednesday.

Byrd Against $358 Billion Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — A familiar name emerged today in the forefront of the Senate opposition to the administration's bid for a $22-billion hike in the national debt ceiling.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., whose late father always fought to keep a tight debt limit during his long term as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he would battle for a ceiling $10 billion less than the $358 billion sought by President Johnson.

Byrd, D-Va., called the higher ceiling "outrageous, unjustified and a grave disservice to the American taxpayers."

The Senate's Democratic leaders made it clear they will try to push the debt limit measure—on which debate begins today— through the Senate without change so it can be sent directly to the President.

That would avoid a conference with the House, which rejected an administration debt limit bill earlier this month and approved a second one last Wednesday by only a narrow margin.

The temporary $336-billion debt ceiling expires Friday midnight. Saturday, in the absence of a new law, it would revert to the permanent limit of $285 billion—a situation Treasury officials claim would create a money crisis.

Fined, Sentenced

EAST PALESTINE — Charles Steves of East Palestine was fined $300 and costs and given 60 days in jail, with $200 of the fine and 55 days of the sentence suspended, on a charge of driving while under the influence of alcohol at a hearing Monday before Eastern Division County Judge Barry Dickson. The court also suspended his driver's license for 90 days.

General Assembly would recess its emergency session for two or three days next week to allow time for more negotiations.

The assembly ends its general debate on the Arab-Israeli war Friday, and no resolution that could get the two-thirds necessary for adoption is in sight. As the debate drew to a close, Kosygin ended his visit to the United States and flew to Havana Monday to confer with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Eleven speakers were listed for the assembly debate today, including Ahmed Balafrej of Morocco, Deputy Prime Minister Frank Aiken of Ireland and Foreign Minister Adnan Pachachi of Iraq and Nicanor Costa Mendez of Argentina.

King Hussein of Jordan, who addressed the assembly Monday, planned to visit President Johnson in Washington Wednesday. Jordan has received much U.S. economic and military aid and needs more to ease the effects of her losses in the war and the influx of Arab refugees from Jordanian lands occupied by the Israelis.

Hussein warned the assembly that there would be more fighting unless the United Nations condemned Israel as the aggressor in the war and forced Israeli troops back to the lines they held before fighting began June 5.

"Today's war is not a new war but part of the old war, which will go on for scores of years if the moral and physical wrong done to the Arabs is not righted," the 32-year-old monarch said.

Hussein said the Israelis perpetrated "an act of war as vicious as the blitzkrieg on Poland or as stunning as the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor."

"To permit Israel to retain its gains as a bargaining weapon is immoral," he declared. "It will not be borne."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban replied that Jordan had a "heavy and unique responsibility' for the war. He said "fighting would never have spread to Israel's eastern borders" if Jordan had not joined in the war after Egypt started it.

Doesn't Faze Her In The Least

Blind New England Girl One Of Numerous Talents

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Broad-jumping 20 feet, 5 inches, teaching herself to play the guitar, giving solo piano and organ recitals and singing in a glee club make a long list of accomplishments for any girl.

Joy A. Taranto, 19, does them all and cooks, too. And she is blind.

"I accept my blindness and live with it," says Joy. "It doesn't faze me in the least."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taranto of Waltham recently was graduated from Perkins School for the Blind in Watertown, where she has studied since first grade. She won graduation awards in girls' athletics, music and scholarship.

"I immediately had a love for the piano," said Joy—who must learn the music by Braille, a slow, painstaking process.

"You learn a method of Braille so that you learn what each note looks like," explained Joy. "You read the music with your fingers, memorize one hand, adapt it to the keyboard, memorize the other hand and adapt that to the keyboard, then put the two hands together."

Joy also plays the organ and has taught herself the guitar.

Last year she gave a solo piano recital at school, and she has performed in music festivals in New York, Connecticut and Maryland.

Joy was a member of the baseball and track teams, and president of the Girls' Athletic Association.

In a typical game of baseball, Joy explained, "we have a pitcher, who throws the ball at us, and we swing."

How do you tell when to hit the ball? "You don't. It's hit or miss, but after a couple of times you get used to it."

In track, Joy has recorded 18 feet, 4 inches in the standing triple jump, 7 feet, 1 inch in the standing broad jump and 29 feet, 5 inches in the running broad jump—the latter less than two feet short of the listed world record for women.

Joy ultimately hopes to teach organ and piano, and play in recitals.

Joy plays the piano every Sunday at a Cambridge restaurant and will be music counselor at a day camp this summer.

Early Christians considered walking under a ladder to be wrong because a ladder leaning against a building formed a triangle, the symbol of the Trinity. One who walked through the triangle defied religion and, thus, the superstition of bad luck arose.

Sample said he made a day-long investigation of the operations of Ambulance Service, Inc., at Steubenville and found all city officials were "well satisfied" with its service. In addition, he said D'Anniballe had agreed to scale down his subsidy request and accept $4,000 for the period from July 15 through Dec. 31. Sample said D'Anniballe also indicated he would accept less than the $1,200-a-month subsidy in 1968, although no specific figure was mentioned.

Bucher commented that "a lot of people would like to see a local operator for this service."

"We don't know anything about Walker as an ambulance operator, but he has not done badly in the taxi business," Bucher said. "In addition, his family plan rate was acceptable to the public. I'm willing to give Walker a chance."

Murray said he had not changed his original feeling that the contract should go to Walker. He said he could not agree with the Steubenville firm's request for an exclusive ambulance franchise.

Sample commented: "I'm looking for the best service we can get for the city." Then he reviewed his investigation of the D'Anniballe concern at Steubenville Monday.

JAMES LOWE said he opposed Walker's original proposal, which called for a $3,000 grant from the city — in addition to the monthly subsidy — to help him start his business. Since the request for the $3,000 grant was withdrawn, he said, he favored the Lynn concern. It also offered the city lower rates, he observed.

"I don't believe the people should have to pay anyone to operate a business," Duffy said. He added that he previously was under the impression that Walker was unable to obtain financing to set himself up in business. Walker has denied that report, Duffy said, and added: "If he has the money now, I'll go along with him."

Maylone said he believes it is "impossible for anyone to operate an ambulance service as a profitable business." He reiterated that he believes the city may be required to take over the operation itself in a year or so, but added that some trained personnel will be available.

WALKER'S "family plan" guarantees unlimited free ambulance service for a year within a five mile radius of East Liverpool for every member of a household for payment of an $8 annual fee. Individuals subscribing to the same plan would pay $5.

On distant trips, family plan members would be hauled free for the first 10 miles and then pay 70 cents per mile "for each loaded mile," the proposal says. Non-members would pay $20 for the call, plus the $1 per loaded mile after the first 10 miles.

The company will furnish free service to city, county and state employes "requiring same while on duty," the proposal says. It adds that rates outside the city limits will be reduced if the company is "subsidized adequately" by Liverpool and St. Clair Township trustees or county commissioners.

The Lynn company's proposal says it will operate two ambulances equipped to meet federal and state laws, with a third available for standby duty. All will be radio equipped and a direct telephone line will be maintained between the police department and the company's dispatching office, the proposal says. The firm will employ two properly - trained men on a 24-hour basis, with three more available for extra services as needed, the proposal says.

As the meeting opened, Council conferred with two representatives of Trades and Labor Council, Clarence E. Moore, president, and Mrs. Jessie Emerson. They expressed the labor group's interest in adequate ambulance service for the area.

Byrd Against $358 Billion Debt Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — A familiar name emerged today in the forefront of the Senate opposition to the administration's bid for a $22-billion hike in the national debt ceiling.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., whose late father always fought to keep a tight debt limit during his long term as chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said he would battle for a ceiling $10 billion less than the $358 billion sought by President Johnson.

Byrd, D-Va., called the higher ceiling "outrageous, unjustified and a grave disservice to the American taxpayers."

The Senate's Democratic leaders made it clear they will try to push the debt limit measure—on which debate begins today— through the Senate without change so it can be sent directly to the President.

That would avoid a conference with the House, which rejected an administration debt limit bill earlier this month and approved a second one last Wednesday by only a narrow margin.

The temporary $336-billion debt ceiling expires Friday midnight. Saturday, in the absence of a new law, it would revert to the permanent limit of $285 billion—a situation Treasury officials claim would create a money crisis.

The actual government debt is estimated to total about $327 billion.

General Assembly would recess its emergency session for two or three days next week to allow time for more negotiations.

The assembly ends its general debate on the Arab-Israeli war Friday, and no resolution that could get the two-thirds necessary for adoption is in sight. As the debate drew to a close, Kosygin ended his visit to the United States and flew to Havana Monday to confer with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Eleven speakers were listed for the assembly debate today, including Ahmed Balafrej of Morocco, Deputy Prime Minister Frank Aiken of Ireland and Foreign Minister Adnan Pachachi of Iraq and Nicanor Costa Mendez of Argentina.

King Hussein of Jordan, who addressed the assembly Monday, planned to visit President Johnson in Washington Wednesday. Jordan has received much U.S. economic and military aid and needs more to ease the effects of her losses in the war and the influx of Arab refugees from Jordanian lands occupied by the Israelis.

Hussein warned the assembly that there would be more fighting unless the United Nations condemned Israel as the aggressor in the war and forced Israeli troops back to the lines they held before fighting began June 5.

"Today's war is not a new war but part of the old war, which will go on for scores of years if the moral and physical wrong done to the Arabs is not righted," the 32-year-old monarch said.

Hussein said the Israelis perpetrated "an act of war as vicious as the blitzkrieg on Poland or as stunning as the sneak attack on Pearl Harbor."

"To permit Israel to retain its gains as a bargaining weapon is immoral," he declared. "It will not be borne."

Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban replied that Jordan had a "heavy and unique responsibility' for the war. He said "fighting would never have spread to Israel's eastern borders" if Jordan had not joined in the war after Egypt started it.

Doesn't Faze Her In The Least

Blind New England Girl One Of Numerous Talents

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Broad-jumping 20 feet, 5 inches, teaching herself to play the guitar, giving solo piano and organ recitals and singing in a glee club make a long list of accomplishments for any girl.

Joy A. Taranto, 19, does them all and cooks, too. And she is blind.

"I accept my blindness and live with it," says Joy. "It doesn't faze me in the least."

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taranto of Waltham recently was graduated from Perkins School for the Blind in Watertown, where she has studied since first grade. She won graduation awards in girls' athletics, music and scholarship.

"I immediately had a love for the piano," said Joy—who must learn the music by Braille, a slow, painstaking process.

"You learn a method of Braille so that you learn what each note looks like," explained Joy. "You read the music with your fingers, memorize one hand, adapt it to the keyboard, memorize the other hand and adapt that to the keyboard, then put the two hands together."

Joy also plays the organ and has taught herself the guitar.

Last year she gave a solo piano recital at school, and she has performed in music festivals in New York, Connecticut and Maryland.

Joy was a member of the baseball and track teams, and president of the Girls' Athletic Association.

In a typical game of baseball, Joy explained, "we have a pitcher, who throws the ball at us, and we swing."

How do you tell when to hit the ball? "You don't. It's hit or miss, but after a couple of times you get used to it."

In track, Joy has recorded 18 feet, 4 inches in the standing triple jump, 7 feet, 1 inch in the standing broad jump and 20 feet, 5 inches in the running broad jump—the latter less than two feet short of the listed world record for women.

Joy ultimately hopes to teach organ and piano, and play in recitals.

Joy plays the piano every Sunday at a Cambridge restaurant and will be music counselor at a day camp this summer.

Early Christians considered walking under a ladder to be wrong because a ladder leaning against a building formed a triangle, the symbol of the Trinity. One who walked through the triangle defied religion and, thus, the superstition of bad luck arose.

Making A Diamond "Pretty"

When diamonds are found in their natural state they would hardly invite an admiring glance except from someone schooled in the gemological field. Often, they look no more than little greyish pebbles covered with a dull glaze called "skin. They would also appear misshapen to our eye for they occur in an octohedron or eight-sided form. A rough diamond also lacks brilliance.

It is the diamond cutter who is charged with the responsibility for creating a sparkling Queen out of a "plain Jane." It is up to him to expertly saw or cleave the stone before beginning the task of properly placing all the little planes or facets to catch the light. If the diamond is not cut to exact mathematical proportions according to a plan worked out in the late 19th century, it does not return the light beams through the top of the stone. It is the resulting fire and brilliance of the diamond that we most admire; without it, the beauty of any size gem is seriously diminished.

As members of the American Gem Society, our firm is especially aware of the importance of proper diamond cutting and fashioning. Last year, the Society developed its own Diamond Grading Standards. Foremost now, is the quality factor of Cutting in grading diamonds. After that, we jewelers evaluate the stone for Color, Clarity, and lastly, Carat weight.

When you consider that the only thing man can do to a diamond is to cut and polish it correctly, it is not unreasonable to place great value in this area.

Vietnam

"has already been put to death as an act of reprisal."

Hanoi radio on June 16 said the Viet Cong had announced on June 12 that it would execute American prisoners "including a major" if the South Vietnamese government executed three Viet Cong agents the broadcast said had been sentenced to death in Saigon. However, there has been no indication of any recent executions by the Saigon government.

Hertz was captured by the Viet Cong Feb. 2, 1965, after leaving his quarters in Saigon on a motorbike. He had been in Vietnam for several years, advising the South Vietnamese on organization and administration of local government.

Two months after he was captured, the Viet Cong threatened to kill him if a terrorist sentenced to death in Saigon was executed. But instead of Hertz, the Viet Cong executed U.S. Army Sgt. Harold George Bennett, 25, of Perryville, Ark.

Two other American military men, Capt. Humbert Versace, 28, of Baltimore, Md., and S. Sgt. Kenneth M. Roraback, 33, of Fayetteville, N.C., were executed by the Viet Cong Sept. 24, 1965, in reprisal for executions of Viet Cong terrorists by the South Vietnamese government.

John Stuart, the press spokesman for the U.S. mission, said the reported execution of Hertz was "a matter of gravest concern" to the U.S. government and a "cynical betrayal" of assurances by the Viet Cong of humane treatment to prisoners.

He said any such reprisal execution was an explicit violation of Article 13 of the Geneva Convention on treatment of prisoners of war.

North Vietnam's supply lines and a surface-to-air missile site 54 miles northeast of Hanoi were the major targets of U. S. planes in Monday's raids.

Four Air Force Thunderchief jets swept in low to raid the rail yard at Kep, but the pilots reported they found nothing but craters and burned out rolling stock in the yard.

American pilots have been hitting the yard and its surrounding facilities nearly every other day for more than a month. Although the pilots said the yard was unserviceable, the main rail line through the area is repaired after each raid by thousands of workers stationed along the right-of-way.

The line was also hit Monday by heavy strikes at the Phu Xuyen rail yards, 34 miles northeast of Hanoi, and another at Hoang Mai, 23 miles from Hanoi. Pilots reported 10 to 20 boxcars destroyed at Phu Xuyen.

U. S. Navy destroyers cruised close inshore to lay fire from five-inch guns on roadways and waterways near the coast.

Although no major ground fighting was reported by U. S. forces, at least 63 Communists were reported killed in scattered actions. American losses totaled 21 dead and about 100 wounded.

South Vietnamese forces fought two stiff fights today 40 miles southwest of Saigon when a sweeping force of perhaps 1,000 men ran into isolated Viet Cong forces. Thirty-six Viet Cong were reported killed and six taken prisoners. South Vietnamese casualties were limited to a few wounded, spokesmen said because helicopter gunships kept the Viet Cong pinned to the ground.

The Phanton downed by the Chinese MIG17s over Hainan was en route to Da Nang after an overhaul in the Philippines and got off course due to a failure of navigational equipment, the Air Force said.

The MIGs jumped the Phantom at 30,000 feet, far above the clouds. The Air Force said the plane carried no bombs or ammunition and the fliers radioed a distress signal as they fled southward before parachuting from their crippled plane.

The fliers were Maj. J.C. Blandford of Sherman, Tex., and Lt. Jeremy M. Jarvis of Warren, Mich., both stationed at Dan Nang. Rescue helicopters from U. S. 7th Fleet units operating against North Vietnam picked them up about 30 miles south of Hainan an hour after they ejected.

Car, Truck Damaged In Broadway Mishap

A car and a truck were damaged slightly in a mishap Monday on Broadway at E. 5th St., police reported.

The collision involved a halted 1967 model truck operated by Charles G. Stine Jr., 40, of Post Ofice Box 115, Newell, and a backing 1959 sedan driven by Marion Hicks, 75, of 1400 Center St., Wellsville.

Stine reported he was halted in a line of traffic when Hicks' backing car hit his truck. Hicks told officers he did not see the halted truck. Patrolman Howard E. Frontz investigated.

Bill To Split Appeals Unit Still Rests In Committee

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Legislation to split the sprawling 7th District Court of Appeals appears to be fading into deepening shadows of the Ohio General Assembly's current session.

Reported favorably three weeks ago by the House Judiciary Committee, the bill is among 91 measures awaiting assignment by the rules committee for floor action.

Just where in the line the bill stands is uncertain, but one member of the influential rules committee made it clear the committee appears in no rush to move it into position for a vote.

Another obstacle to the proposal's enactment has appeared in the determined person of veteran Sen. Charles J. Carney, D-Youngstown.

Throwing up a caution signal, Carney is demanding more evidence to support the wisdom of cutting the 160-mile-long district into two sections.

He argues a more effective plan would be to add a fourth judge to the district, permitting one member of the foursome to write opinions while his three colleagues are traveling around the 13-county jurisdiction.

Financially speaking, he has pointed out, his alternative proposal would cost only $35,000 a year more, while a split would run nearly $200,000 a year.

Further, he maintains, an overall look at caseloads of Ohio's 20 appellate districts should be made before a "piecemeal" approach is taken in the 7th District.

But against Carney are lined up a list of nine co-sponsors of the bill to create a new 11th district and a recommendation of the Ohio State Bar Association.

Under their proposal, Mahoning County would be retained as the seat of the present 7th District. Other counties in the proposed southern district would include Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison, Belmont, Noble and Monroe.

The new 11th District, to be headquartered at Warren, would be made up of Lake, Ashtabula, Geauga, Trumbull and Portage counties.

The bill calls for election of three more judges, two in the proposed new district and one in the 7th District. One judge in the current 7th, George H. Jones, is a Trumbull County resident and would run for re-election, if he chose to seek another term, in the new 11th District.

Also behind this approach are bar associations of 9 of the 13 counties, according to Joseph Miller, executive secretary of the Ohio State Bar Association.

Miller said three county bar associations haven't replied to his mail poll and the Noble County Association replied, "We've never heard of it (the bill)."

In judiciary committee hearings, Nils P. Johnson, a former member of the court, cited figures compiled by the Ohio Supreme Court which show the 7th District now handles the highest caseload per judge among the state's 10 districts.

Moreover, Johnson testified, two districts with comparable caseloads are single - county districts, in Cuyahoga and Hamilton counties, where travel is minimal.

Briefed By Johnson On Summit

Leaders In Congress See More LBJ-Kosygin Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders, briefed by President Johnson on the Glassboro summit meeting, believe future Johnson-Kosygin talks are in the works.

While the White House moved quickly to head off any impression something definite was planned, the leaders nevertheless gained the idea that Johnson was considering some form of followup on his two meetings with the Soviet premier.

One participant in the Monday night briefing said he felt the President looked on the Glassboro sessions as having created the right atmosphere for future get-togethers.

Another summed up the presidential report by stating that Johnson and Kosygin "agreed on nothing except that they ought to try another time to agree on something."

Two senators told newsmen outside the White House they thought there had been something more firm arranged on future meetings, with the time and place to be set.

But, after a hurried check with Johnson, press secretary George Christian reported that the situation stood as the President outlined it in a post-summit statement Sunday night.

Johnson said then there had been agreement on future direct contacts. Such contacts include meetings, Christian said, but the leaders "did not agree to any specific time, place or date for a meeting."

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he had understood Johnson and Kosygin had agreed future meetings would be in order but "didn't agree on a specific date."

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said that was a correct report.

It was the Fulbright-Mansfield interpretation Christian hastened to clarify in an apparent move to avoid any worldwide reports a new summit session was on tap.

Apart from discussing any future contacts, the congressional leaders said they agreed the Glassboro meetings had been useful.

"As the President explained it to the nation," Mansfield said, "these discussions were useful because they allowed two men with heavy responsibilities to talk directly to each other on matters of the greatest importance to their two countries and the world."

Fulbright, a frequent critic of Johnson's handling of foreign affairs, termed the Glassboro meetings a great success simply because they brought the two leaders together in a friendly atmosphere.

He indicated the White House briefing had produced no disclosures of Glassboro developments not already reported publicly, but that the President had wanted to give a personal report to the leadership.

The briefing followed a meeting between the President and Prime Minister Ion Gheorghe Maurer of Romania, who said he hoped the Glassboro conferences "will lead to clarification of matters now troubling the world."

Maurer, whose country is the only European Communist-bloc nation to have split with the Soviet Union on its conditions for a Middle East settlement, told newsmen he and Johnson had discussed world problems in a frank and open spirit.

Electrical Workers Again Reject Contract

CINCINNATI (AP)—Electrical workers who have been on strike against the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. since May 16 have rejected again a proposed new two-year contract.

The company's latest contract proposal called for hourly wage increases ranging from 22 to 37 cents an hour. Its original offer called for raises of 23 to 45 cents over a three-year period. The electrical workers' now average $3.24 an hour.

mer's peaks and the possibility of a renewed diversion of money from mortgages—which would seriously hamper the recovery in housing construction— in urging prompt tax action.

His appeal came in a talk to the Rotary Club of Toledo, Ohio, but a summary of his remarks was made public by the board in Washington.

"I am firmly convinced that we must have adequate, effective— and above all—prompt tax action that would whittle down the prospective deficit for the coming fiscal year to one of manageable proportions," Martin said.

New estimates by the administration now place the expected budget deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 at $13.6 billion, but some guesses range as high as $29 billion.

Martin said the Federal Reserve's policy of easier money plus higher-than-expected federal spending prevented sluggishness in the economy this year from turning into a recession.

Now, after only a short pause, the economy is beginning to show signs of moving ahead again," he said.

The administration's request for the surtax is based on an expectation of an economic upturn during the second half of this year.

Martin said that in light of the recovery now under way and the rate of federal spending he would be prepared to support an even higher surcharge if it were tion on spending.

tomy for what was described as an early malignant tumor of the uterus.

Six weeks later, a postoperative examination showed "no evidence of any remaining malignancy."

That same day, Feb. 24, 1966, she announced she would run for governor. Her husband could not succeed himself under Alabama law.

There was no immediate comment on the recurrence of his wife's malignancy from the former governor.

The announcement Monday gave no details of the findings of last week's examination.

Mrs. Wallace said in her announcement that her physicians, Dr. Joe W. Perry, a gynecologist; Dr. Ross McBryde, an internist, and Dr. Harry J. Till, a surgeon, will accompany her to Anderson hospital.

If Mrs. Wallace is out of the state for more than 20 days, state law provides that Lt. Gov. Albert Brewer of Deratur will assume the duties of her office until she returns.

Trustees Reject Pleas In Hospital Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — A plea from the North-East Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church for settlement of a 10-week strike at St. Luke's Hospital was rejected by trustees of the hospital in a meeting Monday.

"Under present conditions, union recognition would be inadvisable," the trustees said in a resolution. Recognition of Local 47 of the Building Service and Maintenance Union is the key issue in the walkout.

About $55,000 of the hospital's $9 million annual budget is contributed by The Methodist Church. The church's conference, meeting at Lakeside last Thursday, passed a resolution suggesting an election to select a bargaining agent for nonprofessional employes of the hospital.

Former American League slugger Jim Gentile is playing first base for San Deigo in the Pacific Coast League.

Road Crashes Claim 2, Hurt 3 In Beaver County

A 19 - year - old Hopewell Township youth was killed Monday night in a collision west of Aliquippa and an Ambridge man died at a Pittsburgh hospital of injuries received in a motorcycle crash Sunday — pushing the Beaver County traffic toll for 1967 to 26.

Nicholas J. Hudak died instantly of a crushed skull when his car rammed the rear of another on Green Garden Rd. as he and a companion were returning from swimming at Raccoon Creek State Park.

Dean James Schmidt, 24, of Ambridge died at Presbyterian-University Hospital, Pittsburgh, of fractures of the skull, jaw and right leg suffered when his motorcycle struck guardrails along Pleasant Dr. in Center Township Sunday afternoon.

Hudak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Hudak, apparently was driving at a high rate of speed when his car hit the rear of one driven by Dr. Edwin Gaither of Aliquippa.

Dr. Gaither is in "satisfactory" condition today at Aliquippa Hospital with fractures of the foot and multiple cuts and bruises. His wife, Lucia, was treated for cuts and abrasions and released.

Richard Ord, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ord of Aliquippa, was in "fair" condition at the hospital with lacerations and bruises.

Schmidt, who was married and the father of a daughter, was hurled to the pavement when his cycle, moving at a high speed, left the roadway and hit the guardrails, officers said.

In Senate Committee

Sentiment Grows To Cut Flow Of Arms Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sentiment to close the spigot of U.S. arms supplies to foreign countries appears to be growing in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Before the administration's $3.1-billion foreign aid bill, including nearly $600 million for military aid, reached the committee today, at least five of the 19 members of the panel voiced concern with the arms program.

There were indications the committee might attempt to usurp authority usually left to the President to set arms policy and insist on cutbacks in the present system on grounds it has failed to help preserve peace.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a committee member, said Monday the clash of Israeli and Arab armies earlier this month illustrated the "folly of the thesis that the United States can defuse arms races by supplying weapons."

Sens. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.; Albert Gore, D-Tenn.; Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.; and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., all committee members, and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio; Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., expressed support for Church's views.

In addition, Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., another panel member, have criticized the military aid program.

The growing opposition indicates rough going in the committee for administration plans to continue arms aid on its own terms.

While the administration looks to the United Nations or other diplomatic avenues for reducing the arms flow into actual or potential trouble spots, sentiment has grown in the committee for unilateral U.S. action.

President Johnson has noted that the arms money request is the smallest since 1950. But Church argued Monday the over-all amount sought for military aid was larger than the current appropriation.

Johnson used "some budgetary sleight of hand" to show a decrease, Church said.

"The executive branch has shown no real indication that it is prepared to start turning off the weapons spigots," Church commented. "Sales continue unchecked."

The State and Defense Departments support the program on the theory that measured quantities of arms help preserve a military balance of power in trouble areas, deterring both sides from gaining an advantage, or help governments put down Communist-led attacks and revolutions.

2 Women Sentenced, Fined In Store Case

A city woman and one from Chester were fined and jailed on charges of petty larceny at hearings Monday before Eastern Division County Judge Barry Dickson at East Palestine.

Sandra Matthews, 28, of 653 Riley Ave. and Sheryl Radcliffe, 23, of 612 Florida Ave., Chester, were arrested Friday at Hills Store, St. Clair Plaza.

They were apprehended by Lester McElhaney, special agent for the store, who charged the Matthews woman took two dresses, one valued at $8.53 and the other at $10.87, and the Radclife woman a purse valued at $1.67.

Each was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to 30 dasy in jail. The judge then suspended $200 of the fine and 27 days of the jail sentence and placed them on two-year probation.

Vietnam

"has already been put to death as an act of reprisal."

Hanoi radio on June 16 said the Viet Cong had announced on June 12 that it would execute American prisoners "including a major" if the South Vietnamese government executed three Viet Cong agents the broadcast said had been sentenced to death in Saigon. However, there has been no indication of any recent executions by the Saigon government.

Hertz was captured by the Viet Cong Feb. 2, 1965, after leaving his quarters in Saigon on a motorbike. He had been in Vietnam for several years, advising the South Vietnamese on organization and administration of local government.

Two months after he was captured, the Viet Cong threatened to kill him if a terrorist sentenced to death in Saigon was executed. But instead of Hertz, the Viet Cong executed U.S. Army Sgt. Harold George Bennett, 25, of Perryville, Ark.

Two other American military men, Capt. Humbert Versace, 28, of Baltimore, Md., and S. Sgt. Kenneth M. Roraback, 33, of Fayetteville, N.C., were executed by the Viet Cong Sept. 24, 1965, in reprisal for executions of Viet Cong terrorists by the South Vietnamese government.

John Stuart, the press spokesman for the U.S. mission, said the reported execution of Hertz was "a matter of gravest concern" to the U.S. government and a "cynical betrayal" of assurances by the Viet Cong of humane treatment to prisoners.

He said any such reprisal execution was an explicit violation of Article 13 of the Geneva Convention on treatment of prisoners of war.

North Vietnam's supply lines and a surface-to-air missile site 54 miles northeast of Hanoi were the major targets of U. S. planes in Monday's raids.

Four Air Force Thunderchief jets swept in low to raid the rail yard at Kep, but the pilots reported they found nothing but craters and burned out rolling stock in the yard.

American pilots have been hitting the yard and its surrounding facilities nearly every other day for more than a month. Although the pilots said the yard was unserviceable, the main rail line through the area is repaired after each raid by thousands of workers stationed along the right-of-way.

The line was also hit Monday by heavy strikes at the Phu Xuyen rail yards, 34 miles northeast of Hanoi, and another at Hoang Mai, 23 miles from Hanoi. Pilots reported 10 to 20 boxcars destroyed at Phu Xuyen.

U. S. Navy destroyers cruised close inshore to lay fire from five-inch guns on roadways and waterways near the coast.

Although no major ground fighting was reported by U. S. forces, at least 63 Communists were reported killed in scattered actions. American losses totaled 21 dead and about 100 wounded.

South Vietnamese forces fought two stiff fights today 40 miles southwest of Saigon when a sweeping force of perhaps 1,000 men ran into isolated Viet Cong forces. Thirty-six Viet Cong were reported killed and six taken prisoners. South Vietnamese casualties were limited to a few wounded, spokesmen said because helicopter gunships kept the Viet Cong pinned to the ground.

The Phanton downed by the Chinese MIG17s over Hainan was en route to Da Nang after an overhaul in the Philippines and got off course due to a failure of navigational equipment, the Air Force said.

The MIGs jumped the Phantom at 30,000 feet, far above the clouds. The Air Force said the plane carried no bombs or ammunition and the fliers radioed a distress signal as they fled southward before parachuting from their crippled plane.

The fliers were Maj. J.C. Blandford of Sherman, Tex., and Lt. Jeremy M. Jarvis of Warren, Mich., both stationed at Dan Nang. Rescue helicopters from U. S. 7th Fleet units operating against North Vietnam picked them up about 30 miles south of Hainan an hour after they ejected.

Car, Truck Damaged In Broadway Mishap

A car and a truck were damaged slightly in a mishap Monday on Broadway at E. 5th St., police reported.

The collision involved a halted 1967 model truck operated by Charles G. Stine Jr., 40, of Post Ofice Box 115, Newell, and a backing 1959 sedan driven by Marion Hicks, 75, of 1400 Center St., Wellsville.

Stine reported he was halted in a line of traffic when Hicks' backing car hit his truck. Hicks told officers he did not see the halted truck. Patrolman Howard E. Frontz investigated.

Bill To Split Appeals Unit Still Rests In Committee

By WILLIAM V. MERRIMAN
Review Staff Correspondent

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Legislation to split the sprawling 7th District Court of Appeals appears to be fading into deepening shadows of the Ohio General Assembly's current session.

Reported favorably three weeks ago by the House Judiciary Committee, the bill is among 91 measures awaiting assignment by the rules committee for floor action.

Just where in the line the bill stands is uncertain, but one member of the influential rules committee made it clear the committee appears in no rush to move it into position for a vote.

Another obstacle to the proposal's enactment has appeared in the determined person of veteran Sen. Charles J. Carney, D-Youngstown.

Throwing up a caution signal, Carney is demanding more evidence to support the wisdom of cutting the 160-mile-long district into two sections.

He argues a more effective plan would be to add a fourth judge to the district, permitting one member of the foursome to write opinions while his three colleagues are traveling around the 13-county jurisdiction.

Financially speaking, he has pointed out, his alternative proposal would cost only $35,000 a year more, while a split would run nearly $200,000 a year.

Further, he maintains, an overall look at caseloads of Ohio's 20 appellate districts should be made before a "piecemeal" approach is taken in the 7th District.

But against Carney are lined up a list of nine co-sponsors of the bill to create a new 11th district and a recommendation of the Ohio State Bar Association.

Under their proposal, Mahoning County would be retained as the seat of the present 7th District. Other counties in the proposed southern district would include Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson, Harrison, Belmont, Noble and Monroe.

The new 11th District, to be headquartered at Warren, would be made up of Lake, Ashtabula, Geauga, Trumbull and Portage counties.

The bill calls for election of three more judges, two in the proposed new district and one in the 7th District. One judge in the current 7th, George H. Jones, is a Trumbull County resident and would run for re-election, if he chose to seek another term, in the new 11th District.

Also behind this approach are bar associations of 9 of the 13 counties, according to Joseph Miller, executive secretary of the Ohio State Bar Association.

Miller said three county bar associations haven't replied to his mail poll and the Noble County Association replied, "We've never heard of it (the bill)."

In judiciary committee hearings, Nils P. Johnson, a former member of the court, cited figures compiled by the Ohio Supreme Court which show the 7th District now handles the highest caseload per judge among the state's 10 districts.

Moreover, Johnson testified, two districts with comparable caseloads are single - county districts, in Cuyahoga and Hamilton counties, where travel is minimal.

Briefed By Johnson On Summit

Leaders In Congress See More LBJ-Kosygin Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders, briefed by President Johnson on the Glassboro summit meeting, believe future Johnson-Kosygin talks are in the works.

While the White House moved quickly to head off any impression something definite was planned, the leaders nevertheless gained the idea that Johnson was considering some form of followup on his two meetings with the Soviet premier.

One participant in the Monday night briefing said he felt the President looked on the Glassboro sessions as having created the right atmosphere for future get-togethers.

Another summed up the presidential report by stating that Johnson and Kosygin "agreed on nothing except that they ought to try another time to agree on something."

Two senators told newsmen outside the White House they thought there had been something more firm arranged on future meetings, with the time and place to be set.

But, after a hurried check with Johnson, press secretary George Christian reported that the situation stood as the President outlined it in a post-summit statement Sunday night.

Johnson said then there had been agreement on future direct contacts. Such contacts include meetings, Christian said, but the leaders "did not agree to any specific time, place or date for a meeting."

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he had understood Johnson and Kosygin had agreed future meetings would be in order but "didn't agree on a specific date."

Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield said that was a correct report.

It was the Fulbright-Mansfield interpretation Christian hastened to clarify in an appareent move to avoid any worldwide reports a new summit session was on tap.

Apart from discussing any future contacts, the congressional leaders said they agreed the Glassboro meetings had been useful.

"As the President explained it to the nation," Mansfield said, "these discussions were useful because they allowed two men with heavy responsibilities to talk directly to each other on matters of the greatest importance to their two countries and the world."

Fulbright, a frequent critic of Johnson's handling of foreign affairs, termed the Glassboro meetings a great success simply because they brought the two leaders together in a friendly atmosphere.

He indicated the White House briefing had produced no disclosures of Glassboro developments not already reported publicly, but that the President had wanted to give a personal report to the leadership.

The briefing followed a meeting between the President and Prime Minister Ion Gheorghe Maurer of Romania, who said he hoped the Glassboro conferences "will lead to clarification of matters now troubling the world."

Maurer, whose country is the only European Communist-bloc nation to have split with the Soviet Union on its conditions for a Middle East settlement, told newsmen he and Johnson had discussed world problems in a frank and open spirit.

Electrical Workers Again Reject Contract

CINCINNATI (AP)—Electrical workers who have been on strike against the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. since May 16 have rejected again a proposed new two-year contract.

The company's latest contract proposal called for hourly wage increases ranging from 22 to 37 cents an hour. Its original offer called for raises of 23 to 45 cents over a three-year period. The electrical workers' now average $3.24 an hour.

mer's peaks and the possibility of a renewed diversion of money from mortgages—which would seriously hamper the recovery in housing construction— in urging prompt tax action.

His appeal came in a talk to the Rotary Club of Toledo, Ohio, but a summary of his remarks was made public by the board in Washington.

"I am firmly convinced that we must have adequate, effective— and above all—prompt tax action that would whittle down the prospective deficit for the coming fiscal year to one of manageable proportions," Martin said.

New estimates by the administration now place the expected budget deficit for the fiscal year beginning July 1 at $13.6 billion, but some guesses range as high as $29 billion.

Martin said the Federal Reserve's policy of easier money plus higher-than-expected federal spending prevented sluggishness in the economy this year from turning into a recession.

Now, after only a short pause, the economy is beginning to show signs of moving ahead again," he said.

The administration's request for the surtax is based on an expectation of an economic upturn during the second half of this year.

Martin said that in light of the recovery now under way and the rate of federal spending he would be prepared to support an even higher surcharge if it were tion on spending.

tomy for what was described as an early malignant tumor of the uterus.

Six weeks later, a postoperative examination showed "no evidence of any remaining malignancy."

That same day, Feb. 24, 1966, she announced she would run for governor. Her husband could not succeed himself under Alabama law.

There was no immediate comment on the recurrence of his wife's malignancy from the former governor.

The announcement Monday gave no details of the findings of last week's examination.

Mrs. Wallace said in her announcement that her physicians, Dr. Joe W. Perry, a gynecologist; Dr. Ross McBryde, an internist, and Dr. Harry J. Till, a surgeon, will accompany her to Anderson hospital.

If Mrs. Wallace is out of the state for more than 20 days, state law provides that Lt. Gov. Albert Brewer of Deratur will assume the duties of her office until she returns.

Trustees Reject Pleas In Hospital Strike

CLEVELAND (AP) — A plea from the North-East Ohio Conference of the Methodist Church for settlement of a 10-week strike at St. Luke's Hospital was rejected by trustees of the hospital in a meeting Monday.

"Under present conditions, union recognition would be inadvisable," the trustees said in a resolution. Recognition of Local 47 of the Building Service and Maintenance Union is the key issue in the walkout.

About $55,000 of the hospital's $9 million annual budget is contributed by The Methodist Church. The church's conference, meeting at Lakeside last Thursday, passed a resolution suggesting an election to select a bargaining agent for nonprofessional employes of the hospital.

Road Crashes Claim 2, Hurt 3 In Beaver County

A 19 - year - old Hopewell Township youth was killed Monday night in a collision west of Aliquippa and an Ambridge man died at a Pittsburgh hospital of injuries received in a motorcycle crash Sunday — pushing the Beaver County traffic toll for 1967 to 26.

Nicholas J. Hudak died instantly of a crushed skull when his car rammed the rear of another on Green Garden Rd. as he and a companion were returning from swimming at Raccoon Creek State Park.

Dean James Schmidt, 24, of Ambridge died at Presbyterian-University Hospital, Pittsburgh, of fractures of the skull, jaw and right leg suffered when his motorcycle struck guardrails along Pleasant Dr. in Center Township Sunday afternoon.

Hudak, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Hudak, apparently was driving at a high rate of speed when his car hit the rear of one driven by Dr. Edwin Gaither of Aliquippa.

Dr. Gaither is in "satisfactory" condition today at Aliquippa Hospital with fractures of the foot and multiple cuts and bruises. His wife, Lucia, was treated for cuts and abrasions and released.

Richard Ord, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ord of Aliquippa, was in "fair" condition at the hospital with lacerations and bruises.

Schmidt, who was married and the father of a daughter, was hurled to the pavement when his cycle, moving at a high speed, left the roadway and hit the guardrails, officers said.

In Senate Committee

Sentiment Grows To Cut Flow Of Arms Overseas

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sentiment to close the spigot of U.S. arms supplies to foreign countries appears to be growing in the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Before the administration's $3.1-billion foreign aid bill, including nearly $600 million for military aid, reached the committee today, at least five of the 19 members of the panel voiced concern with the arms program.

There were indications the committee might attempt to usurp authority usually left to the President to set arms policy and insist on cutbacks in the present system on grounds it has failed to help preserve peace.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, a committee member, said Monday the clash of Israeli and Arab armies earlier this month illustrated the "folly of the thesis that the United States can defuse arms races by supplying weapons."

Sens. Joseph S. Clark, D-Pa.; Albert Gore, D-Tenn.; Claiborne Pell, D-R.I.; and John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., all committee members, and Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio; Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, and George S. McGovern, D-S.D., expressed support for Church's views.

In addition, Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., another panel member, have criticized the military aid program.

The growing opposition indicates rough going in the committee for administration plans to continue arms aid on its own terms.

While the administration looks to the United Nations or other diplomatic avenues for reducing the arms flow into actual or potential trouble spots, sentiment has grown in the committee for unilateral U.S. action.

President Johnson has noted that the arms money request is the smallest since 1950. But Church argued Monday the over-all amount sought for military aid was larger than the current appropriation.

Johnson used "some budgetary sleight of hand" to show a decrease, Church said.

"The executive branch has shown no real indication that it is prepared to start turning off the weapons spigots," Church commented. "Sales continue unchecked."

The State and Defense Departments support the program on the theory that measured quantities of arms help preserve a military balance of power in trouble areas, deterring both sides from gaining an advantage, or help governments put down Communist-led attacks and revolutions.

2 Women Sentenced, Fined In Store Case

A city woman and one from Chester were fined and jailed on charges of petty larceny at hearings Monday before Eastern Division County Judge Barry Dickson at East Palestine.

Sandra Matthews, 28, of 653 Riley Ave. and Sheryl Radcliffe, 23, of 612 Florida Ave., Chester, were arrested Friday at Hills Store, St. Clair Plaza.

They were apprehended by Lester McElhaney, special agent for the store, who charged the Matthews woman took two dresses, one valued at $8.53 and the other at $10.87, and the Radclife woman a purse valued at $1.67.

Each was fined $300 and costs and sentenced to 30 dasy in jail. The judge then suspended $200 of the fine and 27 days of the jail sentence and placed them on two-year probation.

Thousands Of Burmese Punch, Stone Chinese

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Angered by demonstrations in support of Mao Tse-tung and attacks on Burmese newsmen, thousands of Burmese kicked, punched and stoned Chinese in Peking's Embassy and smashed Chinese shops.

A mob of Burmese that increased from 5,000 to 10,000 broke through a cordon of troops and police to sack a Chinese school in which Maoist students were demonstrating. The mob tore down the Chinese government seal from the main gate of the Chinese Embassy, beat up Chinese on the streets, burned and smashed 39 cars belonging to Chinese, and wrecked residences, teashops, bars, tailoring shops and homes in Rangoon's Chinatown.

The violence was expected to bring an angry protest from Peking. Because it shares a largely unprotected, 1,200-mile frontier with China, the Burmese government has tried to maintain carefully correct relations with its big Communist neighbor.

Government cars with loudspeakers rolled through the city calling for tolerance and appealing to the crowds to go home in the interest of preserving Chinese-Burmese relations.

By midnight the crowds began to disperse. Early today, 200 defiant Chinese students who had been trapped in one school by the mob were escorted back to their homes. They were still wearing Mao badges.

In one demonstration Monday Chinese students made a school principal their prisoner because he would not allow them to wear the badges. The principal was rescued when police broke into the school with the help of a fire brigade. Thirty Burmese school teachers held hostage with the principal were also freed.

The government announced it was closing all 10 state schools in Rangooon in which Chinese students predominate. A cordon of troops was thrown around the Chinese residential and business sector from midnight to dawn.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Members of Local 1638 of the United Steelworkers have ratified an agreement the union said grants nearly $1 million in benefits to employes who lost jobs when Automatic Sprinkler Corp. was struck earlier this year and operations subsequently moved to Cleveland.

The union said 78 of 100 production and maintenance employes would get immediate or deferred pensions. Special retirement benefits, severance allowance, 1967 vacations, and other payments add up to $951,386, the union said.

Firestone Gets Court Order To Limit Pickets

The order was issued by Summit County Common Pleas Judge Frank Harvey after pickets of the United Rubber Workers union blocked the gates for more than an hour, preventing salaried personnel from leaving the plant.

It was the second such incident reported at the plant since the URW struck Firestone after the contract between the company and the union expired at midnight April 20.

The URW also struck the B.F. Goodrich Co. and Uniroyal, Inc., at the same time and added General Tire & Rubber Co. to the strikebound list last week. The strike has idled 54,000 workers.

Hearing Planned For Cited Driver

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Monday set a hearing Friday, July 7, for Alan Majeskie, 35, of Rochester, cited on two charges after a traffic mishap Sunday night at Pennsylvania Ave. and Elizabeth St.

Majeskie is accused of driving without an operator's permit and failure to yield at least half the roadway to oncoming traffic. He was cited by Patrolman James W. Buckley after a collision that involved the Rochester man's 1959 sedan and a 1967 coupe operated by Russell E. Dray, 19, of 201 Charles St.

The judge continued the case to allow preparation of damage estimates on Dray's auto after Majeskie said he does not have insurance. No plea was entered on either count. Majeskie's appearance bond was set at $50.

Thousands Of Burmese Punch, Stone Chinese

RANGOON, Burma (AP) — Angered by demonstrations in support of Mao Tse-tung and attacks on Burmese newsmen, thousands of Burmese kicked, punched and stoned Chinese in Peking's Embassy and smashed Chinese shops.

A mob of Burmese that increased from 5,000 to 10,000 broke through a cordon of troops and police to sack a Chinese school in which Maoist students were demonstrating. The mob tore down the Chinese government seal from the main gate of the Chinese Embassy, beat up Chinese on the streets, burned and smashed 39 cars belonging to Chinese, and wrecked residences, teashops, bars, tailoring shops and homes in Rangoon's Chinatown.

The violence was expected to bring an angry protest from Peking. Because it shares a largely unprotected, 1,200-mile frontier with China, the Burmese government has tried to maintain carefully correct relations with its big Communist neighbor.

Government cars with loudspeakers rolled through the city calling for tolerance and appealing to the crowds to go home in the interest of preserving Chinese-Burmese relations.

By midnight the crowds began to disperse. Early today, 200 defiant Chinese students who had been trapped in one school by the mob were escorted back to their homes. They were still wearing Mao badges.

In one demonstration Monday Chinese students made a school principal their prisoner because he would not allow them to wear the badges. The principal was rescued when police broke into the school with the help of a fire brigade. Thirty Burmese school teachers held hostage with the principal were also freed.

The government announced it was closing all 10 state schools in Rangooon in which Chinese students predominate. A cordon of troops was thrown around the Chinese residential and business sector from midnight to dawn.

Burma's Chinese population is estimated at more than a million. The majority lives in Rangoon.

USW Local Ratifies Benefits Agreement

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—Members of Local 1638 of the United Steelworkers have ratified an agreement the union said grants nearly $1 million in benefits to employes who lost jobs when Automatic Sprinkler Corp. was struck earlier this year and operations subsequently moved to Cleveland.

The union said 78 of 100 production and maintenance employes would get immediate or deferred pensions. Special retirement benefits, severance allowance, 1967 vacations, and other payments add up to $951,386, the union said.

Firestone Gets Court Order To Limit Pickets

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. obtained a court order late Monday limiting to two the number of pickets at each gate of its main plant here.

The order was issued by Summit County Common Pleas Judge Frank Harvey after pickets of the United Rubber Workers union blocked the gates for more than an hour, preventing salaried personnel from leaving the plant.

It was the second such incident reported at the plant since the URW struck Firestone after the contract between the company and the union expired at midnight April 20.

The URW also struck the B.F. Goodrich Co. and Uniroyal, Inc., at the same time and added General Tire & Rubber Co. to the strikebound list last week. The strike has idled 54,000 workers.

Hearing Planned For Cited Driver

Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff Monday set a hearing Friday, July 7, for Alan Majeskie, 35, of Rochester, cited on two charges after a traffic mishap Sunday night at Pennsylvania Ave. and Elizabeth St.

Majeskie is accused of driving without an operator's permit and failure to yield at least half the roadway to oncoming traffic. He was cited by Patrolman James W. Buckley after a collision that involved the Rochester man's 1959 sedan and a 1967 coupe operated by Russell E. Dray, 19, of 201 Charles St.

The judge continued the case to allow preparation of damage estimates on Dray's auto after Majeskie said he does not have insurance. No plea was entered on either count. Majeskie's appearance bond was set at $50.

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: My feet hurt every time I wear shoes. I have tried many different brands and they all hurt. Many of my friends have this same trouble and want to know if you can help us?

FOOT CLUB.

Dear Madam: I have discussed this subject with the American Podiatry Association in Washington, D.C., and Mr. Francis A. Kalbacher was kind enough to give us the following information:

The most amazing of which is, "Don't buy shoes in the morning because your feet can stretch as much as a half size by the afternoon."

Imagine that?

"A prime consideration is to fit the shoes to the feet, not the feet to the shoes.

"Always stand up when your feet are being measured and when you try on new shoes, for feet usually lengthen from one-half to three-fourths of an inch when they are supporting your body weight. Do not count on breaking shoes in when you get home.

"Shoes should be bought late in the day when the feet have expanded from previous hours of standing or walking. The difference can be one-half a shoe size!

"Shoes should be allowed to rest after a day's wear. This rest period allows the shoes to dry out.

"In the second place, once shoes are worn outdoors and become scuffed there is little likelihood the shoe salesman will permit your returning them.

"Covering a pair of new shoes with an old pair of socks will protect them from scuffs as you initially wear them for short periods around the house.

"New shoes should be initially worn for short periods of time rather than all day.

"It is wrong to blame all foot troubles on shoes. Shoes can be one of the aggravating causes and then it is usually the fit, not the shoe itself. Customers are as guilty for poor fit as are shoe salesmen.

"More important, if it is the fit that counts. Even expensive shoes, if improperly fitted, will aggravate foot conditions."

And we all appreciate your kindness and information, Mr. Kalbacher. Many thanks for helping us have feet that don't hurt.

So remember, gals, don't buy your shoes in the morning. I wonder how much larger size we would buy if we bought a pair after doing the weekly five loads of laundry and then ironing some of it? Wow!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I got some BB's from my brother (the kind he uses in his air rifle) and dropped one in each of my bottles of fingernail polish.

Now just a quick shake before using and the polish is mixed and smooth.

ARLENE F.

DEAR HELOISE: Storage of my daughter's fashion dolls' clothes and accessories was a problem. Many items won't hang on hangers and were constantly in a jumble.

I glued wooden, clip-type clothespins on a piece of scrap plywood and gave it all a coat of spray paint.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN

Shapely Limbs Despite 'Tree'

A teen-ager writes: "I don't really want to look like Twiggy, but I would like to get in the swim without feeling embarrassed about the shape of my legs and thighs which are sort of thick. Let's face it, I'm a little too fat. Will exercise help? Do I need to diet?"

Ida Jean Kain

The solution is to stop overeating, cut out the "junk" calories and start exercising. Exercise will help you to outdistance the fat.

It is true that the tendency to thick or thin legs and thighs are patterned on the limbs of the family tree. But wait — only excess calories are stored. Remember too, that of all the physical characteristics, weight and shape are two things that can be altered. Exercise is a great normalizer.

WHAT'S MORE slimming than walking? Running! Try running "in place," right in your own back yard, or in the living room or on the rooftop of your apartment house. To run in place, stand erect, then begin to jog without actually going any place. If space permits you can move around the room, roof or yard.

Jog for 50 counts, counting each time your foot hits the floor. Then do a side - straddle hop. You do this in gym class. Stand erect, hands at sides. Swing arms sidewards and upwards, clapping hands overhead as you jump lightly, separating legs. Jump again, bringing legs together and arms down. Repeat 10 times. Then jog for another 50 counts. Relax.

Skipping rope is fun and slimming. Start with the skip rope behind your back, then swing rope overhead, forwards and down, slipping rope under your feet as you jump. You can begin by jumping on both feet, one jump to each swing of the rope.

Or skip twice on ball of right foot as the rope slides under, then twice on left foot on the second swing. About 50 skips will be enough for a starter. Work up to twice that number.

TRY A springer's special. squat, hands on floor, with fingers pointing forward. Have right leg stretched back, and left knee bent, ready to spring. The action is to reverse the position of your legs in a vigorous jump. Repeat 6 times, later 12 times.

There is no better exercise than swimming. At your age you should be able to swim a quarter of a mile at a session. That will be 17 double lengths of a 40-foot pool. Vary the swim strokes.

On the diet score, leave off between meal sweets. Eat three balanced meals a day. Do yourself a favor, get with food and exercise habits. You can be in much better shape than Twiggy!

Send stamped, self - addressed, long envelope for Leg Normalizing Exercise and Slimming — Teen-Age Style. Address your request to Ida Jean Kain in care of The Review.

Soldier Arrives In Viet; Medical Report Planned

A 20-year-old city serviceman, reportedly suffering from a heart condition, has arrived in Vietnam, but a medical review of all his records has been promised by government authorities.

Army Pfc. Gary W. Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Coleman of 1050 St. Clair Ave., arrived in Vietnam last week.

His parents said he has a coronary problem which became apparent in July 1966, and have written to Rep. Wayne L. Hays, 18th District Congressman, and to President Lyndon Johnson in an effort to keep him from strenuous duty.

Rep. Hays reported to the family this week he is continuing to seek full study of the matter and a spokesman for the President said all of the serviceman's records will be reviewed and the family notified. Pfc. Coleman is the husband of Mrs. Joyce Coleman of John St.

"All the American League teams are gunning for us," says Baltimore Oriole coach Gene Woodling. The Orioles won the pennant and World Series last year.

Exactly how much does electricity cost you for 30 slices of golden brown toast?

Ohio Power customer, Mrs. Charles Willis, pays 1¢ — the amount it costs you. (And if you're a total electric customer it will cost you even less. For the more electricity you use, the lower the price.)

Mrs. Willis considers that a small amount. And rightly so. In fact, her total electric bill is similarly small for the multitude of jobs it performs for the Willis family each month. Most people agree. That's why more and more people depend on electricity to do more and more jobs around their homes.

Like you, the Willises continually discover more ways to put electricity to work for them — to make their work easier, their leisure more enjoyable. When you stop to think about it, isn't electricity pretty inexpensive considering all the work it does around your house?

Hints from Heloise

— By Heloise Cruse —

DEAR HELOISE: My feet hurt every time I wear shoes. I have tried many different brands and they all hurt. Many of my friends have this same trouble and want to know if you can help us?

FOOT CLUB.

Dear Madam: I have discussed this subject with the American Podiatry Association in Washington, D.C., and Mr. Francis A. Kalbacher was kind enough to give us the following information:

The most amazing of which is, "Don't buy shoes in the morning because your feet can stretch as much as a half size by the afternoon."

Imagine that?

And outside of going barefoot (which I do most of the time) here's his valued advice:

"A prime consideration is to fit the shoes to the feet, not the feet to the shoes.

"Always stand up when your feet are being measured and when you try on new shoes, for feet usually lengthen from one-half to three-fourths of an inch when they are supporting your body weight. Do not count on breaking shoes in when you get home.

"Shoes should be bought late in the day when the feet have expanded from previous hours of standing or walking. The difference can be one-half a shoe size!

"Shoes should be allowed to rest after a day's wear. This rest period allows the shoes to dry out.

"In the second place, once shoes are worn outdoors and become scuffed there is little likelihood the shoe salesman will permit your returning them.

"Covering a pair of new shoes with an old pair of socks will protect them from scuffs as you initially wear them for short periods around the house.

"New shoes should be initially worn for short periods of time rather than all day.

"It is wrong to blame all foot troubles on shoes. Shoes can be one of the aggravating causes and then it is usually the fit, not the shoe itself. Customers are as guilty for poor fit as are shoe salesmen.

"Changing two or three different pairs of shoes a day is a good habit.

"More important, if it is the fit that counts. Even expensive shoes, if improperly fitted, will aggravate foot conditions."

And we all appreciate your kindness and information, Mr. Kalbacher. Many thanks for helping us have feet that don't hurt.

So remember, gals, don't buy your shoes in the morning. I wonder how much larger size we would buy if we bought a pair after doing the weekly five loads of laundry and then ironing some of it? Wow!

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: I got some BB's from my brother (the kind he uses in his air rifle) and dropped one in each of my bottles of fingernail polish.

Now just a quick shake before using and the polish is mixed and smooth.

ARLENE F.

DEAR HELOISE: Storage of my daughter's fashion dolls' clothes and accessories was a problem. Many items won't hang on hangers and were constantly in a jumble.

I glued wooden, clip-type clothespins on a piece of scrap plywood and gave it all a coat of spray paint.

I used enough pins to hang each outfit, plus a few extra ones for future purchases.

Shirts, slacks and hats are easy to keep neatly arranged in this way.

Shapely Limbs Despite 'Tree'

A teen-ager writes: "I don't really want to look like Twiggy, but I would like to get in the swim without feeling embarassed about the shape of my legs and thighs which are sort of thick. Let's face it, I'm a little too fat. Will exercise help? Do I need to diet?"

Ida Jean Kain

The solution is to stop overeating, cut out the "junk" calories and start exercising. Exercise will help you to outdistance the fat.

It is true that the tendency to thick or thin legs and thighs are patterned on the limbs of the family tree. But wait — only excess calories are stored. Remember too, that of all the physical characteristics, weight and shape are two things that can be altered. Exercise is a great normalizer.

WHAT'S MORE slimming than walking? Running! Try running "in place," right in your own back yard, or in the living room or on the rooftop of your apartment house. To run in place, stand erect, then begin to jog without actually going any place. If space permits you can move around the room, roof or yard.

Jog for 50 counts, counting each time your foot hits the floor. Then do a side - straddle hop. You do this in gym class. Stand erect, hands at sides. Swing arms sidewards and upwards, clapping hands overhead as you jump lightly, separating legs. Jump again, bringing legs together and arms down. Repeat 10 times. Then jog for another 50 counts. Relax.

Skipping rope is fun and slimming. Start with the skip rope behind your back, then swing rope overhead, forwards and down, slipping rope under your feet as you jump. You can begin by jumping on both feet, one jump to each swing of the rope.

Or skip twice on ball of right foot as the rope slides under, then twice on left foot on the second swing. About 50 skips will be enough for a starter. Work up to twice that number.

TRY A springer's special. squat, hands on floor, with fingers pointing forward. Have right leg stretched back, and left knee bent, ready to spring. The action is to reverse the position of your legs in a vigorous jump. Repeat 6 times, later 12 times.

There is no better exercise than swimming. At your age you should be able to swim a quarter of a mile at a session. That will be 17 double lengths of a 40-foot pool. Vary the swim strokes.

On the diet score, leave off between meal sweets. Eat three balanced meals a day. Do yourself a favor, get with food and exercise habits. You can be in much better shape than Twiggy!

Cards Win; Mets Nip Bucs

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Cosman taught the St. Louis Cardinals a little Yiddish by passing around his glove, but they got a bigger kick from the lesson he taught the San Francisco Giants by unwinding his right arm.

But Cosman relied more on a new no windup delivery Monday night to get across a four-hitter to the Giants for 8 1-3 innings as the Cardinals rang up a 3-1 victory.

"Billy Mufett (Cardinal pitching coach) changed my delivery," Cosman said. "I never used it before, but it felt good before the game, so I tried it."

The Chiago Cubs also were doing things the new way again Monday afternoon, beating Philadelphia 4-2, extending their winning streak to seven games, longest since 1954.

The New York Mets pulled a surprise too, coming from behind to upend Pittsburgh 3-2, while Claude Osteen rolled along for Los Angeles with a five-hitter that halted Cincinnati 3-0. Atlanta and Houston were not scheduled.

Cosman, who also keeps in his locker a mezuzah, a parchment that contains passages from the Old Testament, thanks some Jewish friends in his home town of Nashville, Tenn., for his good luck symbols.

"They said Jim O'Toole (White Sox pitcher) had inscribed the word 'think' on his glove, so why shouldn't I use 'mazel?'" Cosman said.

For his pitching success in his first appearance since being called up from Tulsa last week, he credits Muffett.

"He had a dream last night that I should try the no windup delivery," Cosman said, "and when anybody dreams about my pitching, I've got to try his suggestion."

"I thought he'd throw more strikes this way," Muffett said. "He's been taking his head off the target because he raises his arm too high."

Cosman, who hurled a two-hit, 2-0 shutout at the Cubs on the last day of the 1966 season, made four relief appearances this year before he was sent down, allowed only one unearned run before he let with one on and one out in the ninth. Nelson Briles got the last two outs.

Cosman also drove in the decisive second run in the second inning with his first major league hit as he led the league-leading cardinals to a 3½-game bulge over Cincinnati.

Successive homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo and a run-scoring single by Al Spangler in the first inning kept the surprising Cubs on target, pulling them within a half game of the Reds. Rookie Rich Nye, 6-3, and relievers Cal Koonce and Chuck Hartenstein protected the lead.

The last-place Mets were struggling along, as usual, behind 2-0 before Ken Boyer tied the game with his first homer with two out in the eighth inning. Pinch hitter Ed Charles completed the about face with a run-scoring single in the ninth off Elroy Face.

Osteen had little trouble with the injury-plagued Reds as he raised his record to 10-7. Only one man got past second base against him.

Ron Hunt backed him up with a homer and Willie Davis tripled in a run and scored on Ron Fairly's sacrifice fly as the Dodgers beat Mel Queen, 8-3.

Kaline Leads American All-Stars

Four Repeat; One Rookie Is Selected

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Kaline of Detroit led the ticket with 242 votes today when Baseball Commissioner William Eckert announced the results of the poll of American League players, managers and coaches for the All-Star team to face the National League July 11 at Anaheim.

Kaline and Bill Freehan of the Tigers and the Robinson boys of Baltimore—outfielder Frank and third baseman Brooks—were the only repeaters from last year's starters. Pitchers and other squad members will be picked later by Manager Hank Bauer of Baltimore.

Rod Carew, second baseman of the Minnesota Twins, became the only rookie to make the club. Rico Petrocelli, Boston shortstop, also was picked for the first time. Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston have been there before, but were not starters last season. There were only two left-handed batters—Yastrzemski and Carew.

Kaline received all but five of the votes he could possibly have polled, for players are not allowed to pick their own teammates. The American League had 273 ballots and Detroit contributed 26 of them. Thus Kaline got 242 of a possible 247.

Frank Robinson, the triple crown champ and Most Valuable Player in 1966, drew 239 votes, missing on only six ballots of a possible 245. Baltimore had 28 votes.

The number of votes varied, depending on the number of coaches and also on the number of players who had been in the league the required minimum of 30 days.

There were no close contests. The closest was Petrocelli with 22 to runner-up Jim Fregosi of California with 58, a margin of 64 votes.

It was interesting that Baltimore, Detroit, Boston and Minnesota each got two starters but the league leading Chicago White Sox didn't get one.

Killebrew was the first baseman as expected by a wide margin over Don Mincher of the California Angels. Mickey Mantle, an All-Star many times in center field, drew only 10 votes as a first baseman.

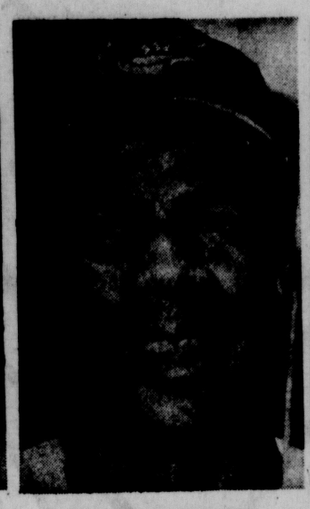

Despite Brooks Robinson's off year he had 140 votes more than the next best third baseman, Max Alvis of Cleveland.

Under the rules as revised last year, the players vote for outfielders as a unit, not naming any position. Kaline, Frank Robinson and Yastrzemski were way out in front. Yastrzemski was third with 219 and Tony Oliva of Minnesota was fourth with 28.

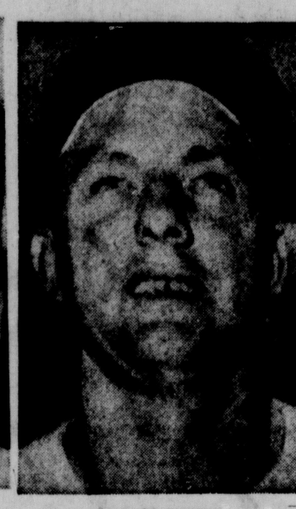

The National League team was to be announced Thursday and the rest of the squads later.

Durocher Getting Voice Back As Cubs Keep Pace

CHICAGO (AP) — Leo Durocher, who has played it mum since the Chicago Cubs' disastrous last place finish in 1966, is getting his voice back.

When Leo took over as manager following the Cubs' eighth place finish in 1965, he bellowed in his foghorn voice: "All I know is the Cubs are not an eighth place team."

Once it became evident the Cubs were going to finish 10th, everyone said Leo had been right. The Cubs weren't an eighth place club, they were 10th and last.

Compounding this with a Durocherism of years past that "nice guys finish last," the hecklers had a field day although it was extremely unfair.

Durocher, convinced the Cubs were going nowhere without youth, traded off established pitchers like Larry Jackson, Bob Buhl and Lindy McDaniel for the likes of Ferguson Jenkins, Bill Hands, Randy Hundley and Adolfo Phillips.

These youngsters, among others, have been every bit as good this year as they were bad last year.

Their development, coupled with the improving second base combination of Glenn Beckert and Don Kessinger along with the steady help of veterans Ron Santo, Billy Williams and Ernie Banks, has turned the Cubs into winners.

The Cubs conked Philadelphia 4-2 Monday for their seventh straight victory. Not since 1954 has a Cub team won seven straight. And even though it is early — almost too early —the word "pennant" is being bandied about on the North Side.

Durocher popped out of his shell Monday when asked about the differences between when he took over the Cubs and when he became manager of the New York Giants in 1948.

"It was mid-season when I accepted the Giant job from Horace Stoneham. All I did was observe until the season ended. Then Horace asked me for a report on the team. I wrote him a note which said back up the truck.

"This set Horace off because he knew I meant we had to make changes. He told me about the club setting a home run record. But I told him about the times we'd play Boston and Eddie Stanky would walk, go from first to third on a single and score on a fly ball.

"We'd go back into the clubhouse with all those home run hitters, but Boston would win the game 3-2. It took time, but I convinced Horace and we started to make changes."

"It's been a lot easier here. When I took over the Cubs, I made a few suggestions and Mr. Wrigley (P. K. Wrigley) told me I was the boss. John Holland (vice president) bent over backwards to help.

"They had finished in the second division 19 years and I helped make it 20. But the Cubs have shed the defeatist attitude. They believe in themselves now. I always expect hustle but I've never seen anything like this. It'll be interesting to see where we wind up."

Messer Pitches 2-Hitter, Homers In Ruth League

Mike Messer homered and pitched a two hitter as Potters Bank defeated Super Foods, 14-1, in the Wellsville Babe Ruth League Monday.

Messer also had help from Rick Arnette who homered and stroked two doubles and John Lewis collected three hits.

Central Nine Tops Lawyers

The Lawyers rallied for three runs in the sixth but fell short as Central Service scored a 5-4 victory Monday in the Colt League.

Central crossed the plate three times in the second inning once in the third and again the fifth. The Lawyers had a single run in the third then came up with three in the sixth when the scoring ended.

Ron Cornell allowed only two hits in going the distance as Joe Walker was the losing pitcher. Clutter led Central's attack with three hits including a double while Eckles smacked a triple for the Lawyers. Staley drove in two runs for Central.

Berry Proves Hero

White Sox Edge Orioles

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ken Berry's game of Blind Man's Bluff has convinced Eddie Stanky that the hands sometimes are quicker than the eye.

Berry, suffering from an eye ailment, passed a Stanky eye examination to get into Monday night's game against Baltimore, then talked his way to the plate in the ninth inning before lashing a two-run single that gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 victory over the Orioles.

"Berry out-talked me for the first time in my major league career," Manager Stanky said after the slender outfielder's two-out, bases-loaded single brought the American League leaders from behind.

While Berry was blurring the Orioles' vision, rookie Bill Robinson, who came out of a batting trance when he threw away his eye-glasses, stroked three hits in a game for the first time as the New York Yankees trimmed Kansas City 5-2 for their fourth straight victory.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota edged Boston 2-1 and California nipped Washington 4-3. Detroit and Cleveland were idle.

Berry entered the White Sox' line-up as a defensive replacement in the eighth inning — after convincing Stanky he could see by reading numbers on the stadium scoreboard.

When his turn to bat came up in the ninth, however, Stanky summoned a pinch hitter from the bullpen.

The White Sox had loaded the bases on Tom McCraw's single, Pete Ward's infield hit, a sacrifice bunt and an intentional walk. Jim King forced McCraw at the plate for the second out, setting the stage for Berry, acquired from Atlanta in the winter trade for Clete Boyer, also threw out one runner at second base and held another at third with a bullet peg to the plate.

Since discarding the glasses and altering his batting stance, Robinson has hit safely in six straight games and raised his average 36 points to .159.

Tom Tresh, another sub-.200 hitter on the upswing, belted a solo homer and run-scoring single for the Yankees. The victory was marred, however, by the loss of catcher Elston Howard for at least 10 days. Howard fractured a knuckle on the ring finger of his throwing hand in the eighth inning.

Tony Oliva doubled in the fourth inning, Zoilo Versalles singled him home and Ted Uhlaender slammed a tie-breaking triple, lifting the Twins past the Red Sox. Al Worthington rescued winner Jim Kaat from an eighth inning jam and checked another Boston rally in the ninth.

The Angels ran up a 4-0 lead with the help of two run-scoring singles by Bob Rodgers, then held off Washington for their 16th victory in the last 21 games. Jack Hamilton picked up his first California victory with help from three relievers.

Woodbine Edges Sevy's; Burbick's Rips Litten's

Woodbine scored twice in the last of the seventh inning to nip Sevy's Drugs, 8-7, while Burbick's pounded Litten's, 12-6, Monday in the Pony League.

A double by Henderson, a triple by Bill McHenry and a single by Rick Lockhart provided the two runs in the seventh giving Woodbine its fifth win in six starts during the second half.

Woodbine collected 13 hits to Sevy's five but the winners committed five errors. Randy McVay and Lockhart had three hits each. M. Lockhart led Sevy's with two hits including a double.

Smith Wins Jaycee Golf

Bill Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Smith of Calcutta R. D. 2, fired 37-43-80 to win the first division of the East Liverpool Jaycee Junior Golf Tournament Monday at the Country Club.

Smith won the title by three strokes with Bob Earley runnerup with 42-41-83.

By winning the 15-17 year-old division, Smith will represent East Liverpool in the Ohio Jaycee state tournament July 12-14 at Oberlin College.

Smith (center) is shown with Andy Petrick (left) who won the 12-14 year-old division with 46-41-87 and Steve Petrick (right) who captured the 11 year-old and under division with 62-58-120.

In the 15-17 year old division Bill Warick Jr. and Rick Metz tied for third with 86's.

Cards Win; Mets Nip Bucs

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Jim Cosman taught the St. Louis Cardinals a little Yiddish by passing around his glove, but they got a bigger kick from the lesson he taught the San Francisco Giants by unwinding his right arm.

But Cosman relied more on a new no windup delivery Monday night to get across a four-hitter to the Giants for 8 1-3 innings as the Cardinals rang up a 3-1 victory.

"Billy Mufett (Cardinal pitching coach) changed my delivery," Cosman said. "I never used it before, but it felt good before the game, so I tried it."

The Chiago Cubs also were doing things the new way again Monday afternoon, beating Philadelphia 4-2, extending their winning streak to seven games, longest since 1954.

The New York Mets pulled a surprise too, coming from behind to upend Pittsburgh 3-2, while Claude Osteen rolled along for Los Angeles with a five-hitter that halted Cincinnati 3-0. Atlanta and Houston were not scheduled.

Cosman, who also keeps in his locker a mezuzah, a parchment that contains passages from the Old Testament, thanks some Jewish friends in his home town of Nashville, Tenn., for his good luck symbols.

"They said Jim O'Toole (White Sox pitcher) had inscribed the word 'think' on his glove, so why shouldn't I use 'mazel?'" Cosman said.

For his pitching success in his first appearance since being called up from Tulsa last week, he credits Muffett.

"He had a dream last night that I should try the no windup delivery," Cosman said, "and when anybody dreams about my pitching, I've got to try his suggestion."

"I thought he'd throw more strikes this way," Muffett said. "He's been taking his head off the target because he raises his arm too high."

Cosman, who hurled a two-hit, 2-0 shutout at the Cubs on the last day of the 1966 season, made four relief appearances this year before he was sent down, allowed only one unearned run before he let with one on and one out in the ninth. Nelson Briles got the last two outs.

Cosman also drove in the decisive second run in the second inning with his first major league hit as he led the league-leading cardinals to a 3½-game bulge over Cincinnati.

Successive homers by Billy Williams and Ron Santo and a run-scoring single by Al Spangler in the first inning kept the surprising Cubs on target, pulling them within a half game of the Reds. Rookie Rich Nye, 6-3, and relievers Cal Koonce and Chuck Hartenstein protected the lead.

The last-place Mets were struggling along, as usual, behind 2-0 before Ken Boyer tied the game with his first homer with two out in the eighth inning. Pinch hitter Ed Charles completed the about face with a run-scoring single in the ninth off Elroy Face.

Osteen had little trouble with the injury-plagued Reds as he raised his record to 10-7. Only one man got past second base against him.

Ron Hunt backed him up with a homer and Willie Davis tripled in a run and scored on Ron Fairly's sacrifice fly as the Dodgers beat Mel Queen, 8-3.

Kaline Leads American All-Stars

Four Repeat; One Rookie Is Selected

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Kaline of Detroit led the ticket with 242 votes today when Baseball Commissioner William Eckert announced the results of the poll of American League players, managers and coaches for the All-Star team to face the National League July 11 at Anaheim.

Kaline and Bill Freehan of the Tigers and the Robinson boys of Baltimore—outfielder Frank and third baseman Brooks—were the only repeaters from last year's starters. Pitchers and other squad members will be picked later by Manager Hank Bauer of Baltimore.

Rod Carew, second baseman of the Minnesota Twins, became the only rookie to make the club. Rico Petrocelli, Boston shortstop, also was picked for the first time. Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston have been there before, but were not starters last season. There were only two left-handed batters—Yastrzemski and Carew.

Kaline received all but five of the votes he could possibly have polled, for players are not allowed to pick their own teammates. The American League had 273 ballots and Detroit contributed 26 of them. Thus Kaline got 242 of a possible 247.

Frank Robinson, the triple crown champ and Most Valuable Player in 1966, drew 239 votes, missing on only six ballots of a possible 245. Baltimore had 28 votes.

The number of votes varied, depending on the number of coaches and also on the number of players who had been in the league the required minimum of 30 days.

There were no close contests. The closest was Petrocelli with 22 to runner-up Jim Fregosi of California with 58, a margin of 64 votes.

It was interesting that Baltimore, Detroit, Boston and Minnesota each got two starters but the league leading Chicago White Sox didn't get one.

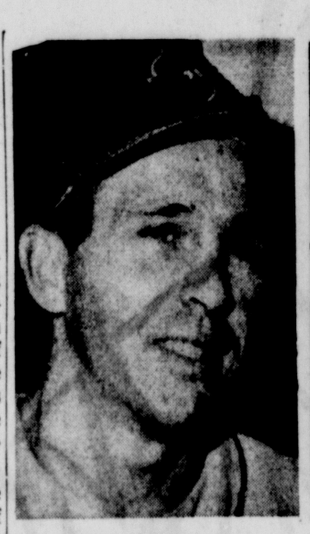

Freehan won in a breeze with 222 votes although a total of nine catchers drew votes.

Killebrew was the first baseman as expected by a wide margin over Don Mincher of the California Angels. Mickey Mantle, an All-Star many times in center field, drew only 10 votes as a first baseman.

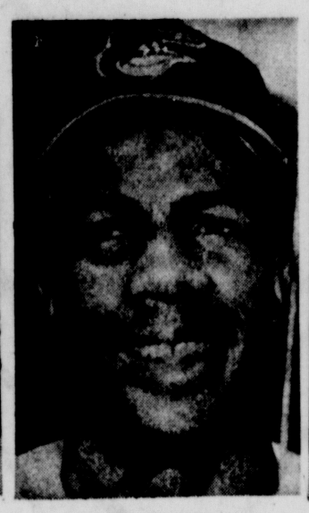

Despite Brooks Robinson's off year he had 140 votes more than the next best third baseman, Max Alvis of Cleveland.

Under the rules as revised last year, the players vote for outfielders as a unit, not naming any position. Kaline, Frank Robinson and Yastrzemski were way out in front. Yastrzemski was third with 219 and Tony Oliva of Minnesota was fourth with 28.

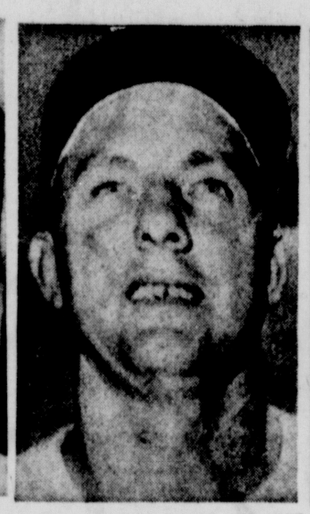

The National League team was to be announced Thursday and the rest of the squads later.

Berry Proves Hero

White Sox Edge Orioles

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer

Ken Berry's game of Blind Man's Bluff has convinced Eddie Stanky that the hands sometimes are quicker than the eye.

Berry, suffering from an eye ailment, passed a Stanky eye examination to get into Monday night's game against Baltimore, then talked his way to the plate in the ninth inning before lashing a two-run single that gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 victory over the Orioles.

"Berry out-talked me for the first time in my major league career," Manager Stanky said after the slender outfielder's two-out, bases-loaded single brought the American League leaders from behind.

While Berry was blurring the Orioles' vision, rookie Bill Robinson, who came out of a batting trance when he threw away his eye-glasses, stroked three hits in a game for the first time as the New York Yankees trimmed Kansas City 5-2 for their fourth straight victory.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota edged Boston 2-1 and California nipped Washington 4-3. Detroit and Cleveland were idle.

Berry entered the White Sox' line-up as a defensive replacement in the eighth inning — after convincing Stanky he could see by reading numbers on the stadium scoreboard.

When his turn to bat came up in the ninth, however, Stanky summoned a pinch hitter from the bullpen.

Berry then came through with a winning argument. . .and the winning hit.

The White Sox had loaded the bases on Tom McCraw's single, Pete Ward's infield hit, a sacrifice bunt and an intentional walk. Jim King forced McCraw at the plate for the second out, setting the stage for Berry, acquired from Atlanta in the winter trade for Clete Boyer, also threw out one runner at second base and held another at third with a bullet peg to the plate.

Since discarding the glasses and altering his batting stance, Robinson has hit safely in six straight games and raised his average 36 points to .159.

Tom Tresh, another sub-.200 hitter on the upswing, belted a solo homer and run-scoring single for the Yankees. The victory was marred, however, by the loss of catcher Elston Howard for at least 10 days. Howard fractured a knuckle on the ring finger of his throwing hand in the eighth inning.

Tony Oliva doubled in the fourth inning, Zoilo Versalles singled him home and Ted Uhlaender slammed a tie-breaking triple, lifting the Twins past the Red Sox. Al Worthington rescued winner Jim Kaat from an eighth inning jam and checked another Boston rally in the ninth.

The Angels ran up a 4-0 lead with the help of two run-scoring singles by Bob Rodgers, then held off Washington for their 16th victory in the last 21 games. Jack Hamilton picked up his first California victory with help from three relievers.

On 7-Game Victory Streak

Durocher Getting Voice Back As Cubs Keep Pace

CHICAGO (AP) — Leo Durocher, who has played it mum since the Chicago Cubs' disastrous last place finish in 1966, is getting his voice back.

When Leo took over as manager following the Cubs' eighth place finish in 1965, he bellowed in his foghorn voice: "All I know is the Cubs are not an eighth place team."

Once it became evident the Cubs were going to finish 10th, everyone said Leo had been right. The Cubs weren't an eighth place club, they were 10th and last.

Compounding this with a Durocherism of years past that "nice guys finish last," the hecklers had a field day although it was extremely unfair.

Durocher, convinced the Cubs were going nowhere without youth, traded off established pitchers like Larry Jackson, Bob Buhl and Lindy McDaniel for the likes of Ferguson Jenkins, Bill Hands, Randy Hundley and Adolfo Phillips.

These youngsters, among others, have been every bit as good this year as they were bad last year.

Their development, coupled with the improving second base combination of Glenn Beckert and Don Kessinger along with the steady help of veterans Ron Santo, Billy Williams and Ernie Banks, has turned the Cubs into winners.

The Cubs conked Philadelphia 4-2 Monday for their seventh straight victory. Not since 1954 has a Cub team won seven straight. And even though it is early — almost too early —the word "pennant" is being bandied about on the North Side.

Durocher popped out of his shell Monday when asked about the differences between when he took over the Cubs and when he became manager of the New York Giants in 1948.

"It was mid-season when I accepted the Giant job from Horace Stoneham. All I did was observe until the season ended. Then Horace asked me for a report on the team. I wrote him a note which said back up the truck.

"This set Horace off because he knew I meant we had to make changes. He told me about the club setting a home run record. But I told him about the times we'd play Boston and Eddie Stanky would walk, go from first to third on a single and score on a fly ball.

"We'd go back into the clubhouse with all those home run hitters, but Boston would win the game 3-2. It took time, but I convinced Horace and we started to make changes."

"It's been a lot easier here. When I took over the Cubs, I made a few suggestions and Mr. Wrigley (P. K. Wrigley) told me I was the boss. John Holland (vice president) bent over backwards to help.

"They had finished in the second division 19 years and I helped make it 20. But the Cubs have shed the defeatist attitude. They believe in themselves now. I always expect hustle but I've never seen anything like this. It'll be interesting to see where we wind up."

Mike Messer homered and pitched a two hitter as Potters Bank defeated Super Foods, 14-1, in the Wellsville Babe Ruth League Monday.

Messer also had help from Rick Arnette who homered and stroked two doubles and John Lewis collected three hits.

Central Nine Tops Lawyers

The Lawyers rallied for three runs in the sixth but fell short as Central Service scored a 5-4 victory Monday in the Colt League.

Central crossed the plate three times in the second inning once in the third and again the fifth. The Lawyers had a single run in the third then came up with three in the sixth when the scoring ended.

Ron Cornell allowed only two hits in going the distance as Joe Walker was the losing pitcher. Clutter led Central's attack with three hits including a double while Eckles smacked a triple for the Lawyers. Staley drove in two runs for Central.

U.S. Auto Club Orders Change In Turbine Cars

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club refashioned the turbine engine formula Monday and closed the garage doors on the revolutionary STP "Turbocar" which almost ran away from the Indianapolis 500-mile field this year.

Andy Granatelli, president of Studebaker's STP Division and backer of the "Turbocar," called USAC's restriction of the air intake area of the turbine "an outright political method of banning turbine engines in American racing."

"There is no way to change this engine," Granatelli said, "and have it operate properly or safely."

Earlier he said if his car was outlawed by penalties impossible to meet, "the door is clearly open to ban any other mechanical or safety change which will contribute toward winning."

USAC's board of directors said the new formula would be effective Jan. 1, 1968. This permits the "Turbocar" to race the rest of this year, but no plans have been announced by Granatelli for other events.

The new plan cuts the air intake area to 15 square inches with no power increase. In effect, this would cut the engine's maximum potential to about 400 horsepower.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., won the 500.

"I think they're making a terrible mistake," Jones said of USAC's decision.

"I admit we had an edge with the car this year," he said, "but it wasn't as much of an advantage as everyone thought. With the four-wheel drive, I could take the Fords and turbocharged Offenhausers in the turns, but they could outrun me in the straightaways and about halfway through the corners."

Thomas W. Binford, USAC president, said the majority of the directors felt the change was in the best interest.

Information before the rules committee and findings of experts, Binford said, showed the present formula was too generous. He said it gave the presently-used turbine engine a distinct advantage over the conventional piston engines.

Binford said it is felt the new formula will bring the turbine engine more closely in line both in horsepower and torque, applied power, with the piston engine.

Paul Baynes, a General Motors engineer who served as turbine consultant to the directors, said it would take two to four years to develop a new turbine engine that would meet the new limits.

The cost of such a project has been estimated as high as $25 million, but more realistic guesses have set the figure at less than half that amount.

Defending Wimbledon Champ Defeated First

The 23-year-old Puerto Rican from Santurce upset the defending champion, Manuel Santana, of Spain, 10-8, 6-3, 2-6, 8-6 Monday and sent Wimbledon off to its most sensational start. Never before, since the All-England championships were started in 1887, had the champion been dethroned in the first round.

Inevitably, Pasarell has come into the reckoning for the title, which has been won by an American only once in the past 10 years.

"Well, if I didn't think I had a chance of winning Wimbledon I wouldn't be playing here," Pasarell said. "Grass suits me. I always play my best tennis on grass courts."

Wednesday he takes on another formidable opponent—Bob Hewitt, the Australian who is now a member of South Africa's Davis Cup squad. Pasarell and Hewitt have never played each other previously.

Pasarell, winner of the U.S. Indoor title for the last two years, has played most of his tennis this year on hard courts —and hasn't done very well.

That was why he didn't get into the act at Guayaquil last week, when the U.S. Davis Cup team was humiliated by little Ecuador.

"If he can beat Hewitt in the next round he should certainly go at least as far as the quarter-finals," Santana said.

"There are so many good players that I hesitate to predict who will win the title. I guess Roy Emerson must be the favorite."

Emerson, the Australian who is after his third Wimbledon title in four years, surmounted the first hurdle by crushing Keith Carpenter of Canada 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Rafael Osuna, the Mexican Davis Cup star, also tapped Emerson to win the title. Osuna made his prediction after winning his first Wimbledon match for two years, a 6-4, 11-9, 12-10 victory over Japan's Ichizo Konishi.

"Looking down the names in the men's singles, Emerson is the man who scares me most," Osuna said.

Two other Americans, Cliff Richey and Clark Graebner, also won their first round matches. Richey, of San Angelo, Tex., defeated Ronald Barnes, Brazil, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. Graebner, of Beechwood, Ohio, beat Nikola Spear, Yugoslavia, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

U.S. Auto Club Orders Change In Turbine Cars

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club refashioned the turbine engine formula Monday and closed the garage doors on the revolutionary STP "Turbocar" which almost ran away from the Indianapolis 500-mile field this year.

Andy Granatelli, president of Studebaker's STP Division and backer of the "Turbocar," called USAC's restriction of the air intake area of the turbine "an outright political method of banning turbine engines in American racing."

"There is no way to change this engine," Granatelli said, "and have it operate properly or safely."

Earlier he said if his car was outlawed by penalties impossible to meet, "the door is clearly open to ban any other mechanical or safety change which will contribute toward winning."

USAC's board of directors said the new formula would be effective Jan. 1, 1968. This permits the "Turbocar" to race the rest of this year, but no plans have been announced by Granatelli for other events.

The new plan cuts the air intake area to 15 square inches with no power increase. In effect, this would cut the engine's maximum potential to about 480 horsepower.

Under the present formula, the intake area is 23 square inches and allows STP's 550-horsepower Pratt & Whitney engine to compete.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., won the 500.

"I think they're making a terrible mistake," Jones said of USAC's decision.

"I admit we had an edge with the car this year," he said, "but it wasn't as much of an advantage as everyone thought. With the four-wheel drive, I could take the Fords and turbocharged Offenhausers in the turns, but they could outrun me in the straightaways and about halfway through the corners."

Thomas W. Binford, USAC president, said the majority of the directors felt the change was in the best interest.

Information before the rules committee and findings of experts, Binford said, showed the present formula was too generous. He said it gave the presently-used turbine engine a distinct advantage over the conventional piston engines.

Binford said it is felt the new formula will bring the turbine engine more closely in line both in horsepower and torque, applied power, with the piston engine.

Paul Baynes, a General Motors engineer who served as turbine consultant to the directors, said it would take two to four years to develop a new turbine engine that would meet the new limits.

The cost of such a project has been estimated as high as $25 million, but more realistic guesses have set the figure at less than half that amount.

Defending Wimbledon Champ Defeated First

The 23-year-old Puerto Rican from Santurce upset the defending champion, Manuel Santana, of Spain, 10-8, 6-3, 2-6, 8-6 Monday and sent Wimbledon off to its most sensational start. Never before, since the All-England championships were started in 1867, had the champion been dethroned in the first round.

Inevitably, Pasarell has come into the reckoning for the title, which has been won by an American only once in the past 10 years.

"Well, if I didn't think I had a chance of winning Wimbledon I wouldn't be playing here," Pasarell said. "Grass suits me. I always play my best tennis on grass courts."

Wednesday he takes on another formidable opponent—Bob Hewitt, the Australian who is now a member of South Africa's Davis Cup squad. Pasarell and Hewitt have never played each other previously.

Pasarell, winner of the U.S. Indoor title for the last two years, has played most of his tennis this year on hard courts —and hasn't done very well.

That was why he didn't get into the act at Guayaquil last week, when the U.S. Davis Cup team was humiliated by little Ecuador.

"If he can beat Hewitt in the next round he should certainly go at least as far as the quarterfinals," Santana said.

"There are so nany good players that I hesitate to predict who will win the title. I guess Roy Emerson must be the favorite."

Emerson, the Australian who is after his third Wimbledon title in four years, surmounted the first hurdle by crushing Keith Carpenter of Canada 6-3, 6-2, 6-2.

Rafael Osuna, the Mexican Davis Cup star, also tapped Emerson to win the title. Osuna made his prediction after winning his first Wimbledon match for two years, a 6-4, 11-9, 12-10 victory over Japan's Ichizo Konishi.

"Looking down the names in the men's singles, Emerson is the man who scares me most," Osuna said.

Two other Americans, Cliff Richey and Clark Graebner, also won their first round matches. Richey, of San Angelo, Tex., defeated Ronald Barnes, Brazil, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2. Graebner, of Beechwood, Ohio, beat Nikola Spear, Yugoslavia, 6-3, 6-1, 6-1.

Junior Editors Quiz on BRAILLE

QUESTION: Who discovered braille for the blind?

ANSWER: Braille is an alphabet system for blind people, using the sense of touch. The discovery of braille is inspiring. Louis Braille, son of a French harness maker, became blind as a boy, but he did not lose courage. He began to experiment with a code made by punching holes through scraps of leather. One day he discovered that if he punched partly through he could feel the bump on the other side easily. This was the foundation of braille, although Louis did not perfect it at once. He became a teacher and musician, while retaining his ambition to create an alphabet for the blind. Experimenting with several systems in use, he decided that the one he had discovered as a boy was the best. He arranged a group of six bumps, called a cell. Each letter is a selection of dots from this group. Braille first published his system in 1829. Later, in competition with others, it was chosen as the best and spread throughout the world.
